Statehood Won By Hawaii

Islanders Whoop It Up, Get Holiday

Stores, Schools Close As Citizens Dance In Streets

HONOLULU (AP) — They danced the hula in the streets Thursday night.

Hawaii, a melting pot of many races, celebrated Congressional acceptance of statehood.

Jubilant islanders lit bonfires, set off firecrackers, whooped it up in a noisy climax to a more than 50-year quest for admission to the Union.

"This is the biggest day in Hawaii history," said Johnston, sitting in for Gov. William Quinn, who is in Washington.

News of the statehood vote hit the island at 9:42 a.m.

Sirens, Whistles And Horns

Within minutes, air raid sirens, ships' whistles, auto horns and church bells joined in deafening discord.

At Iolani Palace, seat of the government, legislators broke out in tears, cheers, hand-clapping and frenzied shouting when Hawaii's delegate to Congress, John A. Burns, telephoned the news from Washington.

In downtown Honolulu, office workers tossed paper streamers from windows.

On the University of Hawaii campus, students finished a 50-star flag just half an hour before Congress completed the voting. They rushed from classrooms and raised the flag on the university flagpole. The school band played the national and Hawaiian anthems.

School Holiday

University President Laurence Snyder called off all classes until next Monday.

Kids in grammar and high schools also got a holiday until then.

Hawaii's replica of the Liberty Bell, which toured the mainland last year, was sounded for the first time in Hawaii.

At nightfall, military planes dropped flares for more than an hour off Waikiki Beach.

Oahu Prison trustees, riding in a truck outside the prison walls when the news came, broke out in cheers.

Many stores and business offices shut down at midday.

Ike's Defense Policies Stir Senate Clash

Cutbacks Weaken Berlin No-Retreat Stand, Texan Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) accused President Eisenhower Thursday of undercutting the nation's no-retreat stand on Berlin by insisting on going ahead with planned military cutbacks.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (N.Y.), who was acting as Senate GOP leader at the time, promptly sprang to Eisenhower's defense. He said that "to charge even by implication that the President is trying to weaken the military forces is unjustified."

The exchange came on the Senate floor shortly after Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, also of Texas, said critics of administration defense policy were troubled by potential world trouble spots stretching far beyond Berlin.

Demos Want Assurances

Issuing the Democratic reply to Eisenhower's stinging news conference statements Wednesday, Johnson said his party wanted assurances this country could deliver a "paralyzing punch" in any one of a number of spots that could explode even before Berlin.

Some congressional Democrats said in this connection that they might try to enact a law putting a specific floor under the strength of the armed forces. Assistant Senate Party Leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.) said "I believe Congress could do it."

The aim would be to block administration plans to trim Army strength from 900,000 to 870,000 men and the Marine Corps from 200,000 to 175,000 men by the start of the new fiscal year on July 1.

Would Defer Cutbacks

Yarborough said "we cannot negotiate from strength in Berlin if the President insists on policies that would weaken the military forces." He said all military cutbacks should be suspended at least temporarily.

But Keating said keeping another 25,000 or 30,000 men in uniform, as proposed by the Democrats, would have no effect on "the defense of Berlin."

Yarborough disagreed.

Speedy House OK Sends Bill To President

Islands' Admission To Union Expected By Early Next Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hawaii, enchanting paradise of the Pacific, won statehood Thursday.

Only a day behind the Senate, the House voted overwhelmingly to make Hawaii the 50th state. The vote was 323-89.

This "aloha" of the ballots was it, so far as Congress was concerned—a ringing answer to Hawaii's half century of pleas and dreams for a place in the Union.

Joy and jubiliation spread instantly from Washington to Honolulu, by way of an open telephone line.

The statehood bill sailed through the Senate Wednesday night, 76-15. Now it goes to President Eisenhower.

There is no question of Eisenhower's signing it, or of Hawaii's accepting its terms.

But as in the case of Alaska last year, technicalities will take time. So it may be late July, possibly October, before Hawaii becomes a state. Territorial Gov. William F. Quinn said he is inclined toward the slower schedule but others will press for fast action.

Population Of 600,000

Rhode Island, Delaware and Connecticut have less area than Hawaii's 6,434 square miles. In population, the nearly 600,000 total in the island cluster surpasses Alaska, Nevada, Wyoming, Vermont, Delaware and New Hampshire.

As the roll-call vote in the House hit the number required for passage backers of statehood beamed, exchanged handshakes, pounded backs.

Across the hall, in Speaker Sam Rayburn's office, Quinn had a telephone line open to Acting Gov. Edward Johnston in the islands.

"Sound the sirens!" he shouted. "Close the schools, and get going."

That was the signal to touch off bonfires and fireworks and a two-day holiday.

Calming down a little, Quinn added: "Try to keep the lid on a little, Ed."

Seldom has a major bill gone through Congress with the speed of the statehood measure. Apparently there was no particular urgency at the moment. It was just that the legislative channels were comparatively clear and both parties had promised admission to Hawaii.

Next Step Up To Ike

On the vote on passage, 203 Democrats and 120 Republicans teamed up against 65 Democrats and 24 Republicans. Nearly all of the Democratic opponents were from the South.

Hawaii could be a full-fledged state with two senators and a representative in Washington before Congress quits this summer.

It would take some rather fast action.

Eisenhower has 10 legislative days, not counting Sundays, to sign the bill after it is formally presented to him. He may get the bill Friday.

The governor of Hawaii has 30 days after formal notification of the President's approval in which to issue a proclamation of elections.

The primary election could be held no less than 60 days or no more than 90 days after the proclamation.

A general election could be held no later than 40 days after the primary.

Once the results of the election are officially certified to the President, he would issue his proclamation admitting Hawaii as the 50th state.

Dying Winter Heaps Snow, Slush On East

By The Associated Press

The worst snowstorm of a mean, dying winter struck a savage, slushy blow at the Northeast Thursday, just nine days before the advent of spring. It also hit the Midwest and across the South to Virginia.

The storm claimed seven lives in Ohio, New Jersey, Connecticut and New York. Most of the deaths resulted from heart attacks brought on by shoveling snow.

Up to 14 inches of snow, followed by sleet and rain, lashed an area from Indiana to Virginia and Maine.

Falling temperatures were expected to freeze the slush overnight, thus heightening hazardous driving conditions that tied up many of the East's highways. But Friday was expected to be partly sunny and milder.

As one snowstorm moved in from the West, a second came off the Virginia coast. Winds up to 60 m.p.h. whistled in with the snow. Tides ranged two to three feet above normal.

Western Maryland and Upstate New York measured 14 inches of snow. West Virginia and western Massachusetts had a foot. New Jersey got up to 10 inches. Ohio had 7 inches, Indiana 6.

Air travelers were grounded in Cleveland, Boston, Buffalo, Rochester and New York.

Hundreds of schools were closed in New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Upstate New York. All public schools in Boston closed.

In North Utica, N.Y., 25 children were marooned for two hours when their school bus became stranded in five inches of drifting snow.

Two Ford assembly plants in northern New Jersey, with 4,500 employes, had to close when the storm prevented workers from getting to their jobs.

Highway traffic conditions were chaotic. In Rhode Island, they were described as the worst in years and nearly all public events there were canceled, including horse racing at Lincoln Downs.

British, Bonn Leaders Meet

BONN, Germany (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer conferred for three hours Thursday on Western measures to counter the Soviet threat to Berlin.

Macmillan flew into the West German capital barely half an hour after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev left East Germany for Moscow.

Khrushchev wound up an eight-day visit with a bid to the Western powers to meet at the summit "as soon as possible."

Macmillan said on arrival he was convinced there should be talks with the Soviets this summer. He urged the West to adopt a flexible position.

"We all stand together but in the methods of defense we must remain elastic," he said.

In general, the West Germans have taken a chilly attitude toward the British idea of elasticity, on the grounds it could mean giving up long-held defensive lines without any concessions from the Soviets.

Macmillan saw French President Charles de Gaulle earlier this week. Next week he goes to Washington where he will see President Eisenhower.

Michigan Still Hunts Solution To Cash Crisis

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Another day of legislative wrangling left Michigan Thursday still without a solution to its immediate cash crisis.

For a while things looked hopeful. The House of Representatives, its membership divided evenly between Republicans and Democrats, overlooked party lines temporarily Wednesday night and passed a proposal to borrow 50 million dollars.

The Republican majority in the State Senate considered this action Thursday. Word leaked out from a caucus room that in a sudden switch the Republicans would double the deal and go for 100 million dollars.

But the Republicans failed to agree and finally returned to a proposal that had been beaten before — borrow the 100 million but tie it to a one-cent increase in the state sales tax.

The Democrats, spurred by their leader Gov. G. Mennen Williams, whipped this plan again.

A major stumbling block is that any of these proposals must be submitted to the voters as an amendment to the state constitution, but to get on the ballot each house must pass it by a two-thirds margin.

Michigan has a three cent sales tax. Democrats have resisted strongly any attempt to raise it. Gov. Williams has proposed a graduated tax on incomes but so far has gotten nowhere.

The Democrats have proposed to liquidate a 50 million dollar trust fund for veterans set up in 1946. Republicans oppose this.

Meanwhile the state faces a 110 million dollar deficit in its general operating fund by June 30.

Until a solution is found state employes will face the prospect of no pay on payday. The state has met every payroll so far but is 15 million dollars behind in appropriation installments to its three universities and next week will go another 36 million dollars behind in aid payments to public grade and high schools.

Strategy Talks At Camp David

WASHINGTON (AP)—Strategy talks on the Berlin crisis between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will be held at Eisenhower's retreat in the Maryland mountains.

It appears doubtful that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will play any direct major role.

Thursday, Dulles completed three weeks of radiation treatment in his fight against cancer. After a few more days of treatment, he is expected to take a rest before deciding whether he can resume his Cabinet duties.

Present prospects are that Dulles will confer at least once with Macmillan and Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd when they come here.

The Eisenhower-Macmillan sessions will be at Camp David, a retreat in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland about 65 miles north of Washington.

Macmillan is due in Washington next Thursday. The White House press secretary, James C. Hagerty, announced that the Prime Minister and Eisenhower will go to Camp David Friday and probably stay at least through Sunday.

Nasser Woos Iraq's People, Blasts Kassem

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic wooed Iraq's people Thursday and denounced their premier as a man trying to spread a Communist reign of terror across the Arab world.

Nasser renewed his attack on Premier Abdel Karim Kassem in a biting discussion of the Mosul rebellion before flag-waving student demonstrators at the presidential palace in Damascus.

He denied Baghdad charges that his United Arab Republic, which links Egypt and Syria, inspired Col. Abdel Wahab Shawaf's nationalist revolt last week end against the leftist-inclined Kassem regime.

Instead, he said, the revolt sprang from opposition of Iraq's people to a "reign of Communist terror and persecution of free officers and Arab nationalists in Iraq."

"Kassem was trying to drive a wedge between the Iraqi people and the U.A.R.," he said, "assuming that by this policy he would divide the Arabs to strengthen communism in the Arab world and bring it under Communist terror, as in Iraq."

He accused Kassem of opening Baghdad to Syrian Communists fleeing the recent anti-Red campaign within the U.A.R. Kassem offered them haven, he said, in a vain belief that "through their agents he would be able to tear down our republic."

Carl Sandburg Ill

FLAT ROCK, N.C. (UPI) — Poet Carl Sandburg, 81, was ordered to bed for at least two weeks by his physician Thursday because of physical exhaustion and laryngitis. His wife said the 81-year-old Sandburg "is just worn out" from a recent series of lectures and speaking engagements.

Ford Stock To Go On Public Sale

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Ford Foundation will offer a two-million share block of Ford Motor Co. stock for public sale shortly, it notified the Securities and Exchange Commission Thursday.

At Thursday's price for Ford common shares, the offering will be worth more than 110 million dollars.

This will be the second big offering of Ford stock to investors. The first was made in 1956, when the public was first invited into part ownership of the previously tightly held family corporation.

That issue was 10,200,000 shares, and was the largest issue of equity stock in history.

Ingrid Wins Another Round

ROME (AP) — Ingrid Bergman won another round Thursday in her long and tangled legal battle with Italian film director Roberto Rossellini for the custody of their three children.

A Rome court gave the Swedish actress temporary custody of the children pending a final decision in Rossellini's suit to get them back. Neither Miss Bergman nor Rossellini was in court. They both are in Paris.

Miss Bergman won the first round last year when a Paris court gave her all rights to the children, Roberto 9, and twin girls Isotta and Ingrid Isabella, 6.

Miss Bergman is living 30 miles outside Paris, with her Swedish businessman husband, Lars Schmidt, and the children.

Thunderbird Pilot Killed

NELLIS AIR FORCE BASE, Nev. (UPI) — A member of the famed U.S. Air Force Thunderbird precision flying team was killed Thursday when his F100 Super Sabre collided in flight with another jet and he made an unsuccessful bailout.

The Air Force said Capt. Charles B. (Fish) Salmon, 30, winner of the Distinguished Flying Cross in Korea, succeeded in climbing to 30,000 feet after the impact, but the plane then went into a spin. He made his unsuccessful attempt to bailout at an undetermined altitude.

Salmon's body was recovered about 12 miles northeast of here.

The Thunderbirds are a famed supersonic flying team which travels all around the world to demonstrate precision formation flying. Salmon became a member of the Thunderbirds in January of last year.

The Air Force said that the four planes were practicing routine aerial maneuvering Thursday in a restricted acrobatic training area when Salmon's jet brushed with the wing man's F100. The tail assembly of the Salmon aircraft was crippled by the impact.

Radar Network

U.S. Constructs Missile Attack Warning System

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The North American Air Defense Command reported Thursday a long-range radar network is being built to warn against Soviet missile attacks.

The network is being constructed in the Arctic wastes in Alaska and Greenland and will cover the Soviet land mass from the Pacific Ocean to Poland.

The radar station chain is known as the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System (BMEWS). It is costing one billion dollars, the NORAD announcement said.

The system will be ready for operation next year and includes three radar screens at Clear, Alaska, and four at Thule, Greenland.

NORAD said the screens are designed to have a 3,000-mile range. They are intended to pick up Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles five minutes after launching.

Both NORAD headquarters and the Strategic Air Command at Omaha will receive information on distance, speed and course of the missiles.

The missiles would require about 30 minutes in flight to reach United States targets. It is believed the radar network would give the President, or whoever has the command decision to make, about 20 minutes to decide whether a counterattack would be made. Such counterattacks, officials said, would be with SAC bombers armed with hydrogen bombs.

Ike's Foreign Aid Message Due Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will send Congress a special message Friday on the administration's $3,900,000,000 foreign aid program.

Announcing this Thursday, White House press secretary, James C. Hagerty described the message as a rather long one.

Presumably it will present a detailed argument as to why the administration believes that amount is necessary.

There have already been demands by some Congress members that the aid program be cut.

Senate Investigators Told:

Teamster Official Used Union Funds To Pay For Hotel Stay With Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teamster official Joey Glimco and his curvy secretary shared a hotel room for a week and his union local absorbed the $1,045 cost as an entertainment expense, a Senate investigator said Thursday.

Glimco, head of Teamsters Local 777 in Chicago, and Miss Laverne Murray were registered as man and wife during their stay at the Bel Air Hotel in Los Angeles in July 1953, the Senate Labor-Management Committee was told by investigator Alphonse Calabrese.

The 50-year-old Glimco, his eyes hot with anger, refused to discuss this with the committee. He invoked the Fifth Amendment on most questions, although he acknowledged being married and having two children.

When she was called to testify, Miss Murray—a striking brunette who appeared to be in her early 30s — invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions about her relationship with Glimco.

The matter came up as the rackets group probed deeper into allegations that Glimco, through tough tactics and tieups with Chicago mobsters, took control of Local 777 and shouldered his way into various Chicago area businesses.

One question Miss Murray balked at answering was whether she once moved into an Oak Park, Ill., home built in 1953 in her name and Glimco's.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said this house and one for Dominic Senese, another Teamsters official, were built with nearly $50,000 of Local 777's money. The counsel said this sum was disguised as payment for remodeling the local's headquarters.

Senese's name came up in a different connection when Kennedy said he and Victor Comforte, both alleged labor racketeers, are part owners of a firm holding subcontracts on 60 per cent of the Nike aircraft missile site jobs in the Chicago area. Kennedy listed the firm as the Broadway Sheet Metal Co. He said a third partner is named L. A. Moody.

After Comforte refused on Fifth Amendment grounds to answer questions about this, Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) demanded that the Defense Department blacklist the firm.

Seaway Toll Rates Less Than Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Canada Thursday announced St. Lawrence Seaway tolls designed to pay off the construction debt of the huge waterway in 50 years.

Shipping circles said the tolls were somewhat lower than they had expected.

The charges are less than those levied on vessels passing through the Suez and Panama canals.

A ship moving through the entire seaway will pay 6 cents for each gross registered ton of the vessel. One registered ton is figured as 100 cubic feet.

In addition, a toll of 42 cents a ton will be charged on bulk cargo and 95 cents on each ton of general cargo.

Today's Weather
Some cloudiness and cold, high 35-40.

A major stumbling block is that any of these proposals must be submitted to the voters as an amendment to the state constitution, but to get on the ballot each house must pass it by a two-thirds margin.

Michigan has a three cent sales tax. Democrats have resisted strongly any attempt to raise it. Gov. Williams has proposed a graduated tax on incomes but so far has gotten nowhere.

The Democrats have proposed to liquidate a 50 million dollar trust fund for veterans set up in 1946. Republicans oppose this.

Meanwhile the state faces a 110 million dollar deficit in its general operating fund by June 30.

Until a solution is found state employes will face the prospect of no pay on payday. The state has met every payroll so far but is 15 million dollars behind in appropriation installments to its three universities and next week will go another 36 million dollars behind in aid payments to public grade and high schools.

Strategy Talks At Camp David

WASHINGTON (AP)—Strategy talks on the Berlin crisis between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will be held at Eisenhower's retreat in the Maryland mountains.

It appears doubtful that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will play any direct major role.

Thursday, Dulles completed three weeks of radiation treatment in his fight against cancer. After a few more days of treatment, he is expected to take a rest before deciding whether he can resume his Cabinet duties.

Present prospects are that Dulles will confer at least once with Macmillan and Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd when they come here.

The Eisenhower-Macmillan sessions will be at Camp David, a retreat in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland about 65 miles north of Washington.

Macmillan is due in Washington next Thursday. The White House press secretary, James C. Hagerty, announced that the Prime Minister and Eisenhower will go to Camp David Friday and probably stay at least through Sunday.

Nasser Woos Iraq's People, Blasts Kassem

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic wooed Iraq's people Thursday and denounced their premier as a man trying to spread a Communist reign of terror across the Arab world.

Nasser renewed his attack on Premier Abdel Karim Kassem in a biting discussion of the Mosul rebellion before flag-waving student demonstrators at the presidential palace in Damascus.

He denied Baghdad charges that his United Arab Republic, which links Egypt and Syria, inspired Col. Abdel Wahab Shawaf's nationalist revolt last week end against the leftist-inclined Kassem regime.

Instead, he said, the revolt sprang from opposition of Iraq's people to a "reign of Communist terror and persecution of free officers and Arab nationalists in Iraq."

"Kassem was trying to drive a wedge between the Iraqi people and the U.A.R.," he said, "assuming that by this policy he would divide the Arabs to strengthen communism in the Arab world and bring it under Communist terror, as in Iraq."

He accused Kassem of opening Baghdad to Syrian Communists fleeing the recent anti-Red campaign within the U.A.R. Kassem offered them haven, he said, in a vain belief that "through their agents he would be able to tear down our republic."

Ford Stock To Go On Public Sale

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Ford Foundation will offer a two-million share block of Ford Motor Co. stock for public sale shortly, it notified the Securities and Exchange Commission Thursday.

At Thursday's price for Ford common shares, the offering will be worth more than 110 million dollars.

This will be the second big offering of Ford stock to investors. The first was made in 1956, when the public was first invited into part ownership of the previously tightly held family corporation.

That issue was 10,200,000 shares, and was the largest issue of equity stock in history.

Ingrid Wins Another Round

ROME (AP) — Ingrid Bergman won another round Thursday in her long and tangled legal battle with Italian film director Roberto Rossellini for the custody of their three children.

A Rome court gave the Swedish actress temporary custody of the children pending a final decision in Rossellini's suit to get them back. Neither Miss Bergman nor Rossellini was in court. They both are in Paris.

Miss Bergman won the first round last year when a Paris court gave her all rights to the children, Roberto 9, and twin girls Isotta and Ingrid Isabella, 6.

Thunderbird Pilot Killed

NELLIS AIR FORCE BASE, Nev. (UPI) — A member of the famed U.S. Air Force Thunderbird precision flying team was killed Thursday when his F100 Super Sabre collided in flight with another jet and he made an unsuccessful bailout.

The Air Force said Capt. Charles B. (Fish) Salmon, 30, winner of the Distinguished Flying Cross in Korea, succeeded in climbing to 30,000 feet after the impact, but the plane then went into a spin. He made his unsuccessful attempt to bailout at an undetermined altitude.

Salmon's body was recovered about 12 miles northeast of here.

The Thunderbirds are a famed supersonic flying team which travels all around the world to demonstrate precision formation flying. Salmon became a member of the Thunderbirds in January of last year.

The Air Force said that the four planes were practicing routine aerial maneuvering Thursday in a restricted acrobatic training area when Salmon's jet brushed with the wing man's F100. The tail assembly of the Salmon aircraft was crippled by the impact.

Radar Network

U.S. Constructs Missile Attack Warning System

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The North American Air Defense Command reported Thursday a long-range radar network is being built to warn against Soviet missile attacks.

The network is being constructed in the Arctic wastes in Alaska and Greenland and will cover the Soviet land mass from the Pacific Ocean to Poland.

The radar station chain is known as the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System (BMEWS). It is costing one billion dollars, the NORAD announcement said.

The system will be ready for operation next year and includes three radar screens at Clear, Alaska, and four at Thule, Greenland.

NORAD said the screens are designed to have a 3,000-mile range. They are intended to pick up Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles five minutes after launching.

Both NORAD headquarters and the Strategic Air Command at Omaha will receive information on distance, speed and course of the missiles.

The missiles would require about 30 minutes in flight to reach United States targets. It is believed the radar network would give the President, or whoever has the command decision to make, about 20 minutes to decide whether a counterattack would be made. Such counterattacks, officials said, would be with SAC bombers armed with hydrogen bombs.

Ike's Foreign Aid Message Due Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will send Congress a special message Friday on the administration's $3,900,000,000 foreign aid program.

Announcing this Thursday, White House press secretary, James C. Hagerty described the message as a rather long one.

Presumably it will present a detailed argument as to why the administration believes that amount is necessary.

There have already been demands by some Congress members that the aid program be cut.

FLAT ROCK, N.C. (UPI) — Poet Carl Sandburg, 81, was ordered to bed for at least two weeks by his physician Thursday because of physical exhaustion and laryngitis. His wife said the 81-year-old Sandburg "is just worn out" from a recent series of lectures and speaking engagements.

Senate Investigators Told:

Teamster Official Used Union Funds To Pay For Hotel Stay With Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teamster official Joey Glimco and his curvy secretary shared a hotel room for a week and his union local absorbed the $1,045 cost as an entertainment expense, a Senate investigator said Thursday.

Glimco, head of Teamsters Local 777 in Chicago, and Miss Laverne Murray were registered as man and wife during their stay at the Bel Air Hotel in Los Angeles in July 1953, the Senate Labor-Management Committee was told by investigator Alphonse Calabrese.

The 50-year-old Glimco, his eyes hot with anger, refused to discuss this with the committee. He invoked the Fifth Amendment on most questions, although he acknowledged being married and having two children.

When she was called to testify, Miss Murray—a striking brunette who appeared to be in her early 30s — invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions about her relationship with Glimco.

The matter came up as the rackets group probed deeper into allegations that Glimco, through tough tactics and tieups with Chicago mobsters, took control of Local 777 and shouldered his way into various Chicago area businesses.

One question Miss Murray balked at answering was whether she once moved into an Oak Park, Ill., home built in 1953 in her name and Glimco's.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said this house and one for Dominic Senese, another Teamsters official, were built with nearly $50,000 of Local 777's money. The counsel said this sum was disguised as payment for remodeling the local's headquarters.

Senese's name came up in a different connection when Kennedy said he and Victor Comforte, both alleged labor racketeers, are part owners of a firm holding subcontracts on 60 per cent of the Nike aircraft missile site jobs in the Chicago area. Kennedy listed the firm as the Broadway Sheet Metal Co. He said a third partner is named L. A. Moody.

After Comforte refused on Fifth Amendment grounds to answer questions about this, Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) demanded that the Defense Department blacklist the firm.

Seaway Toll Rates Less Than Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Canada Thursday announced St. Lawrence Seaway tolls designed to pay off the construction debt of the huge waterway in 50 years.

Shipping circles said the tolls were somewhat lower than they had expected.

The charges are less than those levied on vessels passing through the Suez and Panama canals.

A ship moving through the entire seaway will pay 6 cents for each gross registered ton of the vessel. One registered ton is figured as 100 cubic feet.

In addition, a toll of 42 cents a ton will be charged on bulk cargo and 95 cents on each ton of general cargo.

Cost Of Tawes' Teacher Pay Boost Plan Stirs Misgivings

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Thursday endorsed a long range school teachers' pay raise which would provide widely varying increases ranging from around $188 per teacher in Baltimore County to $679 in Somerset County.

It would cost the state between 31 and 35 million dollars to finance over the next four years. When the salary plan would become fully effective.

The proposal appeared headed into difficulties in the Legislature, which raised salaries an average of $400 per teacher last year.

Sen. Edward S. Northrop (D-Montgomery), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said some members of his committee were frankly concerned "about the impact of this plan on the state's fiscal picture, not only for next year but for the long range future."

"I personally am worried about any long-range spending commitment when the revenues aren't in sight to finance it," he added.

Del. Gordon Boone (D-Balto County), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, would venture no comment on the plan until he examined it in detail. He seemed somewhat surprised, however, to learn his county would receive such a relatively small share of the increase.

There were some misgivings voiced by other committee members as details of the plan emerged.

Gov. Tawes announced the proposal this morning. Basically it calls for boosting minimum salaries guaranteed by the state from $3,200 to $4,000 for starting teachers with a bachelor's degree. The top of the scale would be raised from $5,000 to $6,000 for those teachers with 12 years or more experience.

The state proposes to do this by jumping salary requirements $100 this year, $400 next year, $300 the third year and $200 for teachers at the top of the scale the fourth year.

Since all subdivisions of the state except Garrett County are already paying $400 or more above the minimum, an average boost in state aid of $400 per teacher would bring the statewide scales into line.

However, all counties will not net these amounts. Some will get more, some less, depending on their individual wealth. The program generally favors poorer counties.

Tied into the pay raise plan is a revision of the complicated formula under which the state contributes to school operation costs. This so-called equalization aid is based on the school tax rate levied by counties.

In order to cut down on equalization costs from the new salary plan and help the state finance the program, Gov. Tawes has approved boosting the required local rate from 75 cents per $100 property evaluation to 90 cents.

Since all counties now levy at least 90 cents, it will not be mandatory for them to raise these rates. However, some of them may have to because of a drop in equalization aid from the State.

Baltimore County, with the highest assessable tax basis in the state, would be the biggest sufferer.

It would wind up receiving a net $220 more state aid per classroom than it is presently receiving, $188 of which would go for salaries and the balance for school supplies as required by law for any $400 raise program.

According to state school officials the program requires that the additional state aid be spent for salaries but leaves up to local boards how to apportion it among teachers.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — A 38-year-old truck driver miraculously escaped injury Thursday when a freight train sheared off the front of his cab-over-engine truck and tore the steering wheel from his hands at a crossing in nearby Willoughby.

Richard Snyder of Tonawanda, N.Y., pulled his tractor-trailer rig on to the Nickel Plate tracks and attempted to back up when the crossing gates for the adjoining New York Central tracks lowered. Witnesses said the Nickel Plate gates and flashers failed to work.

As Snyder backed up, a 54-car Nickel Plate train rounded a curve and neatly sliced off the front of the truck cab, leaving Snyder shaken but unhurt on the seat.

House Unit OKs Idle Pay Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways & Means Committee overwhelmingly approved a bill Thursday to prevent an estimated 300,000 jobless workers from being chopped off the unemployment benefit rolls April 1.

The measure was expected to win House approval Monday. It was a sharply curtailed version of the plan originally proposed by House Democratic leaders for extending the emergency benefit program enacted last year at the peak of the recession.

President Eisenhower presumably would object to the bill if it reached his desk in its present form. He told his news conference Wednesday he believed the problem basically was one for the states although he would listen to arguments.

The bill would extend the emergency program only for workers who filed valid jobless claims before April 1. It would provide no payments to jobless persons who exhausted their state benefits after that date.

Democratic leaders originally had planned to push for a straight one-year extension of the program. They had even toyed with the idea of giving President Eisenhower power to cut off benefits off three months, thus putting him on the spot politically.

McKeldin Urges Surplus Return To Taxpayers

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland taxpayer's burden ought to be lifted a bit by returning the state's estimated $3,800,000 surplus to him, former Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin said Thursday.

He urged his successor, Gov. Tawes to grant relief "to the group to whom it (the surplus) really belongs—the whole body of Maryland taxpayers."

McKeldin said in an interview, "There has been far too little consultation with the taxpayer as to what should be done with his money. His needs are important too."

The rebate should come either as a cut in the income tax or the state property tax, the former governor suggested.

The surplus revenues, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960, are the result of increases from 2 to 3 per cent in the income and sales taxes.

McKeldin pointed out that when he was governor, surplus monies were returned twice to taxpayers.

"The device was a simple one—a law authorizing each income taxpayer to deduct a prescribed percentage from his income tax payment," McKeldin said.

Rep. O'Hara Donates Pension To Charity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. James G. O'Hara (D-Mich) said Thursday he's giving about $1,500 a year to charity because he does not feel comfortable about drawing two government checks.

The congressman confirmed a report he's contributing his World War II disability pension to charity, and added: "I'm not interested in getting any publicity about this. I just decided to do it when I was elected to Congress."

He said he contributes to various charities an amount equivalent to his disability check, "something over $120 a month."

He said the pension was awarded him after he contracted pulmonary tuberculosis while a paratrooper in the Pacific area.

His congressional salary is $22,500 a year.

Some authorities believe the Pacific is the oldest ocean and the Atlantic the youngest.

Bills To Liberalize State Jobless Benefits Rejected

ANNAPOLIS (AP)— Labor lost two legislative fights to management Thursday, one of them by the slimmest of margins.

The first loss came when the House Ways and Means Committee rejected a bill to increase unemployment benefits and the length of time they are allowed. The committee gave the measure an unfavorable report on a voice vote with only a few audible dissents.

Labor supporters came much closer on the other proposal, a bill that would have made jobless benefits available to workers laid off because of a work stoppage while negotiating for a new contract.

Similar bills are in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The committee turned down the "work stoppage" bill by a 15-14 vote, and a move to revive it on the House floor was beaten down by the same one-vote margin, 58-57.

Maryland law provides that workers laid off because of work stoppages caused by labor disputes may not collect benefits. This bill would have re-defined "labor dispute" to mean only a strike or other refusal to work.

Proponents of the bill argued this was the intent of the Maryland law until 1956 when the courts said workers laid off during contract negotiations could be denied benefits under the "labor dispute" provision.

Del. Sickles (D-Prince Georges) said this was a "gimmick" seized on by "some ingenious lawyer" of management.

The industry most concerned is ship repair. Yard operators claim ship owners frequently keep their vessels out of yards during periods of negotiation because of the strike possibility. They claim workers shouldn't be compensated for subsequent layoffs caused by lack of work.

Del. Gallagher (D-Balto 3rd) suggested the current law gives management "an economic gavel" to use against labor in negotiations. But Del. Staten (D-Balto) claimed the proposed change would give unions "an economic weapon over management's head."

Del. Lee (D-Montgomery), chairman of a sub-committee which studied the bill, said "it's a two-way street" but his group felt the current law is the "safer and better course in an effort to stay neutral in the labor-management dispute."

The much-debated bill was introduced at the request of Robert B. Kimble, director of the Department of Employment Security.

Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th) urged the House to make the law say "what it always seemed to mean."

Del. Reed (R-Allegany) echoed this sentiment.

The original committee vote was a 14-14 tie. Chairman Boone (D-Balto) broke it by going along with his sub-committee, but he agreed to give the bill an airing before the full House.

The committee took action on some 10 other bills affecting unemployment compensation. It went along with recommendations of the sub-committee in each case. All the bills were recommended by Kimble, but he later changed his stand on some.

The committee killed proposals to eliminate dependents' allowances, to change the partial benefits formula, to increase the employers' tax base and to change the disqualification period for certain claimants.

It approved proposals to limit payment of dependents' allowances to 26 weeks and to eliminate accession reports by employers.

The bill to increase benefits would have raised the maximum weekly payments from $35 to $40 and their duration from 26 to 30 weeks.

AFL-CIO representatives argued that the proposed increases were inadequate, but the sub-committee turned thumbs down on any jump. Lee said his group felt "this is an extremely bad year to put additional cost on the employer."

The tax on employers which feeds the unemployment benefit fund was recently increased because of a dent put in the kitty by the recession.

Mussolini's Son Acquitted

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI) — A military court Thursday acquitted Vittorio Mussolini, 40, son of dictator Benito Mussolini, of wartime desertion charges.

The tribunal reversed an earlier conviction after testimony showed Mussolini was "a virtual prisoner" of the Nazis in East Prussia when he failed to return from a 15-day leave to his Italian air force bomber squadron.

Witnesses said Mussolini was granted the leave the day after his father was arrested, July 26, 1943, on orders of the late King Victor Emmanuel III.

Others testified Mussolini was released from active duty six days after his leave expired. The tribunal ruled he could not be considered a deserter in those six days.

The military court had convicted Mussolini of desertion in 1951 and sentenced him 27 months in prison. Mussolini, who has been living in Argentina, did not serve the term, under an amnesty.

He voluntarily returned to Italy to clear his name. The air force had taken measures to strip him of his rank as a reserve captain, but Thursday's action will allow him to keep his rank.

Bills To Liberalize State Jobless Benefits Rejected

ANNAPOLIS (AP)— Labor lost two legislative fights to management Thursday, one of them by the slimmest of margins.

The first loss came when the House Ways and Means Committee rejected a bill to increase unemployment benefits and the length of time they are allowed. The committee gave the measure an unfavorable report on a voice vote with only a few audible dissents.

Labor supporters came much closer on the other proposal, a bill that would have made jobless benefits available to workers laid off because of a work stoppage while negotiating for a new contract.

Similar bills are in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The committee turned down the "work stoppage" bill by a 15-14 vote, and a move to revive it on the House floor was beaten down by the same one-vote margin, 58-57.

Maryland law provides that workers laid off because of work stoppages caused by labor disputes may not collect benefits. This bill would have re-defined "labor dispute" to mean only a strike or other refusal to work.

Proponents of the bill argued this was the intent of the Maryland law until 1956 when the courts said workers laid off during contract negotiations could be denied benefits under the "labor dispute" provision.

Del. Sickles (D-Prince Georges) said this was a "gimmick" seized on by "some ingenious lawyer" of management.

Ike-Mac Talks Will Make Gettysburg News Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — A community already famed in history will become a top news center once again when President Eisenhower and Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan meet on the Berlin crisis.

The talks starting March 20 will be held at Eisenhower's Catoctin Mountain retreat, Camp David, near Thurmont, Md., 65 miles north of Washington.

But headquarters for the scores of U.S., British and other newsmen planning to cover the talks will be about 25 miles from Camp David at Gettysburg, Pa.

James C. Hagerty, White House press Secretary, and whoever is spokesman for the British delegation will hold their news conferences at Gettysburg, the area which in 1863 was the site of one of the biggest battles of the Civil War.

Eisenhower's farm home is situated on the edge of the battlefield, about four miles from the center of town.

Gettysburg has been chosen as the news center because it has much better communications facilities than any other place closer to Camp David.

Man Sent To Prison In Crash Aftermath

SALISBURY (AP) — Benjamin Perry, 41, of (1351 Franklin St., NE) Washington, Thursday was sentenced to two years in prison on charges resulting from a four-vehicle accident which injured a boy here March 7.

Perry was sentenced by Peoples Court Judge Fanny Murphy after he was convicted of leaving the scene of an accident and reckless driving.

A car owned by Perry's wife and driven by him, collided with a truck and two other autos. The Perry auto was found abandoned after the accident. He was arrested last Tuesday when he came here to claim the auto.

Damage to the four vehicles was estimated at $3,500.

Moonshine Must Have Been Potent

LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP) — There is no question in the minds of State Police that what a St. Mary's county moonshiner was cooking in the woods near Compton was potent.

They blamed a 1,100-gallon still, fired by wood and coal, for a fire which covered four acres of woodland Wednesday. It took county firefighters four hours to put it out.

About 800 gallons of rye mash were found fermenting in barrels by the still discovered by the firefighters.

Grady Win Official

BALTIMORE (AP) — State's Atty. J. Harold Grady had the official word Wednesday he was the Democratic nominee for mayor of Baltimore.

The Board of Supervisors of Election reported that Grady won the nomination with 103,046 votes to 70,305 received by Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro in the March 3 primary.

Man Pleads Guilty In Slaying Of Wife

BALTIMORE (AP) — Walter J. Ches, 40-year-old Dundalk refrigerator mechanic, pleaded guilty Thursday to the second degree murder of his wife last Oct. 23.

Ches appeared before Chief Judge John B. Gontrum in Criminal Court. Sentence was not immediately announced.

Mrs. Ches was found dead in the living room of their home. Dr. T. W. Richert, an assistant state medical examiner, said death was caused by manual strangulation.

The court was told that the couple had been having marital difficulties since 1956.

Mrs. Ches' first husband committed suicide several years ago. She and the defendant were married in 1955. Ches said she had deserted him several times and on the morning of her death he had pleaded with her not to leave him again and carry out her intentions of getting a divorce.

Herman L. Mills Heads "Milk Freedom" Group

BALTIMORE (AP) — Former Mayor Herman L. Mills of Hagerstown Thursday was named president of a group organized to fight milk controls proposed for Maryland by a fellow townsman.

The newly-formed "Marylanders for Milk Freedom" said Mills, a Hagerstown businessman, will direct the drive to defeat legislation pending in the General Assembly.

The legislation, co-sponsored in the House of Delegates by Delegate Joseph H. McElwee, a Hagerstown Democrat, calls for establishment of a state milk control commission. The agency would have the power to set the price of milk and all dairy products at the farm, wholesale and retail levels.

Mills said the new organization signed up more than 20,000 members in the first week after introduction of the bill in Annapolis. Membership now numbers over 30,000, he said.

In a statement he said that "if I thought the Hagerstown area needed controls, I would have sided with McElwee." Mills added that "free enterprise, which helps keep milk consumption high, consumer prices reasonable and farmer income up, is what Maryland has now and that's all we need."

The "Marylanders for Milk Freedom" organization has set up headquarters in the Mathieson building in downtown Baltimore.

Woman Charged In Bank Embezzlement

BALTIMORE (AP)—Frances K. Collins, 31, of Rogers Heights, Md., has been charged with embezzling $100 from a Hyattsville bank, the FBI announced Thursday.

Special agent James J. Kelly said Miss Collins was arrested and arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Earnest Volkart here today. She waived a preliminary hearing and was placed under $500 bond.

Kelly asid Miss Collins had been employed at the Suburban Trust Co. of Hyattsville since Oct. 14, 1957. She is accused of taking a check worth $100 from the bank and cashing it last Feb. 3.

The bank advised the FBI that the loss was covered by insurance.

Many Bills Relating To Churchly Affairs Placed Before Congress

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Religious ingredients are in the works of the nation's governmental mill today.

As usual, a host of proposals bearing on churchly affairs have been introduced into Congress.

And some denominational leaders are worried about effects of various legislation already in operation.

With federal activity expanding, the Rev. Dr. William J. Villaume, head of the social-welfare department of the National Council of Churches, says increasing problems of church-state relations loom in the years ahead.

As the trend develops, more than a half dozen religious groups —Baptists, Lutherans, Methodists, Presbyterians, Quakers, Catholics, Jews and others—have set up special offices in the nation's capitol.

Among their jobs is to voice their views in government circles, and relay the news of what is going on to the folks back home.

More than 30 bills related to religious interests, some of them perennials, have been put before the 86th Congress by individual legislators.

Included are measures which would provide for:

1. Amendment of the Constitution to recognize the "authority and law of Jesus Christ" as the law of the land.

2. Establishment of diplomatic relations with the Vatican, and sending a U.S. envoy there.

3. Exemption of clergymen from being required to disclose confidential communications in federal courts.

4. Increase from 5 to 10 per cent the allowable corporate tax deductions for contributions to religious and charitable institutions.

5. Legalize mailing of church bingo advertising.

6. Make destruction of educational or religious structures a federal offense.

7. Exempt from the Social Security program members of the old order Amish Mennonites who object to it on religious grounds.

8. Use of regular military chaplains at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, instead of the customary civilian chaplain, traditionally an Episcopalian.

9. Ban liquor advertising from interstate commerce, and forbid liquor sales on airliners.

10. Allow income tax credit for tuition paid for higher education in public and private institutions, including church-rleated colleges.

W. Barry Garrett, of the Baptist Public Affairs office in Washington, said sponsors of the various bills all affirm their devotion to the principle of church-state separation.

But he added: "They are not all clear on the meaning of that expression."

Kidnap Victims Safe

ALGIERS (UPI)—Two Italian women and five children who were kidnaped from their farm 11 days ago by Algerian Rebels were safe in French hands Thursday.

The French Command announced that the seven rescued members of the Cesaro family, forced to March 70 miles were in good health but exhausted when found Wednesday night. The army said there was no trace of the three Cesaro brothers who also had been captured by the rebels.

The average newborn infant in the United States today may expect a life span of nearly 20 years longer than that of an infant born in 1900.

Many Bills Relating To Churchly Affairs Placed Before Congress

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Religious ingredients are in the works of the nation's governmental mill today.

As usual, a host of proposals bearing on churchly affairs have been introduced into Congress.

And some denominational leaders are worried about effects of various legislation already in operation.

With federal activity expanding, the Rev. Dr. William J. Villaume, head of the social-welfare department of the National Council of Churches, says increasing problems of church-state relations loom in the years ahead.

As the trend develops, more than a half dozen religious groups —Baptists, Lutherans, Methodists, Presbyterians, Quakers, Catholics, Jews and others—have set up special offices in the nation's capitol.

Among their jobs is to voice their views in government circles, and relay the news of what is going on to the folks back home.

More than 30 bills related to religious interests, some of them perennials, have been put before the 86th Congress by individual legislators.

Included are measures which would provide for:

1. Amendment of the Constitution to recognize the "authority and law of Jesus Christ" as the law of the land.

2. Establishment of diplomatic relations with the Vatican, and sending a U.S. envoy there.

3. Exemption of clergymen from being required to disclose confidential communications in federal courts.

4. Increase from 5 to 10 per cent the allowable corporate tax deductions for contributions to religious and charitable institutions.

5. Legalize mailing of church bingo advertising.

6. Make destruction of educational or religious structures a federal offense.

7. Exempt from the Social Security program members of the old order Amish Mennonites who object to it on religious grounds.

8. Use of regular military chaplains at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, instead of the customary civilian chaplain, traditionally an Episcopalian.

9. Ban liquor advertising from interstate commerce, and forbid liquor sales on airliners.

10. Allow income tax credit for tuition paid for higher education in public and private institutions, including church-rleated colleges.

W. Barry Garrett, of the Baptist Public Affairs office in Washington, said sponsors of the various bills all affirm their devotion to the principle of church-state separation.

But he added: "They are not all clear on the meaning of that expression."

Kidnap Victims Safe

ALGIERS (UPI)—Two Italian women and five children who were kidnaped from their farm 11 days ago by Algerian Rebels were safe in French hands Thursday.

The French Command announced that the seven rescued members of the Cesaro family, forced to March 70 miles were in good health but exhausted when found Wednesday night. The army said there was no trace of the three Cesaro brothers who also had been captured by the rebels.

The average newborn infant in the United States today may expect a life span of nearly 20 years longer than that of an infant born in 1900.

Auxiliary 1125 Accepts 2 Members

World War I Ladies Auxiliary to Barracks 1125 voted to accept two new members at the meeting Wednesday evening at the VFW home. They are Mrs. Ellen Shaffer and Mrs. Blanch Festerman of Frostburg. Initiation will be in April.

Mrs. Chloe Reynolds presided and announced that she had received seven letters from Senators and Congressmen concerning pending legislation about the $100 pensions for World War I veterans. Most were in favor of the bills, she said.

The auxiliary elected Mrs. Pearl Darling as conductress. An invitation was sent to the barracks to be guests at the April meeting, at which time plans for the work for the year are to be outlined.

A social hour concluded the meeting. The prize was won by Mrs. Reynolds. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ina Smith, Mrs. Rosalie Everstine and Mrs. Catherine Wilson.

Memorial Hospital Student Nurses will model fashions by Martin's Sunday. The show will be held at the Cumberland Country Club, beginning at 3 o'clock. Shoes will be from Shinnamon's. The fashion show was postponed because of the weather.

Dante Is Discussed By Group

"The Divine Comedy," the three-part poem by Dante Alighieri of his imaginary journey through Hell, Purgatory and Paradise, was discussed at the meeting of the Great Books Group of Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women, held at the home of Mrs. John A. Cupler II Tuesday evening. Miss Mary Walsh described the historical background of Dante's time, 1265-1321, picturing the poet as an active politician in the growing, influential city of Florence, Italy, from which he was exiled in 1300. The remainder of his life was lived in Ravenna.

"The Divine Comedy" was the first major work written in the Italian language, and this alone was an outstanding contribution of the poet Dante.

In further discussing the structure of the poem, Mrs. Paul Castelle pointed out that Dante also invented the "terza rima," the rhyme scheme which is used through the 99 cantos of the poem. The subject of the poem is the state of souls after death, or allegorically, Everyman's journey through this world. In the arrangement of the journey, the number 3 is used as a symbol, the three divisions of the poem corresponding to the Holy Trinity, as, the Inferno represents the power of the Father; Purgatorio, the wisdom of the Son; and the Paradisio, the love of the Holy Spirit.

Mrs. John Hafer spoke briefly on those who were Dante's guides on this journey: Virgil, the greatest of the Latin poets, Beatrice, the lady whom Dante loved, and St. Bernard, of Clairvaux, the great French ecclesiastic who founded the Cistercian monasteries.

Miss Walsh, Mrs. Castelle, and Mrs. Hafer led the general discussion of the three parts of the poem, pointing out passages of particular beauty and significance. They was found that "all things are present in this tremendous work—spectacular imagery, power, wit, passion, color." In summarizing, the group concluded that "The Divine Comedy" is the poet's autobiography; that it is "a love poem, a political treatise, an ethical treatise, a work on Medieval philosophy, and that it is art of supreme beauty and supreme significance."

Illustrations of "The Divine Comedy" by William Blake (1757-1827), English engraver, and Paul Gustave Dore, 19th Century French artist, were displayed.

Mrs. Ralph Webster announced that the next meeting will be held April 14 at the home of Mrs. A. J. Feigus, when "Tales of a Traveller" by Washington Irving will be discussed.

Mrs. Cupler was assisted in serving by Mrs. John Hafer. Others present were Mrs. George Griffith, Mrs. Milton Granet, Mrs. W. Earle Cobey, Mrs. Granville Shirley, Mrs. Max Bastian, Mrs. Milton Beneman, Mrs. A. J. Mirkin, Mrs. Lawrence Brown, Mrs. A. J. Feigus, Mrs. G. Morgan Smith, and Mrs. Webster. Mrs. Robert Clark was a guest.

A shrimp feed will be held by the Shrine Patrol tonight from 6:30 until 9 at the City Club.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Yours For Beautiful Hair

When you receive a compliment on your hair—that's one to be cherished. The dress or hat that could be admired is taken off a few hours later.

But hair is YOU—your most important personal accessory.

Why don't you receive more compliments on your hair? Maybe you re-curl . . . re-cut . . . and re-color your locks constantly. But you don't re-condition your hair.

You redecorate your house. You overhaul your car. You'd feel you were neglecting them otherwise. Yet you seldom think of the rites essential to keeping your topknot healthy, shining and resilient. If you desire glorious, compliant locks, you must think of all the activity of hair growth, and the complex structure of each hair itself. Get better acquainted . . . it's a most interesting subject.

Each hair is a long, spindle-shaped substance composed of keratin. At the base, called the root, is a tubular sheath surrounding it called the follicle. The hair is nourished by the papilla, which takes certain factors from the blood . . . and then turns them into cells.

To have beautiful hair, we must realize how important the diet is. From our booklet, "Your Beauty Diet," you will learn to include the proper foods. For your copy, send 10 cents in coin to Secrets of Charm, in care of this newspaper . . . . enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Hair needs vitamin A foods for good health and strength in texture. This vitamin adds the all-important pliability to the hair. Vitamin B is necessary for color and smoothness. Iron and iodine help in holding the natural color—preventing graying at too early an age. Calcium gives it a firmer body, while proteins are important for their tissue building and repairing abilities.

Circulation is necessary to preserve the beauty of the hair throughout one's lifetime. That means getting better acquainted with your hairbrush at once. A brush stimulates the flow of blood to the follicles where the hair is "born," nourished and strengthened. The blood must be made to come freely to the hair roots. Brushing also frees the hair of dust between shampoos.

TOMORROW: Here's To A New Season.

Classes Hold Joint Meeting

The five adult Bible classes of Grace Baptist Church held the combined quarterly meeting Tuesday at the church. Following the hymn, "There Is a Name I Love To Hear," devotions were led by Melvin Grindle, using as his topic, "Keep Open the Windows." Prayer was offered by Herman Cunningham.

Concluding the meetings, Joseph Trenton and A. N. Billings showed pictures of the 25th anniversary of the church and Rev. W. Randolph Keefe's 25th anniversary as pastor. The entertainment was followed by serving refreshments.

Trucker Killed

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — Richard A. Williams, 30-year-old of Hillcrest Heights, Md., was fatally injured Tuesday night when his truck went out of control and crashed.

State Police said the vehicle hit a bridge approach retaining rail, careened across the highway and went into a creek 50 feet below. The accident happened 2½ miles west of Virginia 7 on Virginia 244.

Tasks Of U. N. Technicians Never End

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the second of three dispatches on the non-political activities of the United Nations. It rounds up the technical services of the various U. N. affiliated organizations.

By CLAIRE COX

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The United Nations keeps a close watch on the world, from the fish in the sea to the clouds in the sky.

A Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) technician recently showed a Sudanese fisherman how to increase his catches—by using a little motor on his boat and light weight nylon fishing lines.

The World Meteorological Organization (WMO) is making special studies of the upper air as an aid to international jet airline flights.

While diplomats engage in lofty debate at world U.N. headquarters, International Telecommunications Union technicians (ITU) are studying television transmission systems in an effort to pave the way for an international color TV network.

The International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) is policing its standards for air navigation, pilot licensing, maps, charts, rules of the air and airworthiness of aircraft.

Maintains Rescue Service

ICAO also maintains a search and rescue system and the 10 floating stations in the North Atlantic that mark the way for transatlantic flights and report on the weather.

Technological assistance of all sorts is offered through United Nations agencies, beginning with loans from the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the International Finance Corporation or the International Monetary Fund, and ending with the provision of the men to run the jobs.

The U.N. technical assistance program has supervised development of civil aviation networks in countries that have few roads. Among them is Indonesia. A microwave relay communication system has been setup in Malaya. A Belgian agricultural expert is in Haiti to teach villagers how to get higher prices for their produce.

Syria Fights Malaria

An Indian farm expert is showing Thailanders how to diversify crops. Syria's fight against malaria is being waged with the help of U.N. sponsored Italians, Belgians and Egyptians.

The technical assistance program has recruited doctors, engineers, educators, agriculturalists, veterinarians, nurses, aviation mechanics and all sorts of experts for international service.

Under this system, Iran is developing a TVA of its own that will serve the entire Middle East. Burma has started a social security program. Bolivia is cultivating a plant used to make insecticides. A Pakistani is studying Danish cargo handling and a Libyan veterinarian is getting advanced training in Australia.

The Universal Postal Union (UPU) is a U.N. financed clearing house for the international exchange of more than a billion pieces of mail every year. Its big job now is to speed up postal services, mainly through automation.

Aims To Improve Diets

The International Atomic Energy Agency sells uranium to qualified nations. The new U.N. Maritime Organization is trying to solve technical shipping problems and encourage the adoption of the highest possible safety and navigation standards.

One of the biggest of the U.N. operations is the Food and Agriculture Organization, which has as its goal the improvement of the diets of 5 out of every 6 persons alive. FAO estimates that more than half the world's people are underfed and less than one-fourth are well fed. It wants to improve the situation by raising agricultural efficiency throughout the world.

Among the measures taken so far by FAO have been the introduction of hybrid corn to underfed nations, the improvement of grain storage facilities and the encouragement of greater fish consumption by coastal populations.

Newspaper Banned

PARIS (UPI)—Police confiscated all copies of the French left-wing weekly Express Thursday for printing what the government called a "scandalous" interview giving "indecent praise" to the Algerian rebels.

The issue was seized before it reached the news stands. It was the third time the weekly had been seized since President Charles de Gualle came to power last June.

Exclusive of dialects, 225 languages are spoken in India and Pakistan.

U.S. To Ship Ranch House To Moscow

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United States will send a ranch house to Russia next summer to show how the average American lives.

The house, called a "Splitnik," is a one-story, six-room redwood contemporary style which will be part of the three-million dollar American National Exhibition in Moscow.

The six-week exhibition, tentatively scheduled to open July 4, will illustrate American education, science and research, art, travel, theater and community life. More than 3,500,000 Russians are expected to visit the displays in Moscow's 1550-acre Sokolniki Park.

The project is part of an exchange agreement which calls for a similar Russian exhibition to open in New York June 28 for a month.

When the pygmies of French West Africa bag an elephant, the village is moved to the carcass, instead of vice versa.

Keeping Mouth Shut Good Way To Stay Healthy

LONDON (AP) — Keeping your mouth shut is a good way to stay healthy, says a British doctor.

Dr. L. G. Norman, chief medical officer for the London Subway System, told the Royal Health Society that silence is not only golden but prophylactic.

"During rush hours people stand with their noses and throats as close together as 12 to 18 inches. Yet Londoners are not unduly susceptible to infectious diseases," he said.

"The British people traditionally do not converse in trains. There may be advantages in this national custom, as the closed mouth minimizes the spread of infection."

Balk At Taxes

NEW DELHI (UPI)— More than 6,500 Communists have been jailed in western Punjab for armed resistance to new taxes, it was disclosed Thursday. The taxes were levied to finance a power dam.

The arrests were announced at Chandigarh, state capital, by Chief Minister Pratap Singh Kairon. He said the Communists hoped to take over control of the state government.

AN ACCIDENT COULD CAUSE WAR — Congress has taken cognizance of the Berlin crisis, fraught with danger. President Eisenhower says, "We are not going to give one single inch in the preservation of our rights and in discharging our responsibilities in this particular region, especially Berlin. There can be no negotiation on this particular point of right and of retention of responsibility." Russian Premier Khrushchev says, in effect, "War? Yes, if the United States and its Allies use force to stay in Berlin."

Despite these inflexible positions, I do not believe there will be shooting war. Why? Because Communists usually will settle for a lot less than they ask for. Their threats and implied threats will continue, but they usually back up or slow down when they face real danger. The war ahead, most probably, will be a war of nerves, not a shooting war. Shooting war, if it should come, would be a war by accident, not by design.

OUR DEFENSE PROGRAM — This past week I heard testimony and took part in discussions in our Committee on Armed Services. Some scientists say that the Army should be given permission to go ahead faster in anti-missile work. Others insist that more research work has to be done first.

Admiral Burke, Chief of Naval Operations, says that we do not need to engage in an endless arms race. "As long as we have the assured capability of destroying Russia and as long as the Soviets know it," he says, it is "academic" whether Russia has half as many or several times as many ballistic missiles as we have.

BALTIMORE GETS SHIPBUILDING CONTRACT — The Bethlehem Steel Company, Key Highway, Baltimore, Maryland, has been awarded a contract for the conversion of the "Prairie Mariner" into an attack transport, at a contract price of $10,366,000.00.

ELLICOTT CITY MAIL DELIVERY — The Postmaster General informs me that city delivery service will be established at Ellicott City, Maryland, as soon as the necessary vehicles and equipment can be arranged for.

MARYLAND HOSPITALS GET FEDERAL FUNDS — Two hospitals in our State were granted Federal funds this past week for enlarging facilities. Suburban hospital, Bethesda, $268,000; Peninsula General Hospital, Salisbury, $214,000.

"THANK YOU, ONE AND ALL" — For your generous good wishes, by letter, card or telegram, to me while I was undergoing surgery in the Bethesda Naval Hospital and while I was convalescing, I am most grateful. I am glad to report that the operation was successful and I am now quite well.

BILLS SPONSORED OR CO-SPONSORED — At my request, while I was in the hospital, Minority Leader Dirksen introduced my bill for licensing public adjusters in the District of Columbia.

The National Service Life Insurance Bill, which I co-sponsored, was introduced last week and referred to the Senate Finance Committee. This bill would benefit many veterans who never took out their insurance because they did not have family responsibilities when they were discharged and others who dropped their policies because of financial difficulties.

The Hawaii statehood bill, which I co-sponsored, was reported out of committee this past week and will now be considered on the Senate Floor, where, I believe, it will be passed.

"A ROSE IS A ROSE IS A ROSE"—That Congressional perennial — the delicately fragrant problem of choosing a national flower — was in bloom again last week. Setting aside, for the moment, the weighty issues of the world, the Senate debated the value of various flowers. The carnation was lyrically described as a flower of "fertility, virility, stability, and courage." Members of the rose and corn-tassel blocs objected to the carnation as having mostly funereal value. Corn was eulogized — the corn-tassel, that is. Rose supporters countered: "Our flower has not been blemished with subsidy." Bluegrass was suggested as the national flower — on behalf of "the patient cattle, the gentle sheep, and the loving horse." And there the debate ended.

ARE WAGE EARNERS BETTER OFF?—The Congress is considering labor-reform legislation designed to prevent racketeering elements from controlling labor unions. Labor unions will continue their roll of asking for higher wages. When it is pointed out that factory wages averaged $2.12 an hour in 1958 as compared with only $1.35 ten years ago, the rebuttal is that the cost of living increased, and continues to increase.

The question is: Are wage earners better off now in terms of what their work will buy? Yes, says the International Association of Machinists, a labor union, which has made a study of factory wages and retail prices over a long period. The study's findings may surprise you. To buy an electric refrigerator in 1948 required 178 hours of a factory worker's time; in 1958, 71 hours. A quart of milk in 1948, 9 minutes; in 1958, 7 minutes. A pound of bacon in 1948, 34 minutes; in 1958, 21 minutes. A pound of chuck roast in 1948, 28 minutes; in 1958, 16 minutes. Almost everything is cheaper now when translated into minutes or hours of work. American factory workers put in less time now than they did 10 years ago to earn the necessities and luxuries of life.

Labor unions seem to have done well for their members..

PAST THE MOON, AND IN ORBIT—Space capsule "Pioneer IV", aimed to pass by the moon and go on to orbit around the sun, performed as planned. This great achievement is an important step in the "space race."

Dr. Killian, President Eisenhower's science adviser, tells us: "The future of the United States, to an extraordinary degree, is in the hands of those who probe the mysteries of the atom, the cell, and the stars."

"LIGHT ONE CANDLE"—The Christophers have a motto which, it seems to me, all of us would do well to adopt: "It is better to light one candle than to curse the darkness."

Lillian M. Feather was granted a divorce from Leo C. Feather and got the right to resume use of her maiden name of Lillian M. Adams. Arlene L. Conner was awarded a divorce from James P. Conner and custody of their two minor children. Leafy M. Kinser was awarded a divorce from Edgar E. Kinser.

Thomas J. Groves was awarded a divorce from Mary Lee Groves and she was given custody of their two minor children. Myrtle V. Elliott received a divorce from Joseph William Elliott and custody of their six minor children. Flora Jane Robinette won a divorce from Harold Leroy Robinette and custody of their five minor children.

Couples Travel Through City On Sleigh

In these days of jet planes and high-powered autos the sight of a horse-drawn vehicle is rare indeed.

Early yesterday, at 3 a. m. to be exact, City Patrolman Paul Penrod rubbed his eyes when he saw an old fashioned sleigh with a horse as motive power coming down Baltimore Street.

Riding in the sleigh were two young couples who were laughing and enjoying the winter sport.

Lake Victoria, in East Africa, is almost four thousand feet above sea level and is the source of the Nile river.

John Adams was the only United States President who lived to see his son become President.

Tawes Signs Number Of Area Measures

Gov. J. Millard Tawes Wednesday signed into law a number of bills affecting residents of Allegany and Garrett counties.

Senate Bill 223 sponsored by State Sen. Charles M. See was made a new state law and it requires the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to allocate a sum of $934 to the Oldtown Volunteer Fire Company.

Another bill endorsed by Gov. Tawes was House Bill 202 which will make the January term of Allegany County Circuit Court a non-jury term. This will leave October and April as the jury terms. July has been a non-jury session.

Gov. Tawes signed another bill that expands the deer hunting season from six to seven days and relaxes restrictions on special seasons for antlerless deer.

Another measure, House Bill 119, affecting the State Game and Inland Fish Commission, removes the price limit of $5 an acre for land or water it purchases.

Senate Bill 255 sponsored by State Sen. Bernard I. Gonder of Garrett County provides for the incorporation of Garrett Memorial Hospital in Oakland.

Another Garrett bill signed into law was Senate Bill 220, also sponsored by Sen. Gonder, provides for a change in bond requirements for livestock auctions in that county.

The Senate Wednesday passed another Gonder bill, Senate Bill 385, that authorizes the employment of an industrial engineer for the county at an annual salary and expenses of $25,000 a year.

The Senate also approved Senate Bill 396 introduced by Sen. Gonder to allow Garrett County to create sanitary districts.

Fuel For Britain

LONDON (UPI)—The first 2,000 tons of natural gas from Texas fields was in use Thursday in London's northern suburbs. In an experiment, the gas is shipped here in liquid form, in one six-hundredth of its normal space, in a special tanker.

If the experiment works, the Texas gas will help solve Britain's fuel problems and take care of some surplus U.S. gas.

A TV Star

LONDON (UPI)—Ellis Smith and 29 other Socialist members of Parliament want to have House of Commons proceedings televised because, Smith said, "we find we can address very few people" without it. He said TV personalities had audiences of millions, but politicians were heard by few.

Went Half Way

ROME (UPI)—Giulio Coraggio, 21, jumped into the Tiber River Wednesday night because his 15-year-old girl friend said she was too young to marry. Coraggio changed his mind after spending one minute in the icy water. He swam back to shore and went to a hospital where he was treated for exposure.

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

No Substitute For Truth

ANN ARBOR, Mich.

"Ghandi demonstrated the power of the spirit over material things," declared the narrator in a film on the University of Michigan Television's "Genius" series. "You could put his possessions into a shopping bag but he lived and died for the truth and therein lay his genius."

You might say that educational television has the same material weakness and spiritual strength Ghandi had. But educational television people don't always know where their strength and weakness lie. The most powerful educational TV shows I have seen here have been fairly simple declarations of truth—and all you need for that is a human being who knows what he's talking about and a camera.

For instance, one film on the university's "Understanding Our World" series is on the unpalatable subject of the behavior of our prisoners of war in Korea. The record is bad—very bad—but no attempt is made to pretty it up. After all, the university doesn't have sponsors or ad agencies or Nielsen ratings to worry about or to placate. It can present the truth unvarnished. Frequently, the lack of varnish is enforced by the absence of money to buy varnish or production and this, too, is an asset—even though it's hard to convince a producer that it is.

Every so often the bare bones of truth begin to pall on the producers and directors of educational TV. Then trouble looms. They begin to pretty up the truth with production, with music, with singing, and lighting and acting—and pretty soon it doesn't resemble truth or entertainment or anything else. The most horrible example of this I know was the Bell Telephone Hour prettying up cosmic rays with cute dialogue and cartoons and sound effects to the point where anyone seeing it will never understand cosmic rays at all.

Michigan television has not done anything that bad but now and then production does rear its head. One of the "Genius" series was on Magellan—"My name—Magellan," cried the hero just like in "Dragnet"—which resembled an Abe Burrows parody on all documentaries. A guy with a guitar sang much of the narration, including what Magellan's ships carried in the hold—"200 barrels of anchovies, 1,000 strings of onions, 800 pounds of raisins," sang the man.

Sometimes this ingenuity was striking. The Ghandi program opened with a shot of Ghandi's few possessions—his spectacles and sandals and books. Over this picture was a simple moving account of Ghandi's assassination. In the long run, words are educational TV's greatest asset—and they are inexpensive though precious.

While the rest of television is drowning in triviality, educational TV has another great asset which those in charge of it sometimes forget—and that is the sheer importance of its subject matter. Here they have done massive ten-part studies of Russia and China. When the viewer has finished with these, he is left with a very real sense of achievement, far more lasting and rewarding than any amount of entertainment.

There's no limit to what persevering young men can do with little but their own ingenuity. Besides television, Michigan has an educational radio station, WUOM, which is now preparing a series on journalism. Here again the power of words is striking. A man with a tape recorder hit the road and found practically everyone in journalism was not only willing to talk but practically impossible to shut up.

I listened to one of these on foreign correspondence and heard Eric Sevareid complain: "There isn't much point in having very able men scattered all over the world if the networks only use a minute or so a day on news programs. It's not enough to get the facts; space is needed to present them on the air and now the men don't have the opportunity." Said Howard K. Smith: "A reporter has to be better today. He hasn't got the trenchcoat glamor any more—but scholarship is necessary." It was quite a hard-bitten honest roundup of expression from some of the most capable newsmen in the business.

Buffalo Rebuffed

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI)— A Buffalo owned by Mohammad Umer strolled onto the landing strip at Nauripur Airfield and charged a moving plane, police said Thursday.

The buffalo was killed, the plane slightly damaged, and Umer charged with neglecting his cattle.

The giant tortoise is the longest living animal in the world. There have been records of a tortoise living for more than 150 years and then dying accidentally, being in excellent health at the time of the accident.

Tawes Signs Number Of Area Measures

Gov. J. Millard Tawes Wednesday signed into law a number of bills affecting residents of Allegany and Garrett counties.

Senate Bill 223 sponsored by State Sen. Charles M. See was made a new state law and it requires the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to allocate a sum of $934 to the Oldtown Volunteer Fire Company.

Another bill endorsed by Gov. Tawes was House Bill 202 which will make the January term of Allegany County Circuit Court a non-jury term. This will leave October and April as the jury terms. July has been a non-jury session.

Gov. Tawes signed another bill that expands the deer hunting season from six to seven days and relaxes restrictions on special seasons for antlerless deer.

Another measure, House Bill 119, affecting the State Game and Inland Fish Commission, removes the price limit of $5 an acre for land or water it purchases.

Senate Bill 255 sponsored by State Sen. Bernard I. Gonder of Garrett County provides for the incorporation of Garrett Memorial Hospital in Oakland.

Another Garrett bill signed into law was Senate Bill 220, also sponsored by Sen. Gonder, provides for a change in bond requirements for livestock auctions in that county.

The Senate Wednesday passed another Gonder bill, Senate Bill 385, that authorizes the employment of an industrial engineer for the county at an annual salary and expenses of $25,000 a year.

The Senate also approved Senate Bill 396 introduced by Sen. Gonder to allow Garrett County to create sanitary districts.

Fuel For Britain

LONDON (UPI)—The first 2,000 tons of natural gas from Texas fields was in use Thursday in London's northern suburbs. In an experiment, the gas is shipped here in liquid form, in one six-hundredth of its normal space, in a special tanker.

If the experiment works, the Texas gas will help solve Britain's fuel problems and take care of some surplus U.S. gas.

A TV Star

LONDON (UPI)—Ellis Smith and 29 other Socialist members of Parliament want to have House of Commons proceedings televised because, Smith said, "we find we can address very few people" without it. He said TV personalities had audiences of millions, but politicians were heard by few.

Went Half Way

ROME (UPI)—Giulio Coraggio, 21, jumped into the Tiber River Wednesday night because his 15-year-old girl friend said she was too young to marry. Coraggio changed his mind after spending one minute in the icy water. He swam back to shore and went to a hospital where he was treated for exposure.

Television and Radio

No Substitute For Truth

ANN ARBOR, Mich.

"Ghandi demonstrated the power of the spirit over material things," declared the narrator in a film on the University of Michigan Television's "Genius" series. "You could put his possessions into a shopping bag but he lived and died for the truth and therein lay his genius."

You might say that educational television has the same material weakness and spiritual strength Ghandi had. But educational television people don't always know where their strength and weakness lie. The most powerful educational TV shows I have seen here have been fairly simple declarations of truth—and all you need for that is a human being who knows what he's talking about and a camera.

For instance, one film on the university's "Understanding Our World" series is on the unpalatable subject of the behavior of our prisoners of war in Korea. The record is bad—very bad—but no attempt is made to pretty it up. After all, the university doesn't have sponsors or ad agencies or Nielsen ratings to worry about or to placate. It can present the truth unvarnished. Frequently, the lack of varnish is enforced by the absence of money to buy varnish or production and this, too, is an asset—even though it's hard to convince a producer that it is.

Every so often the bare bones of truth begin to pall on the producers and directors of educational TV. Then trouble looms. They begin to pretty up the truth with production, with music, with singing, and lighting and acting—and pretty soon it doesn't resemble truth or entertainment or anything else. The most horrible example of this I know was the Bell Telephone Hour prettying up cosmic rays with cute dialogue and cartoons and sound effects to the point where anyone seeing it will never understand cosmic rays at all.

Michigan television has not done anything that bad but now and then production does rear its head. One of the "Genius" series was on Magellan—"My name—Magellan," cried the hero just like in "Dragnet"—which resembled an Abe Burrows parody on all documentaries. A guy with a guitar sang much of the narration, including what Magellan's ships carried in the hold—"200 barrels of anchovies, 1,000 strings of onions, 800 pounds of raisins," sang the man.

Sometimes this ingenuity was striking. The Ghandi program opened with a shot of Ghandi's few possessions—his spectacles and sandals and books. Over this picture was a simple moving account of Ghandi's assassination. In the long run, words are educational TV's greatest asset—and they are inexpensive though precious.

While the rest of television is drowning in triviality, educational TV has another great asset which those in charge of it sometimes forget—and that is the sheer importance of its subject matter. Here they have done massive ten-part studies of Russia and China. When the viewer has finished with these, he is left with a very real sense of achievement, far more lasting and rewarding than any amount of entertainment.

There's no limit to what persevering young men can do with little but their own ingenuity. Besides television, Michigan has an educational radio station, WUOM, which is now preparing a series on journalism. Here again the power of words is striking. A man with a tape recorder hit the road and found practically everyone in journalism was not only willing to talk but practically impossible to shut up.

I listened to one of these on foreign correspondence and heard Eric Sevareid complain: "There isn't much point in having very able men scattered all over the world if the networks only use a minute or so a day on news programs. It's not enough to get the facts; space is needed to present them on the air and now the men don't have the opportunity." Said Howard K. Smith: "A reporter has to be better today. He hasn't got the trenchcoat glamor any more—but scholarship is necessary." It was quite a hard-bitten honest roundup of expression from some of the most capable newsmen in the business.

Midland Woman Is Jailed For Neglecting Children

A Midland area woman was sentenced to two years in the Maryland Reformatory for Women yesterday in Juvenile Court for neglect of her four children.

The woman, Mrs. Evelyn Preston, was charged after county authorities found deplorable living conditions in the woman's one-room home.

County authorities and court attaches noted the conditions which existed in the dwelling were unbelievable and the true picture could only be seen by pictures, which were submitted as evidence by Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator.

Magistrate Fred H. Anderson noted that the woman, who is divorced, had been in court in January in connection with a similar case. At that time she was given a suspended jail sentence and released in the protective care of the Allegany County Welfare Department.

County Commissioner William A. Wilson, who inspected the home after the case was brought to the attention of Sheriff Paul Haberlein, testified at yesterday's hearing.

Commissioner Wilson said that it was hard to believe that agents of the Welfare Department and public health nurses would allow such conditions to exist in the county.

The first inspection of the home was made last weekend by Sheriff Haberlein and authorities noted at that time the only food in the house was a dozen eggs and a sack of corn meal. At a later inspection two boxes of food had been delivered to the home.

The only heat in the home, which housed four children ranging in age from one to seven, and their mother, was provided by an old-type coal stove. The stove was used for both cooking and heat, but there was no coal available when Sheriff Haberlein and Lilya investigated.

Authorities also noted that garbage had been shoveled four to five feet deep under a stairway in the hall leading to the room.

Authorities also noted that baby bottles were found lying in piles of trash and the children were only half-dressed when they arrived.

Magistrate Anderson said the children will be placed in foster homes.

Magistrate Anderson said following the hearing that he has suggested citizens and agencies knowing of similar cases in the county notify the law enforcement authorities in order that an investigation may be made and a true picture may be presented to the court.

Anderson said it is the civic duty of all residents of the county not to allow such conditions to exist.

The magistrate praised the work of Sheriff Haberlein and Lilya for their investigation and for showing such a clear picture of the conditions to the court.

Execution by burning was not abolished in England until about 1790.

Driver Loses Appeal In Court

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris found James Edward Naill, 40, of the Flintstone area, guilty on two motor law violations yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Naill had appealed a nine-month jail term imposed in Trial Magistrates Court by Magistrate J. Milton Dick on February 16. Judge Harris showed leniency to Naill, but warned him that in the event he was ever caught driving a motor car again he would be sent to jail.

On a reckless driving charge a sentence of 60 days was imposed, with Naill being credited with the time he has been in the county jail since February 16. On the charge of operating a car on a revoked license the court gave Naill a suspended six-month jail term. Naill also received a suspended $100 fine.

Judge Harris remarked that Naill was married and had several children and as is usual in such cases the innocent have to suffer with the guilty. Naill was told that if he violated the no-driving ban he would automatically go to jail for six months.

Naill, who was defended by Edward J. Ryan, local attorney, claimed that he had driven a car to obtain medicine for his wife who had been ill. It was brought out that he has had four convictions for operating a car on a revoked license and five convictions for reckless driving.

The state's case was presented by Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney. State Trooper Kenneth Messmer arrested Naill about a month after the man was involved in a crash. Naill was found hiding in an attic by the trooper.

Trial Date Set In Murder Case

James T. Haney, 68-year-old Western Maryland Railway engineer of near Hagerstown, will go on trial for murder Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. in Washington County Circuit Court, Hagerstown.

Haney has pleaded not guilty to the murder of James R. Cuddy Jr., 41, of Hagerstown, a fellow engineer, on November 15 near the railroad depot in that town.

Both men were known here as for many years they operated trains on the Hagerstown Division between Cumberland and that city.

The operational speeds of fighter planes in 1950 was about 600 miles an hour. In 1959, that figure will increase to about 1,500 miles an hour.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

WASHINGTON—In spite of the unsavory exposure of the past year, James R. Hoffa of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters moves steadily forward in his quest for a coalition with several other transportation unions. The chief counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee has publicly referred to this move as a "planned alliance," many of the leaders of which are "tainted by corruption or gangsterism and a few by Communism." The contemptuous boss of the racket-ridden Teamster Union, who has a penchant for rough tactics rather than persuasive words, seeks to amalgamate, either formally or informally, with the International Longshoremen's Association, the National Maritime Union, and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, which collectively control a major segment of U. S. transportation. These negotiations have always been cloaked by secrecy.

Prominent in this affair is Harry Bridges, ILWU president — a man of checkered history who, at times, has been cited for pro-Communist leanings. In fact, his organization was expelled by the CIO for following the "Communist line." It is pertinent to note, in terms of a consolidation of union activity, that on January 19, 1956, Bridges testified before the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, urging a "common expiration date for all longshore contracts" on the West, East and Gulf Coasts. Obviously, if this objective (which Bridges repeated again in 1958) were achieved, it would make possible a general strike on all coasts.

Mr. Bridges, with surprising candor, told newsmen some time ago that: "There's one thing I know, if the Teamsters and the two dock unions got together they'd represent more economic power than the combined AFL-CIO." And he added: "They are so concentrated, an economic squeeze and pressure can be exerted that puts any employer in a very tough spot — and furthermore puts the United States Government on a tough spot." It is no secret, however, that the Communist Party regards transportation unions and their members as a medium through which "capitalistic" opposition can be economically or militarily strangulated. Mr. Hoffa's proposed confederacy, then, of labor bosses whose backgrounds range from Communist sympathizers, racketeers, and hoodlums to legitimate union leaders of unquestioned scruples who have been duped, is a serious threat to our national security and economy.

Senator McClellan, chairman of the Senate Rackets Committee, has sounded a warning to all Americans in these words: "All of our lives are too intricately interwoven with this union to sit passively by and allow the Teamsters (under Mr. Hoffa's leadership) to create such a superpower in this country — a power greater than the people and greater than the government."

Tyrol Has Its Troubles Too

They think of themselves as Austrians; speak something they fondly imagine to be German; wear, like Bavarians, leather shorts and feather-adorned green velvet hats; at times feel moved to yodel; live in some of the world's most spectacular scenery; furnish some of the world's most redoubtable skiers; and are mad as hornets.

They are the South Tyrol Austrians, and what makes them mad is Italy's alleged denial of the autonomy Italy promised them. In World War I Italy was on the winning side, and recevied not only the South Tyrol area peopled chiefly by Italians but also the area peopled chiefly by Austrians.

Under Mussolini Italy tried ruthlessly to Italianize its Austrian area. Came World War II, Italy's defeat alongside Germany, demand from Austria for South Tyrol, American-British-Soviet rejection of the demand. Thereupon, in 1946, Italy agreed with Vienna to give full autonomy in what is now called Trentino-Alto (Upper) Adige. The agreement was made part of the peace treaty with Italy.

Also, the Austrians there were to get full equality with the Italians. But the Italians around Trent outnumber the Austrians around Bolzano and control the regional assembly. Thus, Vienna recently complained to Rome, the autonomy-equality pledge is violated, also by the use of low-cost housing to lure in new Italian settlers.

Rome replied, in effect: keep your hands off what is our business. Bolzano produces anti-Italian demonstrations, Rome produces anti-Austrian demonstrations. Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl says he'll take the South Tyrol case to some "international organization" if he gets nowhere in discussing it with Italy.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Berlin

The United States, Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia are in Berlin as an act of war because they defeated Hitler and conquered Germany. Germany itself came to be divided into two parts, East Germany and West Germany. East Germany developed into a satellite of Soviet Russia, a part of the Soviet Universal State; West Germany developed into a free country, rich, effective, competitive in world markets with Great Britain and the United States.

No peace treaty has ever been arranged with Germany because there can be no agreement as to which of these two is Germany. Therefore World War II never ended in Europe.

Since the end of World War II as a fighting phase of a continuous war since 1914, various attempts have been made to find a formula for uniting the two Germanys but all such efforts have failed. The fact is that whereas West Germany can speak for itself in the voice of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, the voice for East Germany comes from the Kremlin in Moscow and its owner is Nikita Khrushchev.

Errors were made during World War II at Yalta and Potsdam in the determination of the fate of Germany on the assumption that Soviet Russia was a loyal ally which sought the same kind of a peaceful world that the West sought. The imperialistic characteristics of Soviet Russia were not identified, with the result that today, 14 years later, the question of Berlin and of the unification of Germany is still before us and may lead to World War III.

Two courses are open to the United States:

1. Berlin and West Germany can be abandoned to the imperialistic purpose and strength of Soviet Russia;

2. The United States and its allies can refuse to abandon Berlin and West Germany.

The first course would bring the power of Soviet Russia to the Rhine and France would have to prepare to defend itself from being absorbed in the Soviet Universal State; the second course could lead to a general war involving the United States.

The second course indicates that patience has been exhausted and that the Western world will defend itself; the first course indicates that the West has become obsolescent and gives up under threat.

Eugene Lyons, who is an authority on Russia and a senior editor of "The Reader's Digest," said:

"The real enigma is why we who are earmarked for conquest prefer to kid ourselves that Communism can somehow be bought off, or contained, or induced to commit suicide by suddenly renouncing global conspiracy and world domination. We behave as if this were a conventional disagreement between nations—a question of territory and markets and colonies, as in the past. But it's nothing of the kind. What's involved is the 'permanent revolution' unleashed by Lenin, promoted with increasing zeal and increasing success by all his successors. And we're doomed to defeat as long as we subsist on political tranquilizers."

This view is absolutely correct. It can only be hoped that it is not too late. Soviet Russia seeks the absorption of the continent of Europe in the Soviet Universal State which would give the Soviet Universal State an industrial base unequalled in world history and which would reduce the significance of the United States considerably. In Germany, Soviet Russia would find a hard-working, initiating and imaginative people.

The ultimate target is, of course, the United States which is the principal stumbling block to Soviet Russia's imperialistic ambitions. The Communists have always held that they can defeat the United States without a fighting war. The mechanism for this is for Soviet Russia to use capitalist methods to compete with American manufactures in world markets. In this phase of the Cold War, Soviet Russia is progressing rapidly. One-Man Rule In The United States Senate

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—When Senator William Proxmire of Wisconsin, Democrat, says that the Democrats, with their two-thirds membership in the Senate, are not functioning as a majority that is representative of the people, he is exposing a serious weakness in the American system.

What the Wisconsin Senator criticizes in his second speech of a series is the way policy is determined by the Democratic Party in the Senate. He says:

"The cold fact is that Democratic policy in the Senate is made entirely on an ad lib, off-the-cuff basis. The initiative as well as the final decision is almost always resolved by the majority leader himself on the basis of his own judgment of what is desirable and what is possible.

"This is not to say that the individual Democratic Senator doesn't play a part in determining policy. His individual vote and whatever influence he may have that goes beyond his individual vote is a factor in the majority leader's calculus. But it is the majority leader who does the computing of the possible. And the critical point is that he does it without the overall conscious guidance of Senate Democrats either in caucus or in policy committee. It is my position that this is an unnecessary delegation of responsibility by Democratic Senators. In the vast majority of democratic legislative bodies throughout this country and the world, no such delegation is found necessary for action."

What Mr. Proxmire is describing, in euphemistic and gently spoken pharses, is a system of one-man rule which hardly squares with the word "democratic." The job of a majority leader is indeed concerned with reconciling conflicting views so as to arrive at a consensus. But this is a far different matter from the delegation to one man of the power to assign members to committees and to bestow other favors with respect to the taking up of particular bills in which a Senator may be deeply interested.

Many a Senator finds that his re-election may depend on whether he gets through the Senate certain legislation that benefits his state. If the majority leader doesn't look with favor on a Senator who bucks the views of that leader on other subjects, the end result might be blocking the bill and ultimate defeat for the Senator who stood up for his convictions.

It was never intended by the founding fathers that the two Senators who represent a sovereign state would be subject to the rule of a single Senator from some other state on whether a particular piece of legislation shall be pushed to passage or left to wither on the vine.

Rebellions against one-man rule in both Houses of Congress have made the front pages in past history. The revolt against Speaker Joe Cannon, Republican, in the House of Representatives in 1910 was hailed as an expression of progressive spirit. It led to an overwhelming defeat of the Republican Party in that year's election — their first loss of Congress in 16 years.

The American people have again and again disapproved of one-man rule in political organizations, whether it be outside or inside Congress.

Today it is evident that few members of the Senate dare to criticize the leader. They prefer to acquiesce in a code of expediency lest they lose favor with the man in control. Yet, privately, many Senators do concede that some bills are kept buried in committee or delayed till the final days of a session when they can be rushed through or defeated, as the case may be, without much debate.

The drift seems to be toward the totalitarian approach. Bossism is applauded nowadays as merely skillful or masterly "leadership." This session of the Senate, moreover, has seen a trend toward the curtailment of debate and a tendency to allow one man to run the majority party. Any member can, of course, make whatever speech he desires for the record, but his influence within his own party with respect to getting action on particular pieces of legislation depends to no small extent on how he stands with the majority leader.

Election of United States Senators by popular vote—instead of by state legislatures, so as to overcome "boss rule" in those legislatures—was proclaimed as in line with the democratic process when the Seventeenth Amendment was adopted in 1913. Yet few people who favored this Amendment ever thought that one-man rule in the Senate could nullify the wishes of a whole state and block consideration of measures submitted by one state to the other states for approval or disapproval.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

Selection of Los Angeles as the site and July 11, 1960, as the date for the Democratic National Convention has politicians buzzing.

Some believe that the choice of cities was dictated by a Democratic belief that Richard M. Nixon will be the GOP choice for the Presidency two years hence. On this premise, they contend, the Democratic convention in Nixon's home state of California is aimed at keeping it in the Donkey party column.

The date, too, is intriguing. It is more than a month earlier than the 1956 convention date, and obviously was picked because the Democrats want a longer campaign season in their fight to capture the White House from the Republicans.

There are reports in Washington that President Eisenhower and his advisors have set April 1 for decision day on whether or not to name a successor to ailing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The date was not picked capriciously; rather it was arrived at by consideration of overriding medical and foreign policy factors.

By that date, informants point out, Dulles' response to the deep X-ray treatment he is undergoing for glandular cancer will be known and a prognosis determined.

Also, by that date, the position of Russia and the Western powers will have been pretty well determined on the Berlin crisis. It must be recalled that Russia has set a deadline of May 27 for the Western action withdrawing from West Berlin.

Mr. Eisenhower and his top aides reason that the two months from April 1 to May 27 is as short a time as they can gamble on a new Secretary of State to familiarize himself with this and other vital diplomatic problems.

Thus, if the outlook on April 1 is gloomy for Dulles resuming active leadership of the State Department, an announcement of his successor can be expected.

Patchy Baldness: The Hair Will Come Back

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Little can be done to correct hereditary baldness because it represents a hair pattern that is passed from one generation to another. It begins early in life and the transition is so slow it is barely noticeable until marked changes occur. Treatment of scalps predestined for nudeness is a waste of time and money.

Spotted baldness, or sudden loss of hair (alopecia areata), is a different situation. There are remedies galore, depending upon the cause. This type of hair loss often is advertised by scalp specialists in magazines and newspapers, with spectacular before and after pictures.

Alopecia areata is one of the most objectionable types of baldness and is looked upon by its victims as a major catastrophe because of its cosmetic effect. The hair falls out suddenly, leaving one or more oval or irregular-shaped patches of baldness. It may be preceded by feelings of tightness or tenderness of the scalp.

The involved area is as clear as a billiard ball except for a few stubby, easily pulled out, broken off hairs. These stumps have been referred to as exclamation point hairs.

The best remedies are lotions that irritate the scalp and stimulate the follicles to produce hair. Thyroid extract bolsters the glandular system; sedatives and tonics help build up generalized resistance. But the results of treatment are difficult to evaluate because the thatch returns spontaneously within three months to a year.

The use of cortisone is an exception: hair starts to regrow during the fourth month of therapy. Best results are obtained when the dosage is adequate and treatment is continued over a long period of time to prevent a relapse.

TOMORROW: Reading distance for glasses.

LEFTOVER INFECTION

W. L. writes: I've had post-nasal drip since I caught cold more than two months ago. How long does this condition last?

REPLY

So long as the residual infection in the nose or sinuses continues. In your case, the situation has gone long enough to warrant a thorough examination of the parts. Meanwhile, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on post-nasal drip.

TOO MUCH MUSTARD?

W. S. writes: Is it harmful for a child to pile mustard on her sandwiches and eat a lot of dill pickles with them?

REPLY

Not if her stomach can take it and she obtains a varied diet that includes the seven basic foods at regular meal times.

SPREADING INFECTION

P. J. writes: Can flu attack the ears?

REPLY

Yes, in that streptococci or staphylococci often complicate viral infection as secondary invaders. When these microorganisms spread from the nose and throat to the ears, bacteria must be blamed for the ear involvement rather than the flu.

INFECTION, ARTHRITIS

J. H. writes: Is rheumatoid arthritis due to infection?

REPLY

The cause of rheumatoid arthritis is not known but many physicians believe that pain, swelling, and stiffness of the joints is a reaction to bacterial infection.

MEDICINE, NOT SURGERY

Mrs. B. writes: My husband had a physical checkup and the only thing found was blood and pus in the urine. Does this mean an operation?

REPLY

No. These findings usually suggest inflammation in the bladder, kidneys, or prostate. Such conditions can be corrected as a rule with medication.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Eloise returned presently beaming with pleasure. "The knife came out so clean," she reported, "that I stuck in all the other dirty knives too."

Senators Have Chance To Examine Ike Record On Conflict Of Interest

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There have been some eight conflict-of-interest cases unearthed in the Eisenhower administration, ranging all the way from Harold Talbott who was forced to resign as Secretary of the Air Force, to Sherman Adams who was forced to resign over the favors he did for his friend, Bernard Goldfine. In every case, the official involved has been kicked out of government, but in only one case, that of FCC Commissioner Richard Mack, a Democrat, has he been prosecuted.

In only one case, furthermore, has a man even indirectly connected with a conflict of interest been promoted — Adm. Lewis Strauss, Republican, to be Secretary of Commerce.

Yet a criminal statute, Title 18, U. S. Code, provides criminal punishment for all violators, not just Democrats.

So far, Congress, predominantly Democrat, has not had any real opportunity to examine Justice Department failure to prosecute Republican conflicts of interest. But last week two things happened which have already started investigative wheels rolling.

No. 1 was refusal to permit a new trial to two Democrats, Lamar Caudle, former Assistant Attorney General, and Matt Connelly, former secretary to Harry Truman, for alleged violation of the conflict-of-interest statute, even though important new evidence had turned up and even though the Justice Department had stated in court that Caudle had received no material compensation for his alleged failure to prosecute a St. Louis tax evader. Connelly did get two suits and an overcoat. The evader, Irving Sachs, had pleaded guilty and was convicted.

No. 2 was refusal by the same Justice Department to do anything about the same criminal statute regarding a conflict of interest involving $229,000,000—considerably more valuable than an overcoat and two suits of clothes.

Two Brands Of Justice

This case involved, not two ex-Truman Democrats, now penniless from the cost of being dragged through the courts for six years, but two investment banker Republicans, one the present Secretary of Commerce who built up a fortune with the Wall Street firm of Kuhn, Loeb; the other Adolphe Wenzell, with the Wall Street firm, the First Boston Company.

A letter written by efficient, politically minded Attorney General Bill Rogers raised Senate hackles regarding these two brands of justice, one for Democrats, one for Republicans, and brought an immediate study of the records.

Those records are complicated but important.

"It's a lot easier for the public to understand two suits of clothes and an overcoat given to a Democrat," remarked Sen. Estes Kefauver, "or a front porch rented by a Democratic Congressman, than it is to understand a $229,000,000 utility contract negotiated in secrecy by Republicans. But the latter costs the taxpayer a lot more than a front porch—even if he doesn't understand it."

Kefauver was referring to the Dixon-Yates conflict-of-interest case, the biggest and most important in the entire history of the United States, in which banker Wenzell was caught planted inside the Budget Bureau conferring with Admiral Strauss at night regarding the big electric power plant to block the Tennessee Valley Authority and simultaneously bring a big profit to Wenzell's First Boston.

Kefauver drew from Attorney General Rogers an admission that "no investigation" of Admiral Strauss was pending. If Kefauver had gone further he would have also found that no investigation of Wenzell was pending. Yet the Justice Department had stated in court that the Dixon-Yates contract "is in violation of the statutes and laws of the United States and is unlawful, null and void . . . for the following reasons:"

The Justice Department then cites the long record exposed after months of difficult investigation by Senators Kefauver, Lister Hill of Alabama, Tom Hennings of Missouri, and Bill Langer of North Dakota.

Let's Look At The Record

That record, sworn to under oath, spells out in detail the efforts of the Budget Bureau and Admiral Strauss to to cover up this banker-utility deal inside the government. I shows:

1. That Admiral Strauss withheld knowledge of the Dixon-Yates deal from his fellow AEC commissioners until Commissioner Tom Murray found out about it from a newspaperman, Marshall McNeil, and objected.

"I am a member of the Atomic Energy Commission with full authority," Murray told Strauss bitterly. "You as chairman of this commission took it upon yourself to start even considering changing the power of contracts . . . with the TVA without consulting your associates."

2. That a majority of the Atomic Energy Commission voted against the Dixon-Yates contract, but that Chairman Strauss, ignoring majority rule, went over their heads with the contract anyway.

3. That Strauss and the Budget Bureau discouraged and in the end rebuffed a lower bid for the same power plant, submitted by Walter Von Treschow of the Hanover National Bank. They appeared determined to deal only with the First Boston Company and its representative planted inside the Budget Bureau.

This is just part of the painstaking, important record which the Attorney General either has not read or chooses to ignore. More of the record in an early column.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Courage is a good word. It has a ring. It is a substance that other people, who have none, urge you to have when all is lost. To have courage, one must first be afraid. The deeper the fear, the more difficult the climb toward courage. Does the bravery of a tiny girl, facing her first Salk vaccine shot, match that of Lt. Gen. Lewis Puller, who won five Navy Crosses?

I think so.

In World War I, General John J. Pershing found a small vacant spot on the blouse of Sergeant Alvin York, most decorated man in the Army, and pinned a final medal on it. At lunch later, he said that he didn't think that York was the bravest man in the war. This shocked some of the officers who sat around him.

"The sergeant has done some wonderful things in this campaign," he said. "But I'm convinced that this man is afraid of nothing. His bravery comes without thinking. The truly bravest man will never be found, I'm afraid. He's a buck private whose stomach and bowels are knotted with fear as he stands in a wet trench listening to the lieutenant count off the final seconds before the attack.

"When the officer says: 'Okay, men. Let's go!' this enlisted man is certain that he will be killed in the next minute, but he drags his feet up the ladder and goes over the top with the others. He has enormous courage, whether he lives or dies."

A new book on courage will be published in a month or so. It is called "It Takes Heart." It limits itself to the great courage of well-known sports figures. As such it is good, and the authors, Mel Allen and Frank Graham Jr., are to be congratulated for fine research and compelling story telling.

The authors tell of Jockey DeSpirito, whose heart was bigger than some of the horses he rode. He was 16 years old in 1952. As an apprentice, he broke all records by riding 390 winners. Three years later he was on his back in the middle of Aqueduct with a broken jaw and lacerated brain.

DeSpirito was in the hospital a long time. Everybody said: "Give it up." He got back on the track, rode winners, got caught in a jam and fell off a horse. He was unconscious for days. A broken rib pierced one kidney. They said he would die.

In a year, he was back riding. "You can't hesitate or you'll be in trouble," he said. You can't hesitate. That's the key to courage.

Miss Jackie Pung had an unladylike substance called guts. She was a golfer. Her mind was beset by fears. They mounted and mounted until they were beyond control. She battled them, and the top golfers to win the Women's National Open in 1957.

She needed the $1,800 in prize money. Her faith in herself was low. After she won, the officials told her that her partner had made a slight error in computing Miss Pung's score. They deprived her of the championship and the money.

Miss Pung's friends waited for the complete breakdown. It never came. In adversity, she clamped her teeth together and determined to fight. Fans from all over the country read about her courage and sent nickels and dimes and dollars. Total: $3,400, almost double the first prize money.

"If you want to see a great fighter at his best," Frank Graham Jr. writes, "watch him when he's getting licked." That's true. I saw the gallant Joe Louis, aging and balding, try to defend himself against the clublike arms of Rocky Marciano.

Louis went down. He came up slowly. He went down again. He went spinning through the ropes and onto the apron of the ring. He had never extended mercy. Now he didn't ask for any. There was an easy way, but he wouldn't take it. Neither would Ray Robinson when he found Randy Turpin in 1951. He, too, was bloody and beaten. Robinson called upon a final ounce of strength in the 11th round and beat Turpin to a pulp.

I am not a political admirer of John Foster Dulles. Still, I think he has more courage than any of these. He wants only to finish his work before he rings down the curtain. . .

Tyrol Has Its Troubles Too

They think of themselves as Austrians; speak something they fondly imagine to be German; wear, like Bavarians, leather shorts and feather-adorned green velvet hats; at times feel moved to yodel; live in some of the world's most spectacular scenery; furnish some of the world's most redoubtable skiers; and are mad as hornets.

They are the South Tyrol Austrians, and what makes them mad is Italy's alleged denial of the autonomy Italy promised them. In World War I Italy was on the winning side, and recevied not only the South Tyrol area peopled chiefly by Italians but also the area peopled chiefly by Austrians.

Under Mussolini Italy tried ruthlessly to Italianize its Austrian area. Came World War II, Italy's defeat alongside Germany, demand from Austria for South Tyrol, American-British-Soviet rejection of the demand. Thereupon, in 1946, Italy agreed with Vienna to give full autonomy in what is now called Trentino-Alto (Upper) Adige. The agreement was made part of the peace treaty with Italy.

Also, the Austrians there were to get full equality with the Italians. But the Italians around Trent outnumber the Austrians around Bolzano and control the regional assembly. Thus, Vienna recently complained to Rome, the autonomy-equality pledge is violated, also by the use of low-cost housing to lure in new Italian settlers.

Rome replied, in effect: keep your hands off what is our business. Bolzano produces anti-Italian demonstrations, Rome produces anti-Austrian demonstrations. Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl says he'll take the South Tyrol case to some "international organization" if he gets nowhere in discussing it with Italy.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Berlin

The United States, Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia are in Berlin as an act of war because they defeated Hitler and conquered Germany. Germany itself came to be divided into two parts, East Germany and West Germany. East Germany developed into a satellite of Soviet Russia, a part of the Soviet Universal State; West Germany developed into a free country, rich, effective, competitive in world markets with Great Britain and the United States.

No peace treaty has ever been arranged with Germany because there can be no agreement as to which of these two is Germany. Therefore World War II never ended in Europe.

Since the end of World War II as a fighting phase of a continuous war since 1914, various attempts have been made to find a formula for uniting the two Germanys but all such efforts have failed. The fact is that whereas West Germany can speak for itself in the voice of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, the voice for East Germany comes from the Kremlin in Moscow and its owner is Nikita Khrushchev.

Errors were made during World War II at Yalta and Potsdam in the determination of the fate of Germany on the assumption that Soviet Russia was a loyal ally which sought the same kind of a peaceful world that the West sought. The imperialistic characteristics of Soviet Russia were not identified, with the result that today, 14 years later, the question of Berlin and of the unification of Germany is still before us and may lead to World War III.

Two courses are open to the United States:

1. Berlin and West Germany can be abandoned to the imperialistic purpose and strength of Soviet Russia;

2. The United States and its allies can refuse to abandon Berlin and West Germany.

The first course would bring the power of Soviet Russia to the Rhine and France would have to prepare to defend itself from being absorbed in the Soviet Universal State; the second course could lead to a general war involving the United States.

The second course indicates that patience has been exhausted and that the Western world will defend itself; the first course indicates that the West has become obsolescent and gives up under threat.

Eugene Lyons, who is an authority on Russia and a senior editor of "The Reader's Digest," said:

"The real enigma is why we who are earmarked for conquest prefer to kid ourselves that Communism can somehow be bought off, or contained, or induced to commit suicide by suddenly renouncing global conspiracy and world domination. We behave as if this were a conventional disagreement between nations—a question of territory and markets and colonies, as in the past. But it's nothing of the kind. What's involved is the 'permanent revolution' unleashed by Lenin, promoted with increasing zeal and increasing success by all his successors. And we're doomed to defeat as long as we subsist on political tranquilizers."

This view is absolutely correct. It can only be hoped that it is not too late. Soviet Russia seeks the absorption of the continent of Europe in the Soviet Universal State which would give the Soviet Universal State an industrial base unequalled in world history and which would reduce the significance of the United States considerably. In Germany, Soviet Russia would find a hard-working, initiating and imaginative people.

The ultimate target is, of course, the United States which is the principal stumbling block to Soviet Russia's imperialistic ambitions. The Communists have always held that they can defeat the United States without a fighting war. The mechanism for this is for Soviet Russia to use capitalist methods to compete with American manufactures in world markets. In this phase of the Cold War, Soviet Russia is progressing rapidly. Secondly, Soviet Russia employs the psychological phases of the Cold War to raise our budgets, to stimulate inflationary measures in this country and a flight of nervous capital to Switzerland and other tax and money havens.

Khrushchev may retreat from his threats over Berlin but that will be of no significance. He will try in Iran; he will try in Cuba or Venezuela or Bolivia; he will try in Indonesia. Should Khrushchev fall or die, the same program will be followed. It is a program of world conquest, devised by Lenin on the basis of Marxism and is rigidly fixed in the minds and hearts of Communists everywhere.

One-Man Rule In The United States Senate

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—When Senator William Proxmire of Wisconsin, Democrat, says that the Democrats, with their two-thirds membership in the Senate, are not functioning as a majority that is representative of the people, he is exposing a serious weakness in the American system.

What the Wisconsin Senator criticizes in his second speech of a series is the way policy is determined by the Democratic Party in the Senate. He says:

"The cold fact is that Democratic policy in the Senate is made entirely on an ad lib, off-the-cuff basis. The initiative as well as the final decision is almost always resolved by the majority leader himself on the basis of his own judgment of what is desirable and what is possible.

"This is not to say that the individual Democratic Senator doesn't play a part in determining policy. His individual vote and whatever influence he may have that goes beyond his individual vote is a factor in the majority leader's calculus. But it is the majority leader who does the computing of the possible. And the critical point is that he does it without the overall conscious guidance of Senate Democrats either in caucus or in policy committee. It is my position that this is an unnecessary delegation of responsibility by Democratic Senators. In the vast majority of democratic legislative bodies throughout this country and the world, no such delegation is found necessary for action."

What Mr. Proxmire is describing, in euphemistic and gently spoken pharses, is a system of one-man rule which hardly squares with the word "democratic." The job of a majority leader is indeed concerned with reconciling conflicting views so as to arrive at a consensus. But this is a far different matter from the delegation to one man of the power to assign members to committees and to bestow other favors with respect to the taking up of particular bills in which a Senator may be deeply interested.

Many a Senator finds that his re-election may depend on whether he gets through the Senate certain legislation that benefits his state. If the majority leader doesn't look with favor on a Senator who bucks the views of that leader on other subjects, the end result might be blocking the bill and ultimate defeat for the Senator who stood up for his convictions.

It was never intended by the founding fathers that the two Senators who represent a sovereign state would be subject to the rule of a single Senator from some other state on whether a particular piece of legislation shall be pushed to passage or left to wither on the vine.

Rebellions against one-man rule in both Houses of Congress have made the front pages in past history. The revolt against Speaker Joe Cannon, Republican, in the House of Representatives in 1910 was hailed as an expression of progressive spirit. It led to an overwhelming defeat of the Republican Party in that year's election — their first loss of Congress in 16 years.

The American people have again and again disapproved of one-man rule in political organizations, whether it be outside or inside Congress.

Today it is evident that few members of the Senate dare to criticize the leader. They prefer to acquiesce in a code of expediency lest they lose favor with the man in control. Yet, privately, many Senators do concede that some bills are kept buried in committee or delayed till the final days of a session when they can be rushed through or defeated, as the case may be, without much debate.

The drift seems to be toward the totalitarian approach. Bossism is applauded nowadays as merely skillful or masterly "leadership." This session of the Senate, moreover, has seen a trend toward the curtailment of debate and a tendency to allow one man to run the majority party. Any member can, of course, make whatever speech he desires for the record, but his influence within his own party with respect to getting action on particular pieces of legislation depends to no small extent on how he stands with the majority leader.

Election of United States Senators by popular vote—instead of by state legislatures, so as to overcome "boss rule" in those legislatures—was proclaimed as in line with the democratic process when the Seventeenth Amendment was adopted in 1913. Yet few people who favored this Amendment ever thought that one-man rule in the Senate could nullify the wishes of a whole state and block consideration of measures submitted by one state to the other states for approval or disapproval.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

Selection of Los Angeles as the site and July 11, 1960, as the date for the Democratic National Convention has politicians buzzing.

Some believe that the choice of cities was dictated by a Democratic belief that Richard M. Nixon will be the GOP choice for the Presidency two years hence. On this premise, they contend, the Democratic convention in Nixon's home state of California is aimed at keeping it in the Donkey party column.

The date, too, is intriguing. It is more than a month earlier than the 1956 convention date, and obviously was picked because the Democrats want a longer campaign season in their fight to capture the White House from the Republicans.

There are reports in Washington that President Eisenhower and his advisors have set April 1 for decision day on whether or not to name a successor to ailing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The date was not picked capriciously; rather it was arrived at by consideration of overriding medical and foreign policy factors.

By that date, informants point out, Dulles' response to the deep X-ray treatment he is undergoing for glandular cancer will be known and a prognosis determined.

Also, by that date, the position of Russia and the Western powers will have been pretty well determined on the Berlin crisis. It must be recalled that Russia has set a deadline of May 27 for the Western action withdrawing from West Berlin.

Mr. Eisenhower and his top aides reason that the two months from April 1 to May 27 is as short a time as they can gamble on a new Secretary of State to familiarize himself with this and other vital diplomatic problems.

Thus, if the outlook on April 1 is gloomy for Dulles resuming active leadership of the State Department, an announcement of his successor can be expected.

Courage is a good word. It has a ring. It is a substance that other people, who have none, urge you to have when all is lost. To have courage, one must first be afraid. The deeper the fear, the more difficult the climb toward courage. Does the bravery of a tiny girl, facing her first Salk vaccine shot, match that of Lt. Gen. Lewis Puller, who won five Navy Crosses?

I think so.

In World War I, General John J. Pershing found a small vacant spot on the blouse of Sergeant Alvin York, most decorated man in the Army, and pinned a final medal on it. At lunch later, he said that he didn't think that York was the bravest man in the war. This shocked some of the officers who sat around him.

"The sergeant has done some wonderful things in this campaign," he said. "But I'm convinced that this man is afraid of nothing. His bravery comes without thinking. The truly bravest man will never be found, I'm afraid. He's a buck private whose stomach and bowels are knotted with fear as he stands in a wet trench listening to the lieutenant count off the final seconds before the attack.

"When the officer says: 'Okay, men. Let's go!' this enlisted man is certain that he will be killed in the next minute, but he drags his feet up the ladder and goes over the top with the others. He has enormous courage, whether he lives or dies."

A new book on courage will be published in a month or so. It is called "It Takes Heart." It limits itself to the great courage of well-known sports figures. As such it is good, and the authors, Mel Allen and Frank Graham Jr., are to be congratulated for fine research and compelling story telling.

The authors tell of Jockey DeSpirito, whose heart was bigger than some of the horses he rode. He was 16 years old in 1952. As an apprentice, he broke all records by riding 390 winners. Three years later he was on his back in the middle of Aqueduct with a broken jaw and lacerated brain.

DeSpirito was in the hospital a long time. Everybody said: "Give it up." He got back on the track, rode winners, got caught in a jam and fell off a horse. He was unconscious for days. A broken rib pierced one kidney. They said he would die.

In a year, he was back riding. "You can't hesitate or you'll be in trouble," he said. You can't hesitate. That's the key to courage.

Miss Jackie Pung had an unladylike substance called guts. She was a golfer. Her mind was beset by fears. They mounted and mounted until they were beyond control. She battled them, and the top golfers to win the Women's National Open in 1957.

She needed the $1,800 in prize money. Her faith in herself was low. After she won, the officials told her that her partner had made a slight error in computing Miss Pung's score. They deprived her of the championship and the money.

Miss Pung's friends waited for the complete breakdown. It never came. In adversity, she clamped her teeth together and determined to fight. Fans from all over the country read about her courage and sent nickels and dimes and dollars. Total: $3,400, almost double the first prize money.

"If you want to see a great fighter at his best," Frank Graham Jr. writes, "watch him when he's getting licked." That's true. I saw the gallant Joe Louis, aging and balding, try to defend himself against the clublike arms of Rocky Marciano.

Louis went down. He came up slowly. He went down again. He went spinning through the ropes and onto the apron of the ring. He had never extended mercy. Now he didn't ask for any. There was an easy way, but he wouldn't take it. Neither would Ray Robinson when he found Randy Turpin in 1951. He, too, was bloody and beaten. Robinson called upon a final ounce of strength in the 11th round and beat Turpin to a pulp.

I am not a political admirer of John Foster Dulles. Still, I think he has more courage than any of these. He wants only to finish his work before he rings down the curtain. . .

Patchy Baldness: The Hair Will Come Back

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Little can be done to correct hereditary baldness because it represents a hair pattern that is passed from one generation to another. It begins early in life and the transition is so slow it is barely noticeable until marked changes occur. Treatment of scalps predestined for nudeness is a waste of time and money.

Spotted baldness, or sudden loss of hair (alopecia areata), is a different situation. There are remedies galore, depending upon the cause. This type of hair loss often is advertised by scalp specialists in magazines and newspapers, with spectacular before and after pictures.

Alopecia areata is one of the most objectionable types of baldness and is looked upon by its victims as a major catastrophe because of its cosmetic effect. The hair falls out suddenly, leaving one or more oval or irregular-shaped patches of baldness. It may be preceded by feelings of tightness or tenderness of the scalp.

The involved area is as clear as a billiard ball except for a few stubby, easily pulled out, broken off hairs. These stumps have been referred to as exclamation point hairs.

The best remedies are lotions that irritate the scalp and stimulate the follicles to produce hair. Thyroid extract bolsters the glandular system; sedatives and tonics help build up generalized resistance. But the results of treatment are difficult to evaluate because the thatch returns spontaneously within three months to a year.

The use of cortisone is an exception: hair starts to regrow during the fourth month of therapy. Best results are obtained when the dosage is adequate and treatment is continued over a long period of time to prevent a relapse.

LEFTOVER INFECTION

W. L. writes: I've had post-nasal drip since I caught cold more than two months ago. How long does this condition last?

REPLY

So long as the residual infection in the nose or sinuses continues. In your case, the situation has gone long enough to warrant a thorough examination of the parts. Meanwhile, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on post-nasal drip.

TOO MUCH MUSTARD?

W. S. writes: Is it harmful for a child to pile mustard on her sandwiches and eat a lot of dill pickles with them?

REPLY

Not if her stomach can take it and she obtains a varied diet that includes the seven basic foods at regular meal times.

SPREADING INFECTION

P. J. writes: Can flu attack the ears?

REPLY

Yes, in that streptococci or staphylococci often complicate viral infection as secondary invaders. When these microorganisms spread from the nose and throat to the ears, bacteria must be blamed for the ear involvement rather than the flu.

INFECTION, ARTHRITIS

J. H. writes: Is rheumatoid arthritis due to infection?

REPLY

The cause of rheumatoid arthritis is not known but many physicians believe that pain, swelling, and stiffness of the joints is a reaction to bacterial infection.

MEDICINE, NOT SURGERY

Mrs. B. writes: My husband had a physical checkup and the only thing found was blood and pus in the urine. Does this mean an operation?

REPLY

No. These findings usually suggest inflammation in the bladder, kidneys, or prostate. Such conditions can be corrected as a rule with medication.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Helen Palmer tells of a new maid in Denver who watched in awe while her competent mistress baked a cake. "Eloise," instructed the mistress, "open the oven door now and see if that peach cake is baked. Stick a knife in it and see if it comes out clean."

Eloise returned presently beaming with pleasure. "The knife came out so clean," she reported, "that I stuck in all the other dirty knives too."

Slumber Party Crew Likes Sausage Whirls

Parents of any teen-age daughters have undoubtedly enjoyed the fun of having their home used for a slumber party.

Late evening snacks and breakfast are all part of such a function. Probably the teen-age gals will care for their own evening snack needs but it is undoubtedly appreciated by all concerned for Mom to have breakfast . . . ready and waiting.

Sausage Whirls

1 pound pork sausage links
2 tablespoons water
Pancakes (approx. 3¼ inches diameter)

Honey-Orange Sauce

2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate
½ cup honey

Slumber Party Crew Likes Sausage Whirls

Parents of any teen-age daughters have undoubtedly enjoyed the fun of having their home used for a slumber party.

Late evening snacks and breakfast are all part of such a function. Probably the teen-age gals will care for their own evening snack needs but it is undoubtedly appreciated by all concerned for Mom to have breakfast . . . ready and waiting.

Sausage Whirls

1 pound pork sausage links
2 tablespoons water
Pancakes (approx. 3¼ inches diameter)

Honey-Orange Sauce

2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate
½ cup honey

New Park At Deep Creek Lake To Be Open To Public This Summer

Deep Creek Lake Park will be opened to the public this summer, William A. Johnson, district forester, said yesterday, climaxing three years of work.

The opening of the expansive area on the Meadow Mountain side of the lake is contingent on the completion of the road to the bath house and its parking area, and the finishing of the road to the camping area.

Johnson said both of these projects are under contract and their completion depends on the type of weather during the spring road building season.

The bath house has been finished with the exception of minor plumbing installations and the road to it is in the final stages. The area around the bath house still has to be landscaped.

Two parking areas in the picnic section have been finished, and several hundred picnic tables have been placed through the shady, lakeside groves. Numerous fire places have been constructed for cooking.

The water system is well on its way, Johnson said. The reservoir is nearing completion and drinking water will be piped to all areas of the big park.

Under construction is a wash house for the camping area. Ready for use is the comfort station to serve the picnic area.

When all the projects that have not been finished are completed, the state park will have adequate facilities.

The State Department of Forests and Parks, still does not know the appropriation the General Assembly will grant the Deep Creek park.

'Maryland Baptist' Opposes Garrett Bill

House Bill 520, sponsored by Del. Elbert E. Buckel of Garrett County, is cited in an editorial in the March 15 issue of the Maryland Baptist.

It says bills have been or are expected to be introduced in the General Assembly to provide bus transportation for parochial school students at taxpayers' expense in Garrett and Ann Arundel counties.

"In Garrett," the editorial states, "the parochial school partisans are only trying to get the camel's nose in the tent this year. House Bill 520, already introduced, seeks only to get non-public school pupils to riding the buses on existing routes," a concession won in 10 counties including Ann Arundel.

No-Cook Dressing For Molded Salads

Bologna?

It's a fact that about 17 per cent of all the cold meats we eat is bologna. It is made in a similar manner to the frankfurter and contains both beef and pork. Often, bologna is considered one of the most popular luncheon meats.

Cheese And Fish Make A Fine Dish

Cheese and fish make a truly fine dish. This combination is hard to beat for flavor and nutrition. It has one added feature: It is not too hard on the budget.

Cheese is favored by today's fast-moving gourmets who do not have the time for the long-cookery methods of yesteryear. An important reason: It's one of our finest ready-to-serve foods.

Our modern technological methods have assisted nature by bringing to the American consumer many processed cheeses. One of the most versatile of these is process cheese food. It melts easily and quickly, and blends readily with other ingredients to make a smooth cheese sauce reminiscent of those made in the French provinces long ago.

This recipe for fish in cheese sauce can be made in a jiffy. If time is really of the essence, just arrange fish fillets in a baking dish, sprinkle with a bit of chopped onion, green pepper and pimento, pour the sauce over all and bake about 30 minutes. During the baking time prepare the salad and dessert.

For company fare, roll the fish fillets jelly-roll fashion and arrange in a bake-and-serve type dish. Bring the dish to the table and place over a warmer. All will find hearty satisfaction down to the very last spoonful of this delicious concoction. Here is the easy to do recipe:

Saucy Fish Main Dish

(Makes eight servings)

- 2 (12-ounce) packages frozen halibut steaks or fillets, defrosted
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 3½ cups Cheese Sauce (recipe below)

Sprinkle chopped vegetables over fish fillets and roll jelly-roll fashion. Place in buttered baking dish. OR — Arrange fish in buttered baking dish and sprinkle chopped vegetables over fish. Pour cheese sauce over fish. Bake in a moderate oven 30 to 35 minutes, or until fish is tender and sauce bubbles. If desired, garnish with parsley.

INGREDIENTS, YIELD: 1¾ Cups: 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, dash pepper, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ pound, shredded, process cheese food, (¼-two pound pkg.).

INGREDIENTS, YIELD: 3½ Cups: 2 cups milk, ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 pound, shredded, process cheese food (½-two pound pkg.).

Pour milk into top of double boiler; sprinkle flour, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce over surface of milk; beat with rotary beater until combined. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Add cheese; continue cooking sauce, stirring occasionally, until cheese melts and sauce is well blended.

Wife Preservers

Your heart won't break when you run stockings if you put them to good use as stuffing for toy animals or TV pillows, or for braided rugs.

A footstool is a useful and versatile investment for a crowded room. It can be used as a chair, a magazine rack or a table as well as for its original purpose.

Peanut butter broiled frosting—Combine ⅔ cup brown sugar with 4 tablespoons softened butter, 4 tablespoons cream and 4 tablespoons peanut butter; stir in 1 cup chopped peanuts. Spread on cold cake, place under broiler until topping bubbles and browns.

CLABBER GIRL BAKING POWDER

No-Cook Dressing For Molded Salads

Serve this elegant dressing on any of the molded fruit salads you prepare for your holiday meals.

Combine a cup of dairy sour cream with 2 tablespoons of fruit sirup drained from the canned fruit you use in the salad. A dash of salt and dash of confectioners' sugar will season it nicely.

Butter Softens Crust

To achieve a tender, soft, golden brown crust on your homemade bread, brush the loaves with soft butter immediately after baking.

Bologna?

It's a fact that about 17 per cent of all the cold meats we eat is bologna. It is made in a similar manner to the frankfurter and contains both beef and pork. Often, bologna is considered one of the most popular luncheon meats.

Cheese And Fish Make A Fine Dish

Cheese and fish make a truly fine dish. This combination is hard to beat for flavor and nutrition. It has one added feature: It is not too hard on the budget.

Cheese is favored by today's fast-moving gourmets who do not have the time for the long-cookery methods of yesteryear. An important reason: It's one of our finest ready-to-serve foods.

Our modern technological methods have assisted nature by bringing to the American consumer many processed cheeses. One of the most versatile of these is process cheese food. It melts easily and quickly, and blends readily with other ingredients to make a smooth cheese sauce reminiscent of those made in the French provinces long ago.

This recipe for fish in cheese sauce can be made in a jiffy. If time is really of the essence, just arrange fish fillets in a baking dish, sprinkle with a bit of chopped onion, green pepper and pimento, pour the sauce over all and bake about 30 minutes. During the baking time prepare the salad and dessert.

For company fare, roll the fish fillets jelly-roll fashion and arrange in a bake-and-serve type dish. Bring the dish to the table and place over a warmer. All will find hearty satisfaction down to the very last spoonful of this delicious concoction. Here is the easy to do recipe:

Saucy Fish Main Dish

(Makes eight servings)

- 2 (12-ounce) packages frozen halibut steaks or fillets, defrosted
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 3½ cups Cheese Sauce)recipe below)

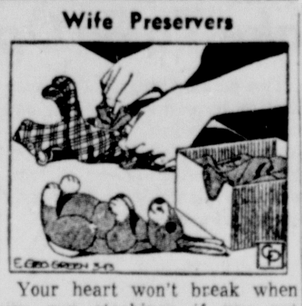
Sprinkle chopped vegetables over fish fillets and roll jelly-roll fashion. Place in buttered baking dish. OR — Arrange fish in buttered baking dish and sprinkle chopped vegetables over fish. Pour cheese sauce over fish. Bake in a moderate oven 30 to 35 minutes, or until fish is tender and sauce, bubbles. If desired, garnish with parsley.

INGREDIENTS, YIELD: 1¾ Cups: 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, dash pepper, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ pound, shredded, process cheese food, (¼-two pound pkg.).

INGREDIENTS, YIELD: 3½ Cups: 2 cups milk, ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 pound, shredded, process cheese food (½-two pound pkg.).

Pour milk into top of double boiler; sprinkle flour, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce over surface of milk; beat with rotary beater until combined. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Add cheese; continue cooking sauce, stirring occasionally, until cheese melts and sauce is well blended.

Wife Preservers



Your heart won't break when you run stockings if you put them to good use as stuffing for toy animals or TV pillows, or for braided rugs.

A footstool is a useful and versatile investment for a crowded room. It can be used as a chair, a magazine rack or a table as well as for its original purpose.

Peanut butter broiled frosting—Combine ⅔ cup brown sugar with 4 tablespoons softened butter, 4 tablespoons cream and 4 tablespoons peanut butter; stir in 1 cup chopped peanuts. Spread on cold cake, place under broiler until topping bubbles and browns.

Maple Glazed Louisiana Yams With Ham

(Makes 4 Servings)

1 teaspoon vegetable oil
1 ham steak, ¾-inch thick
4 medium-sized Louisiana yams, cooked, peeled and quartered, or 1 can (1-pound) Louisiana yams, drained
2 tablespoons maple syrup
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Heat oil. Add ham steak and cook over low heat until browned on both sides. Arrange yams around ham. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over yams. Cover and cook over low heat 30 minutes, or until ham is tender.

Add Special Treat To Lunchboxes

To vary the sameness of lunches packed for the school or work contingent, add a surprise food occasionally.

Dried figs or prunes, almond stuffed dates, a peanut butter filled candy bar or a caramel apple make nourishing dessert treats. And they require little or no effort to prepare.

When packing lunches, be sure to wrap these foods separately and fit them compactly into containers.

Many Kinds Of Ham Are Now Available

Even the ancient Egyptians knew the secrets of curing and smoking ham, but the scientifically prepared masterpiece of today is a far cry from the feasts on the Nile. And this year ham is better than ever. Farmers are raising even more of the meat-type hogs that produce the lean trim meat the homemaker prefers—just enough fat to make the meat juicy and succulent.

With the increasing popularity of ham, the meat industry has developed styles and sizes to suit every family and taste. In addition to the helpful instructions to be found on many meat labels, here is a guide to help you make your selection:

Kinds of Ham Available

"Cook - before - eating" hams, sometimes called uncooked or regular, require cooking before eating. They should be cooked to an internal temperature of 160°F. as registered by a meat thermometer.

"Ready-to-eat" hams have been heated in the smokehouse and then further processed to make them palatably tender. The texture and flavor are improved by further cooking but require slightly less cooking time per pound than uncooked hams. "Ready-to-eat" hams should be heated to an internal temperature of at least 130°-140°F. as registered by a meat thermometer.

"Fully cooked" or "cooked" hams have been completely cooked and may be served without further heating. If hot service of the ham is preferred, it may be heated to an internal temperature of 125 to 130°F.

Canned hams are completely cooked when purchased. They may be reheated by removing from the can and oven-baking to an internal temperature of 125 to 130°F.

Country-Style hams are more heavily cured and require soaking and par-boiling. After this initial cooking, the hams may be glazed and baked until done.

Styles of Ham Available

Bone-in hams weigh from 8 to 24 pounds and are available as "cook-before eating," "ready-to-eat," and "fully cooked." Bone-in hams may be purchased whole, cut in half as butt or shank ends, or as ham slices cut from the center.

Skinless, shankless hams have had the shank bone removed and are skinned and trimmed of excess fat. These are available as "cook-before-eating," "ready-to-eat," and "fully cooked." They may be purchased whole, half, or as ham slices.

Boneless, skinless hams are very leanly trimmed. They are available in two styles: (1) ham shaped and generally "fully cooked;" (2) shaped into rolls, "cook - before - eating" or "fully cooked" and are sold whole or in pieces.

To vary the sameness of lunches packed for the school or work contingent, add a surprise food occasionally.

Dried figs or prunes, almond stuffed dates, a peanut butter filled candy bar or a caramel apple make nourishing dessert treats. And they require little or no effort to prepare.

When packing lunches, be sure to wrap these foods separately and fit them compactly into containers.

Many Kinds Of Ham Are Now Available

Even the ancient Egyptians knew the secrets of curing and smoking ham, but the scientifically prepared masterpiece of today is a far cry from the feasts on the Nile. And this year ham is better than ever. Farmers are raising even more of the meat-type hogs that produce the lean trim meat the homemaker prefers—just enough fat to make the meat juicy and succulent.

With the increasing popularity of ham, the meat industry has developed styles and sizes to suit every family and taste. In addition to the helpful instructions to be found on many meat labels, here is a guide to help you make your selection:

Kinds of Ham Available

"Cook-before-eating" hams, sometimes called uncooked or regular, require cooking before eating. They should be cooked to an internal temperature of 160°F. as registered by a meat thermometer.

"Ready-to-eat" hams have been heated in the smokehouse and then further processed to make them palatably tender. The texture and flavor are improved by further cooking but require slightly less cooking time per pound than uncooked hams. "Ready-to-eat" hams should be heated to an internal temperature of at least 130°-140°F. as registered by a meat thermometer.

"Fully cooked" or "cooked" hams have been completely cooked and may be served without further heating. If hot service of the ham is preferred, it may be heated to an internal temperature of 125 to 130°F.

Canned hams are completely cooked when purchased. They may be reheated by removing from the can and oven-baking to an internal temperature of 125 to 130°F.

Country-Style hams are more heavily cured and require soaking and par-boiling. After this initial cooking, the hams may be glazed and baked until done.

Styles of Ham Available

Bone-in hams weigh from 8 to 24 pounds and are available as "cook-before eating," "ready-to-eat," and "fully cooked." Bone-in hams may be purchased whole, cut in half as butt or shank ends, or as ham slices cut from the center.

Skinless, shankless hams have had the shank bone removed and are skinned and trimmed of excess fat. These are available as "cook-before-eating," "ready-to-eat," and "fully cooked." They may be purchased whole, half, or as ham slices.

Boneless, skinless hams are very leanly trimmed. They are available in two styles: (1) ham shaped and generally "fully cooked;" (2) shaped into rolls, "cook-before-eating" or "fully cooked" and are sold whole or in pieces.

To the police it seems clearly a case of suicide but this verdict does not satisfy one of the guests who fancies himself as a detective. The identity of the killer is a secret throughout the three acts of close action and suspense.

The play was written by A. A. Milne, an Englishman with an international reputation based on his warmly humorous and enthralling novels and plays.

She stated that it was most important that the immunizations be continued as polio has not been eliminated in West Virginia.

Church Launches Bible Crusade

PAW PAW — The Paw Paw Church of Christ will launch a pre-Easter evangelistic crusade on March 17. Guest evangelist for the two-week campaign will be Remi Duhon, nationally known among Churches of Christ, as a missionary to the French-Acadian people of Southern Louisiana.

The French-Acadians of Louisiana were deported from Nova Scotia by the English government under King George II. They are the people immortalized by Longfellow's "Evangeline." Mr. Duhon, a descendent of, and missionary to these people, comes to Paw Paw for a return meeting.

These services will be conducted nightly, except Monday at 7:30 p. m. The Paw Paw minister, John Thomas, shares with his congregation in extending a welcome to everyone.

Health Dept. In Hardy County Stops Salk Shots

MOOREFIELD — The Hardy County Health Department announced that its supply of polio vaccine has been depleted and no more vaccine will be received at the local office.

Mrs. Dorothy Reynolds, county health nurse, urges parents who have started the series of polio vaccine immunization shots for their children to complete the series with their family physician. She stated that it was most important that the immunizations be continued as polio has not been eliminated in West Virginia.

The Health Department expressed pride in the number of parents who have had the foresight to have their children immunized and urged all who have not been immunized against the dread disease to do so as soon as possible.

Midland Council Plans Street Paving Project

MIDLAND—At the meeting of the mayor and town council, it was decided to blacktop Laffey's Lane from Paradise Street to O'Mara Avenue, and to blacktop a sidewalk from Broadway Street to Grace Methodist Church and St. Joseph's Catholic Church. The sidewalk will run near the property of Mrs. Mary Baker. Approximate cost of the two projects will be $2500.

Mayor Lionel D. Baker announced that plans are underway to have several vacant lots cleaned and graded, and facilities for basketball erected for the children. It is hoped that in the near future baskets can be erected in several sections of the town.

Numerous complaints were received about the large number of dogs running loose on the streets and over private property. Mayor Baker instructed the town clerk to contact the county dog catcher.

Street Commissioner Donald Cook received permission to have the main streets cleaned and all the sewers flushed.

Law Requires Sheriff's Report

Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein this week submitted to the Board of Commissioners of Allegany County a report on the activities of his office in January and February.

Sheriff Haberlein said the report was the first made since his appointment to the office and was offered in compliance with a county law that stipulates the reports must be made at periodical intervals.

A previous news story inadvertently implied that Sheriff Haberlein had submitted the report on orders from the county commissioners.

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Gloria Williams, by her father and next friend, Joseph Blacker, vs. Leo Williams, and Mary Josephine McDaniel vs. Jackson Dale McDaniel.

Cumberland Girl Scout Council Praised By CUF

Lauding the Cumberland Girl Scout Council for its work as an agency of County United Fund, William C. Walsh, CUF president, last night recognized Girl Scout Week with the statement:

"There are weeks when we hear stories of occasional juvenile delinquency, but the Girl Scouts are one of the CUF youth agencies that guarantee good character and clean living for thousands of our youngsters for 52 weeks out of every year."

Mr. Walsh pointed out that this one CUF agency now numbers nearly 1,400 members — girls ranging from seven to 17 years old. He listed 36 troops in Cumberland, seven in Keyser, four in Cresaptown, eight in La Vale, nine in Frostburg, and four in Romney.

"With the development of neighborhood service teams in each of the eight neighborhoods in the council jurisdiction," the CUF president said, "scouting is being provided for girls in parts of the council territory which were previously untouched."

He explained that each neighborhood, or community, has a troop organizer and troop consultant who works cooperatively with the neighborhood chairman. This is in keeping with the CUF policy of extending its total service into every area, he added.

The 416 adult volunteers of the Girl Scout Council are now placing special emphasis on the music and out-of-door phases of scouting, Mr. Walsh continued, and said that these, in conjunction with such programs as health and safety, homemaking and community life, are helping girls to become more resourceful, responsible members of their homes and communities and to develop preparedness for use in Civil Defense.

"County United Fund," he stated, "strives constantly to provide strong leaders for its agencies. The Girl Scout Council is to be congratulated for its work along this line, since it carries on a continuous training program for adults as a means of providing high quality leadership for its girls.

"Recently, courses were offered for new leaders in which 45 completed the entire course. Workshops and institutes were attended by 150 experienced leaders. Three volunteer trainers were recruited and trained to give courses for troop leaders."

Also in keeping with the leadership policies of CUF, the president declared, "On-the-job help to volunteers was provided by troop consultants and professional staff; a three-day institute was given in Cumberland by two members of the National Girl Scout Staff; and a few members were able to take advantage of training given in other cities."

This message was received by Winfield H. Adam, CUF executive director, from the Girl Scout Council:

"Our thanks to you and the other loyal workers in the CUF for your cooperation and understanding of our agency's work and the assistance you have given to our organization during the past year. Best wishes to CUF for another fine year ahead."

The CUF president made special mention of the Girl Scout adult volunteers who serve as officers and board members. "These are some of the folks," he said, "who combat juvenile delinquency every day of the year."

Included are Mrs. George J. Miller, president; Mrs. Aden Everstine, and Mrs. Byron Bonebreak, vice presidents; Mrs. William Claus, recording secretary; Mrs. Emma Everstine, corresponding secretary; and Miss Irene Lapp, treasurer.

Board members are Mrs. Gurney Beeman, Theodore Foote, Walter Fraley, Mrs. C. E. Howell, Arch Hutcheson, Mrs. Robert M. King, Mrs. John Lower, Mrs. Monroe McKenzie, J. Kenneth Morgan, Mrs. Karl G. Perry, Mrs. C. Gordon Taylor, Mrs. John B. Whittaker, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams and Mrs. Z. F. Zimowski.

Rising Sun Is Foe At College Park In B Contest At 2:30

Coach John C. Meyers sends an Allegany County quint into action in a state championship basketball tournament for the eighth time when his Valley High School Black Knights tangle with Rising Sun High School of Cecil County today in a Class B semi-final round game at the University of Maryland, College Park, at 2:30 p. m.

With the exception of 1953 and 1954 when Bruce High of Westernport, represented the county and went all the way in Class "B" competition, Meyers has headed Central and Valley quints in the statewide games seven times in the past nine years and his record is four wins and three losses. In 1950 and 1952 his Central High Tigers of Lonaconing won the title but in 1951 Aberdeen defeated the Orange and Black in the final contest.

Lost Twice In Semi-Finals

His 1956 and 1957 Valley teams swept through nine district, interdistrict and state games to annex two titles in a row after the 1955 Knights were derailed by Cambridge in the state semi-finals, 59-39, and the Eastern Shore quint bagged the title by whipping Oxon Hill, 47-37. Last year Valley was kayoed by Gaithersburg, 48-44, in the semi-final round at College Park, but Chestertown spilled Gaithersburg to annex the "B" championship, 48-45.

Valley won the class B title in Allegany County this year by sweeping its series with Bruce and Mt. Savage High. Then the W.M.I. League champions grabbed district honors by knocking off Northern High of Accident, 66-56, and Brunswick, 71-35, at Hagerstown last week. To qualify for its fourth straight trip to the state tourney, Valley disposed of Surrattsville High School of Clinton on Tuesday night in the Hub City by the score of 57-47.

A year ago Fort Hill High School was Allegany County's Class A representatives and went on to win state honors on the same court on which Valley tumbled before Gaithersburg. Lackey High of Indian Head won the "C" title and is the only defending champion on hand at College Park this weekend.

Hubs Seek A Crown

North Hagerstown High School, coached by Mel Henry, formerly of Cumberland, will represent West Maryland in the state Class A tourney this year. The Hubs are having one of their greatest seasons with a 22-1 record and to earn a semi-final berth at College Park they disposed of Southern, of Garrett County, 78-58, and Frederick, 45-28, after the Cadets had knocked Allegany High out of the Hagerstown district event, 63-56. The Hubs have drawn Howard County High as their opponent tonight. Hagerstown has won the state title only once and that was in 1951. Cumberland Class A schools have bagged the state crown 18 times in 25 years.

Class B schools of Allegany county have gone all the way six times in 12 years while Class C schools from this county have annexed state honors five teams in 12 years of tournament play.

Hancock In Tourney

Western Maryland's Class C representative at College Park is Hancock High School, of Washington county, coached by Bob Wolford, ex-Paw Paw High School mentor.

Valley takes a 22-2 record to the state tourney and puts a six-game winning streak on the line. The Knights suffered their last loss at the hands of Allegany at Campobello on Feb. 13 by the score of 63-53. The other setback came on Feb. 3 at Valley where Southern's Highlanders snapped the Knights' 14-game string, 54-53. If Valley gets by Rising Sun today, Coach Meyers' quint will play the winner of today's Aberdeen-Cambridge game on Saturday at 7:30 p. m., for the championship.

Pairings for Today

Here are today's pairings for the semi-finals in the state tournament which will be directed by Robert E. Pence, of Cumberland, director of physical education for Allegany county public schools:

1:00 — Hancock vs. Elmer Wolfe, Carroll county, Class C.

4:00—Crisfield vs. Lackey of Indian Head, Class C.

7:30 — Bethesda - Chevy Chase vs. Annapolis, Class A.

9:00 — North Hagerstown vs. Howard County, Class A.

Rowlesburg Tests Piedmont In Area Tilt At Petersburg

Mineral county basketball teams will be the cynosure of all eyes in nearby West Virginia tonight when John R. Shelton's Keyser High School Golden Tornado and William "Huck" Miers' Piedmont High School Lions figure in important regional and area tests at Weston and Petersburg respectively.

Keyser High School, winner of the Potomac Valley Conference championship, and victorious in 19 of 22 contests, puts a 12-game winning streak on the line when it opposes Parsons High School's Panthers of Tucker County tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Weston High School in a semi-final round game in the Region Two Class AA tournament.

In the first game of the twin bill at 7 p.m., Weston plays Gassaway. Both teams had 15-5 records during the regular season.

Finals are set for Saturday night and the regional champion qualifies for the state Class AA championship tournament at Marshall College, Huntington, next weekend. Four regional winners will be crowned Saturday night in finals at Weston, Parkersburg, Princeton and St. Albans.

Coached By Gutshall

Parsons High School is coached by Neil Gutshall, former Potomac State College player. The Panthers have had a successful season, winning 17 of 20 games.

The two-day tourney at Weston will be officiated by Lou Romano and Mendy Carp, of Charleston.

Keyser last played in the state tourney in 1955, advancing to Huntington after beating Fairmont West's Polar Bears, 58-55, and Morgantown, 62-61, in the regional event. At West Virginia U., the Golden Tornado whipped Grafton, 47-36, but was eliminated by Mullens, 80-59.

A Battle Of Lions

Piedmont High School's Lions and Coach Metheny's Rowlesburg River Lions of Preston county will clash in one of the four Class A area playoffs on tap for this weekend. Petersburg will be the site for the single game tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The victor goes on to Huntington for the four-school state title tourney a week from today.

Piedmont won the 13-A sectional by beating Fort Ashby and Ridgeley and also took the 4-A regional by downing Page Jackson of Charleston and Paw Paw and owns a 16-6 record to date.

Coach Miers' last team to qualify for the state title event was the 1954 Lions who went to Morgantown where they won the opener from Chester, 49-44, and lost out in the finals to Pax, 63-54.

The third nearby West Virginia school involved in tournament play tonight is Coach George Whitacre's Martinsburg High Bulldogs who are competing in Class AAA this season.

Bulldogs Face Richwood

Martinsburg (13-8) opposes Richwood tonight in the opening Region Two semi-final at Morgantown. Fairmont West goes against Elkins in the second contest. The winner of Saturday's game will compete in the state title tourney next week in Huntington.

McGee's Posts Third Straight Win In Tourney

Tops CCSC, 45-35; Vets Oust Old G's

McGee's sextet notched its third straight victory in the Women's Rec Gold Medal Basketball Tournament by trimming the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company team last night on the Carver School court by the score of 45-35.

In the first half, the score was knotted four times until a field goal and foul shot by Jeanne Hale gave McGee's a 26-20 edge at intermission. In the third stanza, McGee's piled up a lead of 12 points on successive goals by Hale and Pat Thompson. The CC and SC team pulled within four points of McGee's in the final period on shots by Pauline Miltenberger and Celeste Madden but four successive goals by Judy McKenty settled the issue.

McKenty had 16 points and Thompson and Hale 12 each for McGee's. Pat Mason paced the Cement Company team with 15 tallies.

The V.F.W. Bloomer Girls (3-1) knocked the Old Germans out of the tourney by winning, 57 to 13.

Twenty-six goals were credited to the Bloomer Girls while the Old Germans were limited to five.

Meyers Takes 8th Quint To State Event

Rising Sun Is Foe At College Park In B Contest At 2:30

Coach John C. Meyers sends an Allegany County quint into action in a state championship basketball tournament for the eighth time when his Valley High School Black Knights tangle with Rising Sun High School of Cecil County today in a Class B semi-final round game at the University of Maryland, College Park, at 2:30 p. m.

With the exception of 1953 and 1954 when Bruce High of Westernport, represented the county and went all the way in Class "B" competition, Meyers has headed Central and Valley quints in the statewide games seven times in the past nine years and his record is four wins and three losses. In 1950 and 1952 his Central High Tigers of Lonaconing won the title but in 1951 Aberdeen defeated the Orange and Black in the final contest.

Lost Twice In Semi-Finals

His 1956 and 1957 Valley teams swept through nine district, interdistrict and state games to annex two titles in a row after the 1955 Knights were derailed by Cambridge in the state semi-finals, 59-39, and the Eastern Shore quint bagged the title by whipping Oxon Hill, 47-37. Last year Valley was kayoed by Gaithersburg, 48-44, in the semi-final round at College Park, but Chestertown spilled Gaithersburg to annex the "B" championship, 48-45.

Valley won the class B title in Allegany County this year by sweeping its series with Bruce and Mt. Savage High. Then the W.M.I. League champions grabbed district honors by knocking off Northern High of Accident, 66-56, and Brunswick, 71-35, at Hagerstown last week. To qualify for its fourth straight trip to the state tourney, Valley disposed of Surrattsville High School of Clinton on Tuesday night in the Hub City by the score of 57-47.

A year ago Fort Hill High School was Allegany County's Class A representatives and went on to win state honors on the same court on which Valley tumbled before Gaithersburg. Lackey High of Indian Head won the "C" title and is the only defending champion on hand at College Park this weekend.

Hubs Seek A Crown

North Hagerstown High School, coached by Mel Henry, formerly of Cumberland, will represent West Maryland in the state Class A tourney this year. The Hubs are having one of their greatest seasons with a 22-1 record and to earn a semi-final berth at College Park they disposed of Southern, of Garrett County, 78-58, and Frederick, 45-28, after the Cadets had knocked Allegany High out of the Hagerstown district event, 63-56. The Hubs have drawn Howard County High as their opponent tonight. Hagerstown has won the state title only once and that was in 1951. Cumberland Class A schools have bagged the state crown 18 times in 25 years.

Class B schools of Allegany county have gone all the way six times in 12 years while Class C schools from this county have annexed state honors five teams in 12 years of tournament play.

Hancock In Tourney

Western Maryland's Class C representative at College Park is Hancock High School, of Washington county, coached by Bob Wolford, ex-Paw Paw High School mentor.

Valley takes a 22-2 record to the state tourney and puts a six-game winning streak on the line. Weston Site For Parsons, Keyser Game

Rowlesburg Tests Piedmont In Area Tilt At Petersburg

Mineral county basketball teams will be the cynosure of all eyes in nearby West Virginia tonight when John R. Shelton's Keyser High School Golden Tornado and William "Huck" Miers' Piedmont High School Lions figure in important regional and area tests at Weston and Petersburg respectively.

Keyser High School, winner of the Potomac Valley Conference championship, and victorious in 19 of 22 contests, puts a 12-game winning streak on the line when it opposes Parsons High School's Panthers of Tucker County tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Weston High School in a semi-final round game in the Region Two Class AA tournament.

In the first game of the twin bill at 7 p.m., Weston plays Gassaway. Both teams had 15-5 records during the regular season.

Finals are set for Saturday night and the regional champion qualifies for the state Class AA championship tournament at Marshall College, Huntington, next weekend. Four regional winners will be crowned Saturday night in finals at Weston, Parkersburg, Princeton and St. Albans.

Coached By Gutshall

Parsons High School is coached by Neil Gutshall, former Potomac State College player. The Panthers have had a successful season, winning 17 of 20 games.

The two-day tourney at Weston will be officiated by Lou Romano and Mendy Carp, of Charleston.

Keyser last played in the state tourney in 1955, advancing to Huntington after beating Fairmont West's Polar Bears, 58-55, and Morgantown, 62-61, in the regional event. At West Virginia U., the Golden Tornado whipped Grafton, 47-36, but was eliminated by Mullens, 80-59.

A Battle Of Lions

Piedmont High School's Lions and Coach Metheny's Rowlesburg River Lions of Preston county will clash in one of the four Class A area playoffs on tap for this weekend. Petersburg will be the site for the single game tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The victor goes on to Huntington for the four-school state title tourney a week from today.

Piedmont won the 13-A sectional by beating Fort Ashby and Ridgeley and also took the 4-A regional by downing Page Jackson of Charleston and Paw Paw and owns a 16-6 record to date.

Coach Miers' last team to qualify for the state title event was the 1954 Lions who went to Morgantown where they won the opener from Chester, 49-44, and lost out in the finals to Pax, 63-54.

The third nearby West Virginia school involved in tournament play tonight is Coach George Whitacre's Martinsburg High Bulldogs who are competing in Class AAA this season.

Bulldogs Face Richwood

Martinsburg (13-8) opposes Richwood tonight in the opening Region Two semi-final at Morgantown. Fairmont West goes against Elkins in the second contest. The winner of Saturday's game will compete in the state title tourney next week in Huntington.

Tops CCSC, 45-35; Vets Oust Old G's

McGee's sextet notched its third straight victory in the Women's Rec Gold Medal Basketball Tournament by trimming the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company team last night on the Carver School court by the score of 45-35.

The loss was the first for CC and SC which had won its first two starts in the double elimination tournament.

In the first half, the score was knotted four times until a field goal and foul shot by Jeanne Hale gave McGee's a 26-20 edge at intermission. In the third stanza, McGee's piled up a lead of 12 points on successive goals by Hale and Pat Thompson. The CC and SC team pulled within four points of McGee's in the final period on shots by Pauline Miltenberger and Celeste Madden but four successive goals by Judy McKenty settled the issue.

McKenty had 16 points and Thompson and Hale 12 each for McGee's. Pat Mason paced the Cement Company team with 15 tallies.

Eliot Quits As Illinois Grid Coach

Named Assistant Athletic Director

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Jovial Ray Eliot, 53, Thursday resigned as University of Illinois football coach, effective after his 18th Illini season next fall, to become the school's assistant athletic director.

A successor will not be named until after the 1959 grid season.

The dean of Big Ten Conference coaches, Eliot's resignation was accepted at a meeting of the university's Board of Trustees which also announced his appointment as assistant to Athletic Director Doug Mills.

Eliot, serving as head coach since he succeeded the late Bob Zuppke in 1942, had a 4-5 over-all record last fall and finished sixth in the Big Ten race with 4-3.

His 17-year Illini record included 78-70-10 over-all and 50-53-6 in the Big Ten.

Eliot implied there was no pressure in his "difficult" decision to resign.

Among the first mentioned as a probable successor was Chuck Studley, 30, an Illini line coach since 1955 and captain and guard on Eliot's 1951 Rose Bowl team.

Eliot, former president of the American Football Coaches' Assn. won two Big Ten titles outright, in 1946 and 1951, and shared the crown in 1953 with Michigan State.

His 1946 club went to the 1947 first Rose Bowl game in the current Big Ten-Pacific Coast Conference series and trounced UCLA 45-14.

As assistant to Mills, Eliot will handle the Illinois' financial aid program for athletes, an increasingly tough Big Ten assignment.

What About Those New York Yankees? Guess We Better Let Casey Tell Us!

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league baseball teams. Others will follow on this page every day.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Association Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — When you talk to Casey Stengel—rather, when you listen — the most difficult thing is how to decide when to turn him on and when to turn him off.

On this particular occasion, Casey turned it on by himself as he stood in the shade of Miller Huggins Field here and, after he had leveled a many-pronged tirade against Frank Lane of the Indians, he talked about his baseball team, not once but several times.

Whether it was for the consumption of a group of visiting writers or the Yankee fans behind the fence Casey was at his bleating best this day, and if you can read my notes on what he said, you're a better man than I, so we'll just give them to you as they came off the Stengelese press:

"The first guy I ran into when I came over here was Lane. I shook hands with him and got the itch right away. (Casey then pointed to a red spot on his arm). He took over my club for the day—I let him do it—and I went visiting. And he sure guided my newspapermen wonderfully. When he got through they wouldn't even write anything that George Weiss said.

"He told my newspapermen that he had a big trade coming up with Kansas City. What does he mean, he wants to trade Narleski to us last year and now after he sends him to Detroit he says Cleveland will be better off without him? Why don't he wait until after the season to make those statements?"

"We're doing all right here without Lane. And I get paid pretty well, too. Come to think of it we did 37 per cent of his business for him in Cleveland last year with him running the team. If Lane comes in again, I might just give him this park for another day. He wants to get free advertising, anyhow," Stengel said.

CASEY GASSED up for the second installment. And here is how it went (we think):

"This ball club is in the lightest weight of any team I've had here. And it has a lightheaded manager. Practice sessions? Yes, we start in the morning and if the owners are in town we stay here longer.

"This is the first time we didn't have a preliminary school. Now we had Kucks and Grim and Mantle and they weren't in Triple A. Now you take that Duren. He never would have made it if we didn't have him in the preliminary school.

"I liked him but so did my players. In fact, they told me to buy him to get rid of him. He wasn't wild after the instructional school. The first part of the year the men were up there and they knew he was wild and waited. So he threw it by them. I thought he did pretty good in the World Series with one bad knee.

"I hate to take you over there (to a group working on a nearby diamond) because we have so many good ball players and the rest of you guys have so little.

"Say, now, I got three first basemen and three catchers. And what's wrong with Berra? What's wrong with Howard? Or Blanchard? We gave Yogi a hard time, telling him we might put him on first and I had Al Lopez tell him that his White Sox would step all over his feet when they got there.

"Berra can sure hit, can't he? I asked him about his batting average last year and he just grumbled. However, he hit me 50 foul homers last year. See that one! Another foul!

"I just give you my front team without anybody else. Only thing they got on me is we played bad ball for a couple of months last year. However, they all had a slump. If we hadn't finished strong in the Series I'd say we had slipped.

"I don't know who's going to be my pitchers. Except I know two of them. If I get a full year out of Ford and Larsen. Larsen has a strong arm and he is faster than he looks. Personally, I like him, but last year he came up with a sore elbow.

"Yeah, they're asking us to buy some pitchers. Sure they want Turley. And they offer us cash! Ditmar did good for me last year. He didn't have a good record but I gave him dirty work.

"Now I got Sturdivant. Two years ago he had a great record. He was out a month after being hurt in Boston. Then I buy me protection and we get Dickson. Then that Kucks. He's 25 and there's nothing wrong with his arm. I thought Shantz had a bad arm but it's in good shape."

"YEP, WE'RE trying Siebern at first and if he doesn't work out he'll be in the outfield. We have him wearing a pair of glasses. If he could hit .300 for me without glasses I supposed he'll do better with 'em. I carried more first basemen in the last 10 years than anybody else. Now, they're just finding out why," Casey grinned.

"There's that big Leja (Frank Leja, the big bonus boy of a few years ago) on first. Look at the runs he bats in. He just now got over the fact that he's got to make a living.

"Now you take that Frank Lane . . ."

We cut Casey off, here and now. The Yanks, defending champs, are solid again.

It's much the same old team with Elston Howard ready to be given more chances to catch. Several rookies are being looked at including Cletis Boyer, infielder, Fritz Brickell, another infielder, and Rod Kanehl, up from Dallas, who plays every position but will be given a shot at shortstop or the outfield.

Few will break in, but Casey will come up with somebody.

Peary Dog Stamp Out April Sixth

At long last the United States is to have a "dog stamp."

The Postmaster General has announced that on April 6th there will be a four-cent Arctic Explorations commemorative stamp featuring sled dogs. First sale of the stamp will be at Cresson, Pennsylvania, birthplace of Admiral Robert E. Peary who exactly fifty years before discovered the North Pole with the aid of his dogs.

The new stamp prominently displays a drawing of the Admiral and the sled dogs which hauled his assault team to the Pole. By way of contrasting the "old and new" methods of arctic exploration, a picture of the U.S. Navy's atomic submarine "Nautilus," is also part of the design.

The new stamp, blue in color, has been authorized in an initial printing of 120 million. The artist is George Samerjan, of Katonah, N. Y., who has made a flight to the Arctic and to the North Pole, while making documentary sketches for the Air Force.

Eliot Quits As Illinois Grid Coach

Named Assistant Athletic Director

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Jovial Ray Eliot, 53, Thursday resigned as University of Illinois football coach, effective after his 18th Illini season next fall, to become the school's assistant athletic director.

A successor will not be named until after the 1959 grid season.

The dean of Big Ten Conference coaches, Eliot's resignation was accepted at a meeting of the university's Board of Trustees which also announced his appointment as assistant to Athletic Director Doug Mills.

Eliot, serving as head coach since he succeeded the late Bob Zuppke in 1942, had a 4-5 over-all record last fall and finished sixth in the Big Ten race with 4-3.

His 17-year Illini record included 78-70-10 over-all and 50-53-6 in the Big Ten.

Eliot implied there was no pressure in his "difficult" decision to resign.

Among the first mentioned as a probable successor was Chuck Studley, 30, an Illini line coach since 1955 and captain and guard on Eliot's 1951 Rose Bowl team.

Eliot, former president of the American Football Coaches' Assn. won two Big Ten titles outright, in 1946 and 1951, and shared the crown in 1953 with Michigan State.

His 1946 club went to the 1947 first Rose Bowl game in the current Big Ten-Pacific Coast Conference series and trounced UCLA 45-14.

As assistant to Mills, Eliot will handle the Illinois' financial aid program for athletes, an increasingly tough Big Ten assignment.

What About Those New York Yankees? Guess We Better Let Casey Tell Us!

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league baseball teams. Others will follow on this page every day.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Association Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — When you talk to Casey Stengel—rather, when you listen — the most difficult thing is how to decide when to turn him on and when to turn him off.

On this particular occasion, Casey turned it on by himself as he stood in the shade of Miller Huggins Field here and, after he had leveled a many-pronged tirade against Frank Lane of the Indians, he talked about his baseball team, not once but several times.

Whether it was for the consumption of a group of visiting writers or the Yankee fans behind the fence Casey was at his bleating best this day, and if you can read my notes on what he said, you're a better man than I, so we'll just give them to you as they came off the Stengelese press:

"The first guy I ran into when I came over here was Lane. I shook hands with him and got the itch right away. (Casey then pointed to a red spot on his arm). He took over my club for the day—I let him do it—and I went visiting. And he sure guided my newspapermen wonderfully. When he got through they wouldn't even write anything that George Weiss said.

"He told my newspapermen that he had a big trade coming up with Kansas City. What does he mean, he wants to trade Narleski to us last year and now after he sends him to Detroit he says Cleveland will be better off without him? Why don't he wait until after the season to make those statements?"

"We're doing all right here without Lane. And I get paid pretty well, too. Come to think of it we did 37 per cent of his business for him in Cleveland last year with him running the team. If Lane comes in again, I might just give him this park for another day. He wants to get free advertising, anyhow," Stengel said.

CASEY GASSED up for the second installment. And here is how it went (we think):

"This ball club is in the lightest weight of any team I've had here. And it has a lightheaded manager. Practice sessions? Yes, we start in the morning and if the owners are in town we stay here longer.

"This is the first time we didn't have a preliminary school. Now we had Kucks and Grim and Mantle and they weren't in Triple A. Now you take that Duren. He never would have made it if we didn't have him in the preliminary school.

"I liked him but so did my players. In fact, they told me to buy him to get rid of him. He wasn't wild after the instructional school. The first part of the year the men were up there and they knew he was wild and waited. So he threw it by them. I thought he did pretty good in the World Series with one bad knee.

"I hate to take you over there (to a group working on a nearby diamond) because we have so many good ball players and the rest of you guys have so little.

"Say, now, I got three first basemen and three catchers. And what's wrong with Berra? What's wrong with Howard? Or Blanchard? We gave Yogi a hard time, telling him we might put him on first and I had Al Lopez tell him that his White Sox would step all over his feet when they got there.

"Berra can sure hit, can't he? I asked him about his batting average last year and he just grumbled. However, he hit me 50 foul homers last year. See that one! Another foul!

"I just give you my front team without anybody else. Only thing they got on me is we played bad ball for a couple of months last year. However, they all had a slump. If we hadn't finished strong in the Series I'd say we had slipped.

"I don't know who's going to be my pitchers. Excent I know two of them. If I get a full year out of Ford and Larsen. Larsen has a strong arm and he is faster than he looks. Personally, I like him, but last year he came up with a sore elbow.

"Yeah, they're asking us to buy some pitchers. Sure they want Turley. And they offer us cash! Ditmar did good for me last year. He didn't have a good record but I gave him dirty work.

"Now I got Sturdivant. Two years ago he had a great record. He was out a month after being hurt in Boston. Then I buy me protection and we get Dickson. Then that Kucks. He's 25 and there's nothing wrong with his arm. I thought Shantz had a bad arm but it's in good shape."

"YEP, WE'RE trying Siebern at first and if he doesn't work out he'll be in the outfield. We have him wearing a pair of glasses. If he could hit .300 for me without glasses I supposed he'll do better with 'em. I carried more first basemen in the last 10 years than anybody else. Bill To Increase Fishing And Hunting Fees Passes House

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A bill to raise West Virginia hunting and fishing license fees to provide about a half million dollars a year in additional revenue for the Conservation Department passed the House by a 60-39 vote Thursday.

It passed the Senate earlier but goes back for action on a House amendment under which a person 65 or over would not need a license for hunting. Present law requires no fishing license for persons 60 or over.

The measure would raise the cost of a separate hunting or fishing license for state residents from $2 to $3 a year. A combination hunting and fishing license for state residents would go from $3 to $5.

The bill would take effect next Dec. 31.

Canadian, Russian Hockey Teams Win

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) —Canada took the undisputed lead in the World Amateur Ice Hockey Championships Thursday by routing Sweden 5-0 while Russia knocked Czechoslovakia out of contention with a 4-3 victory in a rough game.

The Russians, beaten by Canada Wednesday, had to come from behind with two goals in the third period against the Czechs.

As a result those two teams wound up in a three-way tie with the United States for second place in the standings. Each has four points from two victories and one defeat. The U.S. team was idle Thursday.

The Canadians easily won their third straight and have six points.

Joe Gibbon, Ex-Basketeer, Seeks Buc Mound Chance

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

FORT MYERS, Fla. — One of several professional baseball players who had to choose between baseball and basketball, Joseph Charles Gibbon of the Pittsburgh Pirates is glad he picked the diamond sport.

For today, with only two seasons of minor league baseball and two innings against major league talent, Gibbon is highly-rated among the young pitching hopefuls on the Pirate farm club list and may be ticketed for stardom.

An outstanding basketball player at the University of Mississippi, second highest scorer in the nation in the 1956-1957 season, Gibbon also was a star hitter at Ole Miss, topping the Southeastern conference in batting.

Joe was drafted by the Boston Celtics in 1957 but he didn't even answer the telegram. His interest was baseball and 10 clubs sought his services. He signed with the Pirates for $4,000 bonus.

After his graduation in June of 1957 he was sent to the Bucs' Lincoln team in the Western league. Joe was place on first because of his power with the bat. He jammed a thumb, however, and the manager put him on the mound. In his first 25 innings he held the opposition scoreless. He pitched 10 complete games in 17 he started and finished with 9-4, hurling four shutouts.

Last year he was moved up to Columbus in the International league but he had trouble with his control and with a weak-hitting Columbus team. His mark was a mediocre 6-13 but he did strike out 127 batters while walking only 87 in 147 innings pitched.

Gibbon, a righthander, is a giant of a guy, standing 6 feet 4 inches tall. He talks little and because of it he has earned the nickname of "Gabby."

Drabowsky Suffers Fractured Thumb

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Pitcher Moe Drabowsky fractured his right thumb Thursday in an exhibition game with Cleveland and doctors said he will be lost to the Chicago Cubs for about six weeks—including two weeks of the regular season.

The hard - luck pitcher was struck on the right thumb while batting in the fourth inning of the game. The ball practically ripped the nail from the thumb, but it at first appeared there was no fracture. He was struck by his own foul.

However, X rays taken after the game showed a fracture below the nail on the thumb.

THEY RE-GREW HAIR!

IN 9 MONTHS — IN 6 MONTHS

Mr. H. Newhouse, Woodale, Illinois, Mrs. H. Haller, Miami, Florida,

Noted hair expert warns, "Don't put it off until it's all off."

Hair Specialist Here SATURDAY Will Show How to Save Hair and Prevent Baldness

Coral Gables, Fla.—New home treatment methods for saving hair and improving its growth will be demonstrated in Cumberland on March 14, Saturday only.

Trichologist J. J. Stalteri will be in charge, representing the dynamic Harlow Hair Experts organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1:00 to 8:00 p. m. Saturday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "cure all." It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination at regular intervals by a Harlow expert.

Who Can Be Helped?

For many years now Harlow Hair Experts have been checking the hair of thousands of people across the country. They have encountered and dealt with hundreds of casees of every kind of hair trouble. From this experience has grown the body of scientific knowledge leading to the development of the new Harlow home treatment.

Will the new Harlow treatment cure baldness? "No!" For we cannot help men and women who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair-loss. But if you still have fuzz and your scalp is still creating hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring on excessive hair loss — dandruff, itching, over-oilness or dryness, follicle clogged with sebum or seborrhea—can be corrected by the Harlow home treatment if caught before the "hair factories" are destroyed.

Evidence of the success of the Harlow method is that the organization has quickly expanded to serve hundreds of cities in 32 states.

The most important thing is: "Don't wait until it's too late."

Surveys among men and women in all walks of life show that the worst enemies of your hair are (1) skepticism and (2) procrastination. The average balding person justifies his condition with one or the other of these two statements:

"I don't think anybody can stop hair loss"—or, "Oh, I'm going to see an expert when I get around to it."

Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced or for procrastinators to take action later. You're going to keep right on losing hair till you're bald . . . unless you get your scalp in healthy, hair growing condition again.

Satisfy 95 Per Cent

"Actually our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim," says Harlow, "for we satisfy at least 95 per cent of our clients which, when you consider that almost every person is a "doubter" or a "putter-offer" where hair is concerned, is an excellent showing. Getting these doubters and putter-offers to come in for an examination is really the problem."

Examine You Free

We want to make it clear that you incur absolutely no charge or obligation by coming in for an examination.

Your only obligation is to yourself to ease your mind of hair worries by learning how to save and thicken your hair at home! We will tell you frankly and sincerely whether or not you can be helped, how long it will take and how much it will cost. We do not accept cases that will not respond.

Guarantee Satisfaction

The Harlow Hair Experts will give you a written guarantee that you must be satisfied within 30 days or it costs you nothing.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk at the Ft. Cumberland Hotel, Saturday only between 1:00 and 8:00 p.m. for Mr. J. J. Stalteri's room number. He does not make appointments, so come in at your convenience.

You won't be obligated or embarrassed in any way. Examinations are given in private.

Bill To Increase Fishing And Hunting Fees Passes House

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A bill to raise West Virginia hunting and fishing license fees to provide about a half million dollars a year in additional revenue for the Conservation Department passed the House by a 60-39 vote Thursday.

It passed the Senate earlier but goes back for action on a House amendment under which a person 65 or over would not need a license for hunting. Present law requires no fishing license for persons 60 or over.

The measure would raise the cost of a separate hunting or fishing license for state residents from $2 to $3 a year. A combination hunting and fishing license for state residents would go from $3 to $5.

The bill would take effect next Dec. 31.

Canadian, Russian Hockey Teams Win

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) —Canada took the undisputed lead in the World Amateur Ice Hockey Championships Thursday by routing Sweden 5-0 while Russia knocked Czechoslovakia out of contention with a 4-3 victory in a rough game.

The Russians, beaten by Canada Wednesday, had to come from behind with two goals in the third period against the Czechs.

As a result those two teams wound up in a three-way tie with the United States for second place in the standings. Each has four points from two victories and one defeat. The U.S. team was idle Thursday.

The Canadians easily won their third straight and have six points.

Joe Gibbon, Ex-Basketeer, Seeks Buc Mound Chance

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

FORT MYERS, Fla. — One of several professional baseball players who had to choose between baseball and basketball, Joseph Charles Gibbon of the Pittsburgh Pirates is glad he picked the diamond sport.

For today, with only two seasons of minor league baseball and two innings against major league talent, Gibbon is highly-rated among the young pitching hopefuls on the Pirate farm club list and may be ticketed for stardom.

An outstanding basketball player at the University of Mississippi, second highest scorer in the nation in the 1956-1957 season, Gibbon also was a star hitter at Ole Miss, topping the Southeastern conference in batting.

Joe was drafted by the Boston Celtics in 1957 but he didn't even answer the telegram. His interest was baseball and 10 clubs sought his services. He signed with the Pirates for $4,000 bonus.

After his graduation in June of 1957 he was sent to the Bucs' Lincoln team in the Western league. Joe was place on first because of his power with the bat. He jammed a thumb, however, and the manager put him on the mound. In his first 25 innings he held the opposition scoreless. He pitched 10 complete games in 17 he started and finished with 9-4, hurling four shutouts.

Last year he was moved up to Columbus in the International league but he had trouble with his control and with a weak-hitting Columbus team. His mark was a mediocre 6-13 but he did strike out 127 batters while walking only 87 in 147 innings pitched.

Gibbon, a righthander, is a giant of a guy, standing 6 feet 4 inches tall. He talks little and because of it he has earned the nickname of "Gabby."

Drabowsky Suffers Fractured Thumb

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Pitcher Moe Drabowsky fractured his right thumb Thursday in an exhibition game with Cleveland and doctors said he will be lost to the Chicago Cubs for about six weeks—including two weeks of the regular season.

The hard - luck pitcher was struck on the right thumb while batting in the fourth inning of the game. The ball practically ripped the nail from the thumb, but it at first appeared there was no fracture. He was struck by his own foul.

However, X rays taken after the game showed a fracture below the nail on the thumb.

IN 9 MONTHS — IN 6 MONTHS

Mr. H. Newhouse, Woodale, Illinois, Mrs. H. Haller, Miami, Florida,

Noted hair expert warns, "Don't put it off until it's all off."

Hair Specialist Here SATURDAY
Will Show How to Save Hair and Prevent Baldness

Coral Gables, Fla.—New home treatment methods for saving hair and improving its growth will be demonstrated in Cumberland on March 14, Saturday only.

Trichologist J. J. Stalteri will be in charge, representing the dynamic Harlow Hair Experts organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1:00 to 8:00 p. m. Saturday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "cure all." It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination at regular intervals by a Harlow expert.

Who Can Be Helped?

For many years now Harlow Hair Experts have been checking the hair of thousands of people across the country. They have encountered and dealt with hundreds of casees of every kind of hair trouble. From this experience has grown the body of scientific knowledge leading to the development of the new Harlow home treatment.

Will the new Harlow treatment cure baldness? "No!" For we cannot help men and women who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair-loss. But if you still have fuzz and your scalp is still creating hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring on excessive hair loss — dandruff, itching, over-oilness or dryness, follicle clogged with sebum or seborrhea—can be corrected by the Harlow home treatment if caught before the 'hair factories" are destroyed.

Surveys among men and women in all walks of life show that the worst enemies of your hair are (1) skepticism and (2) procrastination. The average balding person justifies his condition with one or the other of these two statements:

"I don't think anybody can stop hair loss"—or, "Oh, I'm going to see an expert when I get around to it."

Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced or for procrastinators to take action later. You're going to keep right on losing hair till you're bald . . . unless you get your scalp in healthy, hair growing condition again.

Satisfy 95 Per Cent

"Actually our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim," says Harlow, "for we satisfy at least 95 per cent of our clients which, when you consider that almost every person is a "doubter" or a "putter-offer" where hair is concerned, is an excellent showing. Getting these doubters and putter-offers to come in for an examination is really the problem."

Examine You Free

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — The John O'Hara novel, "Butterfield 8," of a few seasons ago, has been bought by Sol C. Siegel for Elizabeth Taylor. "She owes MGM a picture," said Sol, "and after her performance as Maggie, the cat, which won her an Academy nomination in 'Cat On a Hot Tin Roof,' it was decided this would be a good vehicle for Liz. She'd play a 20-year-old girl who goes from the country to New York and a very hectic life ala O'Hara."

"But when can you get her?" I asked Sol. "She has more pictures scheduled than she has time to do them."

"Since she owes us a picture, we are getting it ready now, and hoping she can do it after she finishes 'Suddenly Last Summer'," Sol told me.

I don't know anyone busier than Edward G. Robinson and that's the way he likes it. He's leaving later this month for Israel to donate his acting and advisory services in the making of a short subject designed to promote the infant democracy's lure as a tourist attraction, also to aid the sale of Israel bonds.

En route to Jerusalem, and again on his way home, Eddie will hit several European capitals in a series of personal appearances to exploit "A Hole In the Head," the film he made with Frank Sinatra.

An interesting visitor to Los Angeles is Joseph N. Welch, who arrived here Tuesday to play the judge in "Anatomy of a Murder." Welch, who is at the Bel Air Hotel, represented the case for the Army against charges made by Senator Joseph McCarthy and won considerable fame at the time.

At first he expected to stay in Hollywood while the "Anatomy" company was on location at Ishpeming, Mich., but Otto Preminger has now decided to film the picture in its entirety in Michigan, so Welch leaves with the company. He is being introduced to Hollywood at a dinner dance Saturday night hosted by Preminger.

The death of Mrs. Florence Selznick, 82-year-old mother of David Selznick, recalled to my mind the first time I ever met her. I was a very young reporter on my first trip to New York on an assignment. I was invited to the Selznicks for dinner and I thought Mrs. Selznick was one of the most beautiful women I had ever met, and one of the sweetest.

American film workers are grateful to Kirk Douglas, who is spending six million dollars on "Spartacus" in Hollywood rather than filming it abroad. Kirk says he's planning something equally big, also to be made in the USA, after he finishes "Viva Gringo" with Rock Hudson at U-I.

Kirk has proved to himself that the public will pay to see big spectacular pictures such as "The Vikings," now expected to bring in 17-miller dollars with its box-office records abroad.

Thirteen-year-old Candy Bergen gave her mother, Mrs. Edgar Bergen, a real scare. "She wasn't feeling well," said Frances, "and I took her to a doctor at 11 in the morning. She was in St. John's hospital at one and at three p.m., had an appendectomy."

Frances had much to say about St. John's and how good the sisters were to Candy. Right across the hall was Mrs. Frankie Laine's 16-year-old daughter, Pamela, who also underwent surgery for appendicitis, and the two girls had a great time comparing operations.

Opening lead: Three of ♣.

A favorable opening lead plus deft manipulation of the dummy by declarer was required to land the ambitious slam contract which his partner had thrust on him.

North could have said his piece in one brief utterance by a jump raise to four hearts after South's initial response. Instead of which he unjustifiably bid all around the deck and virtually catapulted his partner into a slam.

West chose as his opening lead the three of clubs, and in so doing cinched the nomination for the "goat" of the deal. Yet there is something to be said on his behalf. With no trump bid on his right there was a grave danger that the diamond lead might be into the major tenace. In view of dummy's spade bid, unless a club trick could be set up before the ace of spades was dislodged, there seemed little hope for the defense. He placed his hopes, therefore, in finding East with the queen of clubs. East unfortunately did not measure up to his partner's expectations.

Declarer promptly availed himself of the benefit of this little windfall. He naturally permitted the club to ride to his queen, drew trumps in three rounds, led to the ace of clubs, and ruffed the remaining club.

Declarer's chances seemed to rest with the hope that the ten of spades would fall so that South could discard two diamonds. But he had another hope, that is that West held no more than two spades, including the ace. He therefore led the five of spades. There was no escape for West. If he ran up with the ace, declarer would obtain two discards on dummy's king and queen. West ducked, but a low spade put him in to commit suicide by leading either a diamond or a club.

Awarded Contracts

NEW YORK (UPI)—Avco Manufacturing Corp. announced Thursday its Crosley and Nashville divisions received $41,749,000 in additional civilian and defense contracts during February.

WOUNDS WIFE

WELCH, W. Va. (UPI)—A McDowell County man, Buford Robinson, 40, of Filbert, wounded his wife, Arlena, with a .38 caliber pistol during an argument at their home Wednesday night and then failed in an attempted suicide with the weapon police said. Both were under treatment at a hospital here.

Expands Truck Division

DETROIT (UPI) — The Chevrolet Division of General Motors Corp. announced it is expanding its truck building facilities at Flint, Mich., with the addition of about 79,000 square feet of space to the truck assembly area.

New Credit Cards

NEW YORK (UPI)—American Express Co. announced Thursday it has begun mailing new plastic credit cards and a credit card directory to its more than 600,000 card holders.

Sign Trade Pact

LONDON (UPI) —Britain and Iran have signed a commercial treaty calling for an increase in trade between the two countries.

Buys Welding Firm

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI) — Pkaudler Permutit Inc. has acquired for an undisclosed amount of cash the Ideal Welding Co. Ltd. of Toronto, which last year had sales of $1,500,000.

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 NT.	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	6 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Three of ♣.

A favorable opening lead plus deft manipulation of the dummy by declarer was required to land the ambitious slam contract which his partner had thrust on him.

North could have said his piece in one brief utterance by a jump raise to four hearts after South's initial response. Instead of which he unjustifiably bid all around the deck and virtually catapulted his partner into a slam.

West chose as his opening lead the three of clubs, and in so doing cinched the nomination for the "goat" of the deal. Yet there is something to be said on his behalf. With no trump bid on his right there was a grave danger that the diamond lead might be into the major tenace. In view of dummy's spade bid, unless a club trick could be set up before the ace of spades was dislodged, there seemed little hope for the defense. He placed his hopes, therefore, in finding East with the queen of clubs. East unfortunately did not measure up to his partner's expectations.

Declarer promptly availed himself of the benefit of this little windfall. He naturally permitted the club to ride to his queen, drew trumps in three rounds, led to the ace of clubs, and ruffed the remaining club.

Declarer's chances seemed to rest with the hope that the ten of spades would fall so that South could discard two diamonds. But he had another hope, that is that West held no more than two spades, including the ace. He therefore led the five of spades. There was no escape for West. If he ran up with the ace, declarer would obtain two discards on dummy's king and queen. West ducked, but a low spade put him in to commit suicide by leading either a diamond or a club.

Stock Market Advances To Another Record High

NEW YORK (UPI) — Topping off a day of steadily improving prices with a last-minute surge on late tickers, the stock market soared to another all-time high.

Volume picked up to 4,690,000 shares from Wednesday's 4,160,000-share turnover while, on the American Stock Exchange, trading was the most active since Nov. 5, 1929 at 2,870,000 shares.

Individual specialties — most of them outside the average groups and many of them influenced by items in the day's news — were the drawing cards.

Zenith, long a market favorite, gained a spectacular 28 points to 269½, pacing a long list of sharply higher electronics issues.

The company announced new flash X-ray equipment which it said should eliminate early and late firings in missiles using solid fuels.

General Time ran up 11½ points to 73, Texas Instruments 4½ to 87⅜, International Telephone 1⅞ to 40¼, with the last helped by favorable earnings and an optimistic forecast.

Chrysler moved up over a point and Ford a major fraction in anticipation of their entry into the economy car field during the 1960 model year. American Motors, on the other hand, lost more than a point and Studebaker declined fractionally in view of the increased competition such a move will bring.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—March and May deliveries carried grains into firm to strong ground Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

When the bell sounded, Wheat closed up ¾ to off ¼; corn up ⅝ to ¾; new corn up ⅞ to off ¼; oats unchanged to up ⅞; new oats unchanged to up ⅛; rye up 1⅜ to off ¼; soybeans up ½ to off ½.

An active cash demand for wheat tendered on March contracts was a prominent factor in the crops advance. Scattered local buying in the market also helped spur the upward movement.

Corn advanced to some of its best levels since last November. Commercial houses worked both sides of the market and concentrated their buying on March and May positions. Export acceptances totaled 1,639,000 bushels. Many traders expect a larger country movement as a result of the session's advances. Faroff contracts did little and closed steady.

Liquidation of the March was reduced in oats and the crop ruled firm for nearby and unchanged for distant deliveries.

Stock Market Advances To Another Record High

NEW YORK (UPI) — Topping off a day of steadily improving prices with a last-minute surge on late tickers, the stock market soared to another all-time high.

Volume picked up to 4,690,000 shares from Wednesday's 4,160,000-share turnover while, on the American Stock Exchange, trading was the most active since Nov. 5, 1929 at 2,870,000 shares.

Individual specialties — most of them outside the average groups and many of them influenced by items in the day's news — were the drawing cards.

Zenith, long a market favorite, gained a spectacular 28 points to 269½, pacing a long list of sharply higher electronics issues.

The company announced new flash X-ray equipment which it said should eliminate early and late firings in missiles using solid fuels.

General Time ran up 11½ points to 73, Texas Instruments 4½ to 87⅜, International Telephone 1⅞ to 40¼, with the last helped by favorable earnings and an optimistic forecast.

Chrysler moved up over a point and Ford a major fraction in anticipation of their entry into the economy car field during the 1960 model year. American Motors, on the other hand, lost more than a point and Studebaker declined fractionally in view of the increased competition such a move will bring.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—March and May deliveries carried grains into firm to strong ground Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

When the bell sounded, Wheat closed up ⅝ to off ¼; corn up ⅝ to ¾; new corn up ⅞ to off ¼; oats unchanged to up ⅞; new oats unchanged to up ⅛; rye up 1⅜ to off ¼; soybeans up ½ to off ½.

An active cash demand for wheat tendered on March contracts was a prominent factor in the crops advance. Scattered local buying in the market also helped spur the upward movement.

Corn advanced to some of its best levels since last November. Commercial houses worked both sides of the market and concentrated their buying on March and May positions. Export acceptances totaled 1,639,000 bushels. Many traders expect a larger country movement as a result of the session's advances. Faroff contracts did little and closed steady.

Liquidation of the March was reduced in oats and the crop ruled firm for nearby and unchanged for distant deliveries.

Local demand helped strengthen May and July soybean positions. Commission houses sold.

Delegates Stage Losing Fight On Hospital Bill

Battle Not Over, Driscoll Reports

A passionate plea by Del. Kelley (R-Allegany) failed to sway enough votes Thursday to halt House passage of a bill to discontinue direct state financial support of Miners Hospital in Frostburg.

"The little old $100,000 or so the state allowed may mean the saving of a life some day," Kelley said. "It will be a dark day for all of Western Maryland if we can't find someone to take over this hospital."

The House voted 72-31 to discontinue state appropriation to the hospital after the next fiscal year, the Associated Press reported.

Officials of the hospital had agreed in 1957 that operation of it as a state institution should be ended over a four-year period by cutting appropriations $25,000 a year.

However, they came to the House Ways and Means Committee recently and asked for a continuation.

Gets Some Aid

Instead, the committee declined to force the hospital to become a private institution next year instead of 1961 as projected originally.

The committee figured that other forms of state aid to which it will be entitled as a private institution will equal the $22,000 it would have received as the last 25 per cent appropriation. If it doesn't, the committee bill approved by the House guarantees the state will make up the difference by a direct appropriation.

The House also passed a bill which will give the hospital some more financial aid next fiscal year. It will be allowed to keep the money from overdue accounts. Such funds have been reverting to the state.

Hope For Change

Del. Fred Driscoll said the Delegation hopes to have the vote reconsidered.

He said the plan was opposed by all members of the Allegany County Delegation and that six Republican delegates voted with the Delegation. The other GOP delegate was absent.

Del. Driscoll said the Allegany County move has bi-partisan support, and added that one delegate, in sympathy with the need of the hospital, saw no reason why the project was not deserving of state support, in view of a recent appropriation of $50,000 for the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra.

House Bill 526 provides for yearly 25 per cent reductions in state aid until fiscal 1961, and that as of July 1, 1960, the Board of Public Works could transfer ownership.

Amend Pension Bill

The House yesterday passed and sent to its third reading Senate Bill 58, which provides for supplemental pay for retired teachers.

Del. Driscoll said the measure should come up for its final reading today or Monday.

He said the bill was amended by the Delegation and will be sent to the Senate on House passage, for concurrence in the amendments.

The changes, accepted by the legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association, provide that the supplemental pensions would be available after 15, and not 10, years of service, and that payments would be $40 a month, instead of $50.

Some Like It Cold

While nearly everybody else was complaining about the eight inches of wet and slippery snow which fell on Cumberland Wednesday night, these youngsters were enjoying it in the traditional manner, aided by a day off from school. Two Officers Are Appointed

Two new men have been named to the Police Department, according to Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

Ski Tournament Will Be Held This Weekend

Snow Covers Slope Of Marsh Mountain

The Western Maryland Ski Club yesterday scheduled the second annual Maryland State Ski Championship Tournament this weekend after a late winter snow blanketed Garrett County.

George D. Hankins, spokesman, said the Ski Club hastily rescheduled the meet after some 10 inches of snow fell on the 1,500-foot slope of Marsh Mountain at Deep Creek Lake.

The tournament was first scheduled January 31 and February 1 and was finally cancelled last weekend as unseasonable weather continued in Western Maryland.

Officials reported the slope is being packed and that the cooler weather predicted will provide ideal conditions for the meet.

The tournament will begin Saturday at 10 a. m. with slalom races. Events will include intermediate slalom for women, intermediate slalom for men, expert slalom for women and expert slalom for men.

Sunday's races will begin at noon and include the intermediate downhill for women, intermediate downhill for men, expert downhill for women and expert downhill for men.

Mr. Hankins said the club has been notifying all registrants and that indications are that there will be 68 entries.

He said the meet will have no competition in this area as the Pennsylvania Championships, scheduled this weekend, have been cancelled.

Delegations are expected from the Washington Ski Club, Pittsburgh Ski Club, Morgantown Ski Club, University of Virginia Outing Club and the Seven Springs Lodge group from Westmoreland County, Pa.

Mr. Hankins said area ski enthusiasts were on the slope yesterday, packing down the snow to provide a fast course for the "last chance" of the year for a championship meet.

Spectators will be admitted to the slope area for a nominal charge, the club said, and will be allowed to stand along the racing area for close-up views as the champions come hurtling down the slope.

The meet drew a crowd of over 1,500 last year, Mr. Hankins said, and a greater crowd is expected this year.

Big Snowstorm Tapers Off; Ice Expected

Winds Are High, Temperatures Low

A belated March snowstorm which struck Western Maryland Wednesday began to taper off last night, but dipping temperatures forecast icy streets and roads this morning.

Cumberlanders continued to shiver as sub-freezing winds whipped up snow flurries and drifts throughout the day.

The temperature rose to 34 during the day but dropped back to 29 last night and was still falling. Low for the day was 28 degrees. The eight-inch snowfall brought the total for the season to 15 inches here.

Winds from 14 to 25 miles per hour plagued motorists and pedestrians alike, and the city's streets began to collect a thin glaze of ice after nightfall.

Officials, however, looked upon the snow in one bright aspect, that the white cover will put some much-needed water in the city's thirsty reservoirs.

Blizzard In Garrett

Garrett County, meanwhile, was in the throes of a true blizzard with winds up to 40 miles per hour, drifting snows which completely covered all the highways and secondary roads in the area, and a reported seven to 14 inches of new snow covering the county.

Temperatures in Garrett County ranged from a low of 20 to 32 during the day, but dropped below 20 degrees last night. Roads were wet and icy, and visibility was extremely poor.

State Roads Commission crews worked around the clock, cindering, sanding and plowing the main thoroughfares. Six crews were still out late last night working on hilly conditions in the Garrett County areas.

11 Inches In Frostburg

Harry T. Skelly, supervisor of county roads, said the county department operated 21 trucks equipped with plows during the day as the snowfall ranged in depth from seven inches on Town Hill to approximately 11 inches in Frostburg.

Pennsylvania authorities reported from eight to 14 inches of snow in the Bedford area, high winds, drifts and hazardous driving conditions. There was very little traffic, and a few minor highway accidents were reported.

Pocahontas and Tucker counties had from six to 12 inch snowfalls while Preston, Randolph, Berkeley, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Mineral and Morgan counties reported snow from four to six inches deep.

Sports Car Club To Meet Tonight

The Western Maryland Sports Car Club will hold its monthly meeting today at 8 p.m. at the Sports Car Motor Sales on McMullen Highway. The meeting will feature the showing of a film.

City Begins Digging Out Of Heavy Snow

Many Cars Fail To Top High Spots

Cumberland residents yesterday started digging out of an eight-inch snow which began falling early Wednesday afternoon, taking motorists and the City Street Department by surprise.

Driving conditions were still hectic yesterday morning as drivers tried to rock cars from beds of snow or dig out of snow-clogged driveways.

The situation was too much for taxicabs, and at least one firm stopped answering telephone calls during early morning hours.

Main streets were generally open, but street crews had not had a chance to plow side streets, which were packed with snow.

Long Praises Job

Street Commissioner John J. Long declared last night that the "fellows did a wonderful job" and worked all night and day to keep streets open.

He said the Street Department put a crew of 14 men and all available equipment on the job at 8:30 p. m.

About 40 members of the Street Department are considered available for snow removal duties. The department currently has 61 men, including the sewer and flood control crews and warehouse personnel.

Commissioner Long said Street Superintendent Andrew Heller reported crews began work using salt but had to switch to cinders after the salt was being covered by the falling snow.

He said crews later began to plow after snow began to cover the cinders.

The commissioner said the men worked all through Wednesday night and yesterday and that one plow and a cinder crew was still working last night.

He said the men did a good job considering the circumstances and pointed out more snow fell yesterday than in all the rest of the winter.

Complaints Pour In

Complaints from stranded drivers began to pour into the City Hall switchboard yesterday morning.

There were many complaints lodged informally that the work did not get started in time.

One officer reported he saw no snow or cinder crews on Baltimore Street by 1 a. m. Cars by that time were having difficulty at the crossing, and even more difficulty getting over the Western Maryland Railway tracks at the Baltimore Street Bridge.

Another citizen reported that Williams Street, on the route to Memorial Hospital, bore no signs of salt or cinders by 1:30 a. m. yesterday and that chains or snow-tread tires were needed to ascend the hill.

The Street Department reported that two trucks broke down during the heavy plowing, one stripping its gears and the second ruining brake bands.

County Schools Are Expected To Resume Today

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said late last night that he was planning to have all of the public schools in the county back in session today. Yesterday was the first unscheduled holiday in the public schools this year.

St. Mary's, St. Patrick's and Catholic Girls Central High School officials all indicated virtually definite plans to have classes today.

Sister Hilda, principal of SS. Peter and Paul's School and Ursuline Academy, said last night that her schools would operate today unless there is some new overnight development in the weather. Brother Paulian, principal of LaSalle High School, indicated that he would not make a final decision on classes today until early this morning.

Sun Ruins Plan For Sledding

C. Eugene Mason, rec director, said the department was ready to go but that the sun had melted most of the snow.

Plans were made some time ago to hold supervised sledding on eight streets in various sections of the city.

Snow Hampers Sale Of New License Tags

Firemen Begin 60-Hour Basic Training Course

The course, part of the continuing training program set up by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, consists of 20 three-hour classes and is being administered and supervised by Assistant Chief Robert L. Long.

Classes are being held five times each week and one three-hour course is held each week.

The basic training program is broken down into 12 segments and teaches the fundamental techniques of firemanship. This includes discipline, use of small tools, hose evolutions, ladder evolutions, fire behavior, fires in natural cover fuels, use of breathing equipment, portable fire extinguishers, salvage, ropes and knots, ventilation and fire streams.

Because of the difference in the problems facing each fire company, it is the job of the instructor to arrange the 20 lessons to cover the 12 parts according to local needs. This may mean several lessons on one item or several portions of the program in one lesson.

Outdoor Training

Assistant Chief Long said a certain amount of the training is carried out in each of the four Cumberland fire stations under the officer in charge. The remainder is carried out in classroom studies and outside work. The latter particularly pertains to hose and ladder evolutions, salvage, ventilation, and fire streams exercises.

Chief Parker said that with one lesson to be given each week examinations will be held at the end of each lesson. At the close of the course the University of Maryland staff will give the final examinations.

Requirements are that students must have a grade of 70 per cent or higher in the final exams, and must attend at least 17 of the 20 sessions, consisting of 51 class-hours, and that maximum outdoor activity must be scheduled.

Each fireman who passes the basic course will receive a pocket card certifying his efficiency, while the fire company also will receive a certificate listing all of the members who passed the examinations.

City Is "Medium Risk"

Both Chief Parker and Assistant Chief Long noted that continuous training of fire department personnel helps to bring down insurance rates in the city.

Chief Parker said he also is requesting that the National Board of Fire Underwriters conduct a survey this spring to determine the classification of the City of Cumberland, not rated as a No. 6 or medium risk.

The chiefs also pointed out that the survey will include a check of police protection, examination of the fire department and its personnel, building codes, streets, water supply and other pertinent facts in basing the insurance rates of the community.

Bowmans Addition Firemen, Auxiliary Plan Dinner-Dance

Members of the Bowmans Addition Volunteer Fire Company and its ladies auxiliary have united in a campaign to raise funds for a new floor in the ladies kitchen and new gloves and new raincoats for the firemen.

From 4:30 to 7:30 p. m. the auxiliary, assisted by the firemen, will serve a public dinner with a choice of fish and chips or spaghetti and meatballs, to all comers. Members of both the company and auxiliary are selling tickets for advance reservations, but tickets may also be obtained at the door.

The same evening from 9 until midnight, a St. Patrick's Day dance will be held at the fire hall, with music by Lawrence Barry's orchestra. Leo Emerick, fire chief, and Mrs. Evelyn Deter, auxiliary president, are chairmen.

Lutheran Mission Study Postponed

The congregational mission study planned by the United Luthern Church Women of St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church has been postponed until Friday, March 20.

The study, originally set for 7:30 tonight, was called off and is rescheduled for the same time next Friday at the church.

Local School Papers Given Top Honors

Other Publications In County Win

"The Alcohi Mirror" and "The Sentinel," school papers of Allegany and Fort Hill high schools, have been awarded highest honors in the 35th annual contest sponsored by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Several other publications of schools in Allegany and Garrett counties and Frostburg State Teachers College also received awards in the contest, which is aimed at the betterment of student publications.

The two local high schools were judged in the class of printed newspapers for junior-senior high school with an enrollment of 1,001 students or more. They received the "medalist" award which cites the papers as being "publications of distinction."

Mt. Savage High School's paper, "The Warrior," was given a first place award in the class of schools having 300 or fewer students.

Also receiving first place awards were "The Shield" of Valley High School near Lonaconing, and "Beall High Chimes" of Frostburg. These schools were judged in the class of schools having 1,000 or fewer students.

The awards were made during the association's convention and were judged by a board of 30 school press authorities who used a scoring system on content, makeup, headlines and other phases.

16 Women Complete First Aid

A class of 16 women from the Midland area has completed an advanced Red Cross first aid course, according to Robert Thwaites, chairman of first aid instruction for the county.

Mrs. George W. Legge, Red Cross executive secretary, said certificates have been awarded this group which completed its standard course on November 25, and shortly thereafter began the advanced study.

The instructors included Victor E. Kalbaugh and Paul Warnick Jr., of Westernport, and classes were conducted in the Midland fire hall with the Midland Volunteer Fire Company Auxiliary as the sponsoring organization.

Those completing the course are, Mrs. Margaret Blair, Mrs. Maude Wilson, Mrs. Delphia Hyde, Mrs. Elsie Durst, Mrs. Thelma Harclerode, Mrs. Hilda Eagan, Miss Beatrice Summers, Mrs. Helen Manley, Mrs. Evelyn Campbell, Mrs. Anna Stakem, Mrs. Agnes Monahan, Mrs. Gertrude Eagan and Miss Angela McElwee, all of Midland; Mrs. Viola Loar, Mrs. Arvella Loar, and Mrs. Marie Dunn, all of RFD 1, Frostburg.

First Graders Will Register For Two Days

Parents of boys and girls who will enter the first grade in Allegany County public schools in September were reminded yesterday that the children will be registered today and Monday between 3:30 and 5 p. m. at the nearest school.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, said registration has been extended through Monday because of the snow which closed schools yesterday. Children who will have reached their sixth birthdays on or before December 31 are eligible to register.

City Asked To Pass Ordinance On Chicks

The Animal Welfare Society is proposing that the city adopt an ordinance to eliminate what it considers to be cruelties attendant to the traffic in baby chicks, ducklings, goslings and rabbits as pets.

The text of a proposed ordinance is included in a letter to the Mayor and Council from Louis B. Young, president, who urged that the plan be given serious consideration in view of the approach of Holy Week.

He said Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, advised that the Mayor and Council had agreed, in response to a plea to help stamp out the sale of chicks and similar pets, that the matter be referred to the county "since the city has transferred authority and jurisdiction over small animals to county officials."

But Mr. Young pointed out that the city plans to cooperate in a drive to rid the city of pigeons and starlings. He said this indicates the city does acknowledge some authority over small animals.

Pigeons and starlings, he added, come to the city of their own volition, but the "ducks and ducklings arrive without having much choice in the matter."

$1,173,351 Seen As County Share Of Tawes Plan

Teacher Salary Effect Is Cited

Allegany County is scheduled to receive a total of $1,173,351 in four years in additional state aid for teachers under the salary plan announced yesterday by Governor J. Millard Tawes.

Governor Tawes' proposition calls for boosting present minimum scales by $100 the first year, $400 the second, $300 the third and $400 the fourth year. The fourth year includes an additional $200 for teachers, principals and supervisors.

This proposal would raise the state minimum from it present $3,200 to $4,000 and its maximum to $6,000. In submitting his budget to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners February 24, Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster used a salary scale starting at $3,700 and reaching a maximum of $5,500 in the 11th year of experience.

Figures provided by The Associated Press disclose that Allegany County would get an additional $78,355 the first year, $244,545 the second, $374,728 the third and $475,723 the fourth year.

Garrett County's take would start at $20,843 the first year, then to $74,888 the second year, $113,900 the third and $142,182 the fourth year. Washington County's receipts would start at $86,548, then advance annually to $233,343, $347,962 and $455,856.

Parents Invited To Allegany Next Monday

Monday afternoon has been set aside as Parents' Afternoon at Allegany High School, according to Dr. W. Ardell Haines, the principal.

The program is being arranged primarily for parents of children who will be entering the ninth or tenth grades next school year. However, parents of pupils in all grades are welcome.

Dr. Haines has explained in a letter to the upcoming ninth and tenth grade parents that in the near future they will be asked to approve the subjects their children will be taking next year. Consequently, the specific purpose for the visitation Monday will be to learn more about the curriculum and the courses offered at Allegany.

The program will begin with presentation of data about the school curriculum and course requirements by the Allegany guidance counselor, John R. Snyder. This will be followed by a question and answer period. The entire program will be scheduled in the school auditorium, starting at 1 p.m.

Dr. Haines has emphasized that there will be no opportunity to visit individual teachers for the purpose of checking on progress of children.

Man Is Found Dead In Truck

A 67-year-old Bedford area man was found dead in the cab of his pickup truck last evening about 6:30 p. m. along a secondary road 5½ miles south of Bedford.

State Police said William Victor Kidd, of RD 4, Bedford, apparently died of a heart attack while driving home after visiting some friends.

Mr. Kidd resided with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bartholow, and when he did not return home they became worried. Mr. Bartholow began a check and found his father-in-law slumped over in the truck about a mile from the home of the friends he had been visiting.

Police said the man was able to stop the vehicle before he died. Coroner J. H. Kniseley investigated with State Police and issued a verdict of death by natural causes.

Meeting Postponed

The meeting of the Swanson Memorial Bible Class of Second Baptist Church tonight at the church has been postponed until a later date because of the weather conditions.

Delegates Stage Losing Fight On Hospital Bill

Battle Not Over, Driscoll Reports

A passionate plea by Del. Kelley (R-Allegany) failed to sway enough votes Thursday to halt House passage of a bill to discontinue direct state financial support of Miners Hospital in Frostburg.

"The little old $100,000 or so the state allowed may mean the saving of a life some day," Kelley said. "It will be a dark day for all of Western Maryland if we can't find someone to take over this hospital."

The House voted 72-31 to discontinue state appropriation to the hospital after the next fiscal year, the Associated Press reported.

Officials of the hospital had agreed in 1957 that operation of it as a state institution should be ended over a four-year period by cutting appropriations $25,000 a year.

However, they came to the House Ways and Means Committee recently and asked for a continuation.

Gets Some Aid

Instead, the committee declined to force the hospital to become a private institution next year instead of 1961 as projected originally.

The committee figured that other forms of state aid to which it will be entitled as a private institution will equal the $22,000 it would have received as the last 25 per cent appropriation. If it doesn't, the committee bill approved by the House guarantees the state will make up the difference by a direct appropriation.

The House also passed a bill which will give the hospital some more financial aid next fiscal year. It will be allowed to keep the money from overdue accounts. Such funds have been reverting to the state.

Hope For Change

Del. Fred Driscoll said the Delegation hopes to have the vote reconsidered.

He said the plan was opposed by all members of the Allegany County Delegation and that six Republican delegates voted with the Delegation. The other GOP delegate was absent.

Del. Driscoll said the Allegany County move has bi-partisan support, and added that one delegate, in sympathy with the need of the hospital, saw no reason why the project was not deserving of state support, in view of a recent appropriation of $50,000 for the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra.

House Bill 526 provides for yearly 25 per cent reductions in state aid until fiscal 1961, and that as of July 1, 1960, the Board of Public Works could transfer ownership.

Amend Pension Bill

The House yesterday passed and sent to its third reading Senate Bill 58, which provides for supplemental pay for retired teachers.

Del. Driscoll said the measure should come up for its final reading today or Monday.

He said the bill was amended by the Delegation and will be sent to the Senate on House passage, for concurrence in the amendments.

The changes, accepted by the legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association, provide that the supplemental pensions would be available after 15, and not 10, years of service, and that payments would be $40 a month, instead of $50.

Some Like It Cold

While nearly everybody else was complaining about the eight inches of wet and slippery snow which fell on Cumberland Wednesday night, these youngsters were enjoying it in the traditional manner, aided by a day off from school. Ski Tournament Will Be Held This Weekend

Snow Covers Slope Of Marsh Mountain

The Western Maryland Ski Club yesterday scheduled the second annual Maryland State Ski Championship Tournament this weekend after a late winter snow blanketed Garrett County.

George D. Hankins, spokesman, said the Ski Club hastily rescheduled the meet after some 10 inches of snow fell on the 1,500-foot slope of Marsh Mountain at Deep Creek Lake.

The tournament was first scheduled January 31 and February 1 and was finally cancelled last weekend as unseasonable weather continued in Western Maryland.

Officials reported the slope is being packed and that the cooler weather predicted will provide ideal conditions for the meet.

The tournament will begin Saturday at 10 a. m. with slalom races. Events will include intermediate slalom for women, intermediate slalom for men, expert slalom for women and expert slalom for men.

Sunday's races will begin at noon and include the intermediate downhill for women, intermediate downhill for men, expert downhill for women and expert downhill for men.

Mr. Hankins said the club has been notifying all registrants and that indications are that there will be 68 entries.

He said the meet will have no competition in this area as the Pennsylvania Championships, scheduled this weekend, have been cancelled.

Delegations are expected from the Washington Ski Club, Pittsburgh Ski Club, Morgantown Ski Club, University of Virginia Outing Club and the Seven Springs Lodge group from Westmoreland County, Pa.

Mr. Hankins said area ski enthusiasts were on the slope yesterday, packing down the snow to provide a fast course for the "last chance" of the year for a championship meet.

Spectators will be admitted to the slope area for a nominal charge, the club said, and will be allowed to stand along the racing area for close-up views as the champions come hurtling down the slope.

The meet drew a crowd of over 1,500 last year, Mr. Hankins said, and a greater crowd is expected this year.

Big Snowstorm Tapers Off; Ice Expected

Winds Are High, Temperatures Low

A belated March snowstorm which struck Western Maryland Wednesday began to taper off last night, but dipping temperatures forecast icy streets and roads this morning.

Cumberlanders continued to shiver as sub-freezing winds whipped up snow flurries and drifts throughout the day.

The temperature rose to 34 during the day but dropped back to 29 last night and was still falling. Low for the day was 28 degrees. The eight-inch snowfall brought the total for the season to 15 inches here.

Winds from 14 to 25 miles per hour plagued motorists and pedestrians alike, and the city's streets began to collect a thin glaze of ice after nightfall.

Officials, however, looked upon the snow in one bright aspect, that the white cover will put some much-needed water in the city's thirsty reservoirs.

Blizzard In Garrett

Garrett County, meanwhile, was in the throes of a true blizzard with winds up to 40 miles per hour, drifting snows which completely covered all the highways and secondary roads in the area, and a reported seven to 14 inches of new snow covering the county.

Temperatures in Garrett County ranged from a low of 20 to 32 during the day, but dropped below 20 degrees last night. Roads were wet and icy, and visibility was extremely poor.

State Roads Commission crews worked around the clock, cindering, sanding and plowing the main thoroughfares. Six crews were still out late last night working on hilly conditions in the Garrett County areas.

11 Inches In Frostburg

Harry T. Skelly, supervisor of county roads, said the county department operated 21 trucks equipped with plows during the day as the snowfall ranged in depth from seven inches on Town Hill to approximately 11 inches in Frostburg.

Pennsylvania authorities reported from eight to 14 inches of snow in the Bedford area, high winds, drifts and hazardous driving conditions. There was very little traffic, and a few minor highway accidents were reported.

A warming trend was predicted for most of West Virginia after much of the state was blanketed by Wednesday's snow.

Pocahontas and Tucker counties had from six to 12 inch snowfalls while Preston, Randolph, Berkeley, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Mineral and Morgan counties reported snow from four to six inches deep.

Sports Car Club To Meet Tonight

The Western Maryland Sports Car Club will hold its monthly meeting today at 8 p.m. at the Sports Car Motor Sales on McMullen Highway. The meeting will feature the showing of a film.

City Begins Digging Out Of Heavy Snow

Many Cars Fail To Top High Spots

Cumberland residents yesterday started digging out of an eight-inch snow which began falling early Wednesday afternoon, taking motorists and the City Street Department by surprise.

Driving conditions were still hectic yesterday morning as drivers tried to rock cars from beds of snow or dig out of snow-clogged driveways.

The situation was too much for taxicabs, and at least one firm stopped answering telephone calls during early morning hours.

Main streets were generally open, but street crews had not had a chance to plow side streets, which were packed with snow.

Long Praises Job

Street Commissioner John J. Long declared last night that the "fellows did a wonderful job" and worked all night and day to keep streets open.

He said the Street Department put a crew of 14 men and all available equipment on the job at 8:30 p. m.

About 40 members of the Street Department are considered available for snow removal duties. The department currently has 61 men, including the sewer and flood control crews and warehouse personnel.

Commissioner Long said Street Superintendent Andrew Heller reported crews began work using salt but had to switch to cinders after the salt was being covered by the falling snow.

He said crews later began to plow after snow began to cover the cinders.

The commissioner said the men worked all through Wednesday night and yesterday and that one plow and a cinder crew was still working last night.

He said the men did a good job considering the circumstances and pointed out more snow fell yesterday than in all the rest of the winter.

Complaints Pour In

Complaints from stranded drivers began to pour into the City Hall switchboard yesterday morning.

There were many complaints lodged informally that the work did not get started in time.

One officer reported he saw no snow or cinder crews on Baltimore Street by 1 a. m. Cars by that time were having difficulty at the crossing, and even more difficulty getting over the Western Maryland Railway tracks at the Baltimore Street Bridge.

Another citizen reported that Williams Street, on the route to Memorial Hospital, bore no signs of salt or cinders by 1:30 a. m. yesterday and that chains or snow-tread tires were needed to ascend the hill.

Hilly sections of the city were reported all but impassable during the night.

The Street Department reported that two trucks broke down during the heavy plowing, one stripping its gears and the second ruining brake bands.

County Schools Are Expected To Resume Today

Public and parochial school children who enjoyed an unscheduled holiday yesterday because of the heavy snowfall are expected to head back to their classes today.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said late last night that he was planning to have all of the public schools in the county back in session today. Yesterday was the first unscheduled holiday in the public schools this year.

St. Mary's, St. Patrick's and Catholic Girls Central High School officials all indicated virtually definite plans to have classes today.

Sister Hilda, principal of SS. Peter and Paul's School and Ursuline Academy, said last night that her schools would operate today unless there is some new overnight development in the weather. Brother Paulian, principal of LaSalle High School, indicated that he would not make a final decision on classes today until early this morning.

Sun Ruins Plan For Sledding

The Recreation Department yesterday had to give up plans for supervised sledding after a survey showed the designated streets were bare.

C. Eugene Mason, rec director, said the department was ready to go but that the sun had melted most of the snow.

Plans were made some time ago to hold supervised sledding on eight streets in various sections of the city.

Snow Hampers Sale Of New License Tags

Firemen Begin 60-Hour Basic Training Course

City firemen began a 60-hour basic training course sponsored by the University of Maryland fire extension service yesterday.

The course, part of the continuing training program set up by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, consists of 20 three-hour classes and is being administered and supervised by Assistant Chief Robert L. Long.

Classes are being held five times each week and one three-hour course is held each week.

The basic training program is broken down into 12 segments and teaches the fundamental techniques of firemanship. This includes discipline, use of small tools, hose evolutions, ladder evolutions, fire behavior, fires in natural cover fuels, use of breathing equipment, portable fire extinguishers, salvage, ropes and knots, ventilation and fire streams.

Because of the difference in the problems facing each fire company, it is the job of the instructor to arrange the 20 lessons to cover the 12 parts according to local needs. This may mean several lessons on one item or several portions of the program in one lesson.

Outdoor Training

Assistant Chief Long said a certain amount of the training is carried out in each of the four Cumberland fire stations under the officer in charge. The remainder is carried out in classroom studies and outside work. The latter particularly pertains to hose and ladder evolutions, salvage, ventilation, and fire streams exercises.

Chief Parker said that with one lesson to be given each week examinations will be held at the end of each lesson. At the close of the course the University of Maryland staff will give the final examinations.

Requirements are that students must have a grade of 70 per cent or higher in the final exams, and must attend at least 17 of the 20 sessions, consisting of 51 class-hours, and that maximum outdoor activity must be scheduled.

Each fireman who passes the basic course will receive a pocket card certifying his efficiency, while the fire company also will receive a certificate listing all of the members who passed the examinations.

City Is "Medium Risk"

Both Chief Parker and Assistant Chief Long noted that continuous training of fire department personnel helps to bring down insurance rates in the city.

Chief Parker said he also is requesting that the National Board of Fire Underwriters conduct a survey this spring to determine the classification of the City of Cumberland, not rated as a No. 6 or medium risk.

The chiefs also pointed out that the survey will include a check of police protection, examination of the fire department and its personnel, building codes, streets, water supply and other pertinent facts in basing the insurance rates of the community.

Bowmans Addition Firemen, Auxiliary Plan Dinner-Dance

Members of the Bowmans Addition Volunteer Fire Company and its ladies auxiliary have united in a campaign to raise funds for a new floor in the ladies kitchen and new gloves and new raincoats for the firemen.

From 4:30 to 7:30 p. m. the auxiliary, assisted by the firemen, will serve a public dinner with a choice of fish and chips or spaghetti and meatballs, to all comers. Members of both the company and auxiliary are selling tickets for advance reservations, but tickets may also be obtained at the door.

The same evening from 9 until midnight, a St. Patrick's Day dance will be held at the fire hall, with music by Lawrence Barry's orchestra. Leo Emerick, fire chief, and Mrs. Evelyn Deter, auxiliary president, are chairmen.

Lutheran Mission Study Postponed

The congregational mission study planned by the United Luthern Church Women of St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church has been postponed until Friday, March 20.

The study, originally set for 7:30 tonight, was called off and is rescheduled for the same time next Friday at the church.

Local School Papers Given Top Honors

Other Publications In County Win

"The Alcohi Mirror" and "The Sentinel," school papers of Allegany and Fort Hill high schools, have been awarded highest honors in the 35th annual contest sponsored by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Several other publications of schools in Allegany and Garrett counties and Frostburg State Teachers College also received awards in the contest, which is aimed at the betterment of student publications.

The two local high schools were judged in the class of printed newspapers for junior-senior high school with an enrollment of 1,001 students or more. They received the "medalist" award which cites the papers as being "publications of distinction."

Mt. Savage High School's paper, "The Warrior," was given a first place award in the class of schools having 300 or fewer students.

Also receiving first place awards were "The Shield" of Valley High School near Lonaconing, and "Beall High Chimes" of Frostburg. These schools were judged in the class of schools having 1,000 or fewer students.

"The Acorn," the publication of Southern High School in Oakland, was given a second place award in the class of schools having 1,000 or fewer students.

Frostburg State Teachers College's publication, "State-To-Date," was judged a second place winner in the class of printed newspapers for schools of education.

The awards were made during the association's convention and were judged by a board of 30 school press authorities who used a scoring system on content, makeup, headlines and other phases.

16 Women Complete First Aid

A class of 16 women from the Midland area has completed an advanced Red Cross first aid course, according to Robert Thwaites, chairman of first aid instruction for the county.

Mrs. George W. Legge, Red Cross executive secretary, said certificates have been awarded this group which completed its standard course on November 25, and shortly thereafter began the advanced study.

The instructors included Victor E. Kalbaugh and Paul Warnick Jr., of Westernport, and classes were conducted in the Midland fire hall with the Midland Volunteer Fire Company Auxiliary as the sponsoring organization.

Those completing the course are, Mrs. Margaret Blair, Mrs. Maude Wilson, Mrs. Delphia Hyde, Mrs. Elsie Durst, Mrs. Thelma Harclerode, Mrs. Hilda Eagan, Miss Beatrice Summers, Mrs. Helen Manley, Mrs. Evelyn Campbell, Mrs. Anna Stakem, Mrs. Agnes Monahan, Mrs. Gertrude Eagan and Miss Angela McElwee, all of Midland; Mrs. Viola Loar, Mrs. Arvella Loar, and Mrs. Marie Dunn, all of RFD 1, Frostburg.

First Graders Will Register For Two Days

Parents of boys and girls who will enter the first grade in Allegany County public schools in September were reminded yesterday that the children will be registered today and Monday between 3:30 and 5 p. m. at the nearest school.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, said registration has been extended through Monday because of the snow which closed schools yesterday. Children who will have reached their sixth birthdays on or before December 31 are eligible to register.

City Asked To Pass Ordinance On Chicks

The Animal Welfare Society is proposing that the city adopt an ordinance to eliminate what it considers to be cruelties attendant to the traffic in baby chicks, ducklings, goslings and rabbits as pets.

The text of a proposed ordinance is included in a letter to the Mayor and Council from Louis B. Young, president, who urged that the plan be given serious consideration in view of the approach of Holy Week.

He said Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, advised that the Mayor and Council had agreed, in response to a plea to help stamp out the sale of chicks and similar pets, that the matter be referred to the county "since the city has transferred authority and jurisdiction over small animals to county officials."

But Mr. Young pointed out that the city plans to cooperate in a drive to rid the city of pigeons and starlings. He said this indicates the city does acknowledge some authority over small animals.

Pigeons and starlings, he added, come to the city of their own volition, but the "ducks and ducklings arrive without having much choice in the matter."

$1,173,351 Seen As County Share Of Tawes Plan

Teacher Salary Effect Is Cited

Allegany County is scheduled to receive a total of $1,173,351 in four years in additional state aid for teachers under the salary plan announced yesterday by Governor J. Millard Tawes.

Governor Tawes' proposition calls for boosting present minimum scales by $100 the first year, $400 the second, $300 the third and $400 the fourth year. The fourth year includes an additional $200 for teachers, principals and supervisors.

This proposal would raise the state minimum from it present $3,200 to $4,000 and its maximum to $6,000. In submitting his budget to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners February 24, Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster used a salary scale starting at $3,700 and reaching a maximum of $5,500 in the 11th year of experience.

Figures provided by The Associated Press disclose that Allegany County would get an additional $78,355 the first year, $244,545 the second, $374,728 the third and $475,723 the fourth year.

Neighboring Garrett County is down for a total of $351,813 and Washington County would receive $1,123,709.

Garrett County's take would start at $20,843 the first year, then to $74,888 the second year, $113,900 the third and $142,182 the fourth year. Washington County's receipts would start at $86,548, then advance annually to $233,343, $347,962 and $455,856.
